A Little Down

A Little Every Little While

Sometimes you find a man or woman who says "I wont buy on credit." They decide not to furnish their homes until they can pay spot cash for everything.

These people seldom ever succeed in furnishing a home at all.

The man who buys at a responsible credit-house, who pays a little down, and a little at convenient periods, he soon has his home fully and nicely fitted out. The other man is still waiting to get the cash.

We have furnished 5000 homes on credit

MERCHANTS ARE ANGRY.

Go for "Traders' Association" With Legal Club.

Compel Get-rich-quick Schemers to Take Back Tracks.

Names of Firms Used to Float Hot-air Proposition Are Withdrawn.

Repudiated by four angry merchants and firms who had been misled by rank misrepresentations, "The Traders' Association" of Los Angeles yesterday came to grief, and, urged by Attorney Knox, with alacrity surrendered existing agreements, ordered the withdrawal from circulation of facsimilie literature and agreed to notify their customers that their "contracts" would not be redeemed by protesting firms.

Thus another get-rich-on-the-double-quick enterprise has been forced into the open, revealing a cleverly concocted plan to gain the confidence of the gullible by the wrongful use of firm names, and incidentally to land a few "easy" dollars.

The merchants inveigled into a seeming indorsement of and a participation in the schemes inaugurated by the Traders' Association are Popkin & Lister, merchant tailors, No. 129 West First street; James P. Burns, boots and shoes, No. 240 South Spring street; "The Oxford," ready-to-wear clothing, No. 337 South Spring street, and Lipsey & Hedenbergh, hats and gentlemen's furnishings, No. 633 South Broadway. Responding to the protest of these firms and a demand for the surrender of their agreements, the offensive fac-simile literature has been withdrawn and purchasers of contracts and agents are being notified that the alleged coöperative firms will no longer coöperate.

To judge from the literature sent out by the "Traders' Association," the unsophisticated could easily imagine the concern to be one of the great business centers of the city, where was conducted "the largest coöperative local mail order business on the Pacific Coast." How different the facts!

LITTLE BUT WIND.

The association was born some time in June last, John Hollywood and James Bourquin constituting the partnership. There has been no effort at incorporation; there is no capital invested, no bonds filed, and the "home office" is located in room No. 356 Wilcox building, where "a dingy little desk and a dusty little table" constitute the equipment—the desk being designated as "Department A," and the table "Department D"—to which "all inquiries as to agencies or agency work should be addressed to insure prompt attention."

The plan of operation of the "Traders' Association" was simple enough. It was "just send us one dollar per week for twenty-five weeks and we assure you a return of $27.50, or its equivalent in merchandise. Loving money is a habit. We show you how. Are you onto it?" In other words, the scheme was "Just drop a dollar into our hands and we will keep it for you. When twenty-five payments have been made we will give you an order on a firm for $27.50—providing one of us has not skipped with the funds of the association—and your order will be redeemed in merchandise—providing we have the money on hand to pay the merchant."

The merchant would split his profit with the association and the latter with the coupon purchaser. Should a country sucker—and no attempt has been made to work the scheme except in the country—lapse in his payments, beyond the redemption limit, the whole amount paid in would be forfeited to the association.

WHO THEY ARE.

All this might be well enough in operation but for two things, the responsibility or non-responsibility of the association promoters being the most important. Asked as to the standing and as to who was back of the scheme, Mr. Hollywood blandly remarked that they simply referred all questioners to R. G. Dun & Co. But if business depended upon that reference—or the record on file there—the "Traders' Association" would not require a very large corps of book-keepers to look after its accounts.

Bourquin comes from Columbus, O., where he was formerly in the retail jewelry business, was without mercantile rating, though at one time was understood to possess $2000 in cash. Hollywood struck Los Angeles about eighteen months ago, coming here from Bay City, Mich., where he was in the advertising business. As members of the "Traders' Association" these enterprising promoters confess to carrying no bank account and "lay no claim to any means to speak of." Bourquin further states that in the conduct of the "largest local mail-order business on the Pacific Coast," no capital is required except a small amount for printed matter, and their commissions would be quite sufficient to meet all demands.

To give the "Traders' Association" standing, and in order to gain the confidence of prospective purchasers, the unauthorized use of firm names was resorted to that brought conditions to a troublesome climax yesterday. In launching their scheme, Hollywood and Bourquin called upon several business houses, stating that they were in a position to control much retail trade, and in several cases were promised a liberal discount. As a mere matter of form, each firm was asked to sign the following agreement:

THE "CONTRACT."

"We, the undersigned, agree to redeem contracts issued by the Traders' Association of Los Angeles, Cal., for their full cash value, or any part thereof, in merchandise, at the cash retail price."

It was understood that these agreements were of a private nature, but instead, Hollywood and Bourquin put them out in circular form and in such a way as to create the impression that the firms named indorsed the scheme and were pledged to redeem, without proviso, any and all "Traders' Association" paper. The promise to redeem, however, was conditioned upon the receipt of cash from Hollywood and Bourquin. To make the situation still more unfavorable to the coöperating merchants the names of neither Hollywood nor Bourquin appeared on the literature scattered broadcast, and Dun & Co., who never permit of such procedure, were named as ready to give full indorsement as to standing.

THE WITHDRAWING ACT.

Hence the action taken yesterday. Popkin & Lister, No. 129 West First street, put the matter in the hands of Attorney Knox, who made an investigation. The result was a promise to surrender the existing agreements and, so far as possible, make reparation. But Hollywood was not speedy enough to suit Mr. Lister, so, tiring of delay, he sought the office of the "Traders' Association," demanded his agreement, which was immediately forthcoming, and dictated a letter to all agents and purchasers of coupons, disclaiming all connection with the scheme and calling in all fac-simile literature.

THE COLD FEET OF MARCUS SMITH.

AND THE DISAPPOINTMENT OF THE IROQUOIS CLUB.

Members Thereof Declared That the Statesman from Arizona is a Lobster. What Mark Didn't Say was and Julius Krause Didn't Sing.

Marcus Aurelius Smith, the statesman from Arizona, had cold feet and didn't come to "meetin'." He has gone into hiding in the wilds of Catalina. Last night the Iroquois Club of Los Angeles got together to hear Mark annihilate The Times, and over its cold and tattered corpse tell how it was that he pied the plans to annex Arizona to the Bloody Ate.

But alas, when all the braves had assembled, no Mark was there. The braves grumbled and said Mark was a lobster. At last a trembling secretary pulled out a yellow telegram from Catalina and from Mark, which read: "Impossible to come. Am sorry to disappoint you, but can't help it."

Deep horrid gloom settled over all.

The chairman of the evening appointed a committee on cold feet which went into session immediately to study over the case of Mark. It reported right away.

The chairman of the committee, visibly agitated, got up and said he couldn't guess. He said Mark was as eager as anything to come and answer the criticisms of a certain paper (darkly said.) He said he believed the reason why he didn't come was that Mark worked for a firm that manufactured pants and the S. P. had called him off. On the face of it the connection did not seem quite clear. The chairman of the committee seemed to realize this and added rather lamely, "Well, I guess Mark just got cold feet."

There was a member from Arizona present and they called on him menacingly. They thought he ought to know about Mark.

"The only doggone thing that kept Arizona out was The Times," he said. But the braves, not to be put off, demanded to know about Mark. "Well, Mark," he said, gloomily, "Mark he seems to have fell down."

It came as a happy thought to some one that they all join hands round and have some one guess what Mark didn't say. They got up one of the faithful and he tried to fill in the void, but it was no use at all. At the end of it all was still that aching lonesome void. It was no use to play that Mark wasn't missed.

Suddenly in the midst of a hideous pause, Julius Krause, minus the glowing uniform which usually adorns him, leaped wildly to his feet and said he was a young man. He said some more things—dreadfully violent things—that didn't seem just to apply and some one was going to take his stein away when it was discovered that the trouble with Julius was that he had a song all ready to sing about Anona from Arizona. He was going to sing it at the close of Mark's slaughter of The Times and here Mark hadn't any close.

It was decided to let Julius sing it, anyhow. But it didn't set heavily on him about Arizona. After it was safely over, to show there wasn't really any hard feeling, he sang "My Lady Hottentot" and was Sunny Jim once more.

So at the meeting they kind of patched it up, but out where the Wurzburger flows in the little room, they attended to the case of Mark.

"Why that cheap lobster," they said more in anger than in sadness. "I heard Mark tell Earl Rogers that he had got him into a hell of a fix for The Times had given him a column editorial and he said he was going to take to the woods."

"I got a hunch Mark would get cold feet," said another of the committee pensively.

Some one else spoke up emphatically, "Me? I knew it. I sent him a telegram that we had 500 invitations out and not to throw us down. What do you think Mark did? The cheap skate sent us a wireless gram, collect, $1.65. Say wouldn't that freeze you? $1.65 collect."

And he sobbed alone.

But, Oh, Mark, Mark, but when you once more cross the brine, when once again you mingle with democracy, the coldness of your tootsies will be as of fire compared with the frostiness of the mitt extended to you in brotherly love.

PERSONAL.

Epes Randolph returned yesterday from a trip to Arizona.

C. de Guigne, a San Francisco banker, registered at the Van Nuys yesterday.

W. F. Calloway, of Calloway, Hook & Co., china importers of Denver and Salt Lake, is staying at the Angelus.

John Holmes, of the large Holmes dry goods establishment of New Orleans, is a recent arrival at the Angelus.

W. O. Robinson, an attorney of Trenton, Neb., is in the city. He was formerly president and general manager of the Trenton State Bank.

C. K. McCormick, a well-known mine of the Salt Lake-San Pedro Railroad, who is identified with the construction of the Salt Lake-San Pedro railroad, arrived at the Angelus yesterday.

David Keith, chief owner of the Silver King mine at Park City, Utah, and part owner of the Daly-West mine, is at the Angelus. He is the proprietor of the Keith-O'Brien Dry Goods Company of Salt Lake, and is here on a summer pleasure trip.

Fashionable Love.

Little Mary's big sister was engaged to Mr. Brown, who was away on an outing trip with Mary's brother. Her father was writing to his son and prospective son-in-law, and asked the little girl if she had a message to send to Mr. Brown.

"What shall I say, papa?" asked she.

"Why," said the father, "I believe it is the fashion to send your love."

Some minutes later her father inquired, "And what shall I say to Brother Tom?"

"Well," replied the little miss, with a sigh, "you may send my fashionable love to Mr. Brown and my real love to brother Tom."—[Philadelphia Ledger.

FEARED MOB VIOLENCE.

Officers Hustled Prisoner Away from Avalon.

Brought Judson T. Moxley to the Los Angeles Jail.

Catalina Soda-water Man Accused of Heinous Offense—Talk of Lynch Law.

Incarcerated in the tanks at the County Jail, Judson T. Moxley awaits examination for an alleged attempt at the commission of a heinous crime.

He was brought here last evening by an Avalon peace officer, who feared a resort to mob violence on the part of infuriated citizens.

The charge preferred against Moxley is an attempt to commit rape—the victim being Katherine Bixby, the little twelve-year-old daughter of Charles F. Bixby of this city.

With her parents Katherine has been summering at Avalon, Catalina Island, one of her daily pleasures being a plunge in the bay. Yesterday morning while sporting in the water she was approached by Moxley, who offered his services in teaching her something of the swimming art, during which period Moxley seems to have gained the girl's confidence. About 11 o'clock they were observed leaving the beach together and later entering Moxley's tent, located on the road leading up into Casino Cañon. The Bixbys were informed of the circumstance, the grandmother hurrying to the tent. Entering without ceremony she there witnessed, as she says, sufficient to leave no doubt as to Moxley's purpose. Removing the child she hurried to an Avalon justice and swore out a warrant for the arrest of the offender.

The report of Moxley's alleged attempt at the commission of a hienous crime having become current, expression was freely given by certain citizens and sojourners to sentiments favoring the taking of the law into their own hands. There was open talk of lynching. To circumvent any such demonstration, Moxley was hurried up into the Casino Cañon and there secreted until the 3:15 p.m. steamer, when he was smuggled aboard the Hermosa and brought to Los Angeles by Officer Meyers. During the trip across the channel Moxley evidenced much concern because of the trouble he has brought upon himself, his chief concern being that the public should be kept in ignorance of his act, fearing that violence might be resorted to by the infuriated people.

Moxley is reported to be a man of family and of considerable means. During the present season he has been conducting a refreshment stand at the Casino, and up to the present time is said to have borne a good reputation. The Los Angeles City Directory gives his residence as at No. 1710 Central avenue.

At the County Jail last evening Moxley refused to see a Times representative, not caring to give his version of the affair until having consulted his lawyer.

CHLOROFORM FOLLOWED LOVERS' QUARREL.

PRETTY LENA MULLER SWALLOWED POISON IN PARK.

Engagement with Ferdinand Schakow had Been Broken—She Hung Her Wedding Dress on a Chair and Went Out of the House to Die.

Almost on the eve of what was to have been her wedding day, pretty Lena Muller lies a corpse, her body under the control of the Coroner. Instead of marriage bells, for her will sound a funeral dirge and she will be borne to her grave, a suicide.

Because of a lover's quarrel, not a serious one, it is said, but one such as all or nearly all real lovers have had, because she saw before her nothing to live for, because she feared that the broken engagement was the end of all earthly happiness for her, she took her life yesterday, leaving no word so far as is known to those who loved her telling them why she took so rash a step. In a clump of trees which fringe the lake in Eastlake Park she drank the contents of a four-ounce bottle of chloroform. She was found soon afterward by several pleasure-seekers, at the park, conveyed to the County Hospital and there two hours later, despite all that five skilled physicians could do, she died.

Many persons who visited Eastlake Park yesterday afternoon noticed a well-dressed young woman sitting under a tree with her head in her hands as if she was in trouble. Her very attitude attracted attention to her and when Policeman McConnel passed her he noticed that she was acting in a very strange manner. She was picking at her hands and her dress; her face was drawn and haggard as if she was suffering great pain, and her general demeanor denoted that she was in trouble. The officer started to speak to her, but changed his mind and went through the park on his regular rounds. That was at 3:10 o'clock. Fifteen minutes later some people who happened to pass the woman, saw her lying on the grass, frothing at the mouth and only half-conscious. Several persons went to her assistance and a telephone message was sent for an ambulance.

The unconscious woman was hurriedly conveyed to the County Hospital where everything that could be done for her was done, but death ensued at 5:50 o'clock. When she was picked up the bottle which had contained chloroform was found beside her, showing what poison she had taken. A number of papers were also found, on one of which appeared the name Muller, and this furnished the only clew to her identity.

Lena Muller was the daughter of Michael Muller, who conducts a saloon at Seventh and Spring streets. Her mother is Mrs. Maude Muller, a midwife, who resides at No. 1218 Maple avenue. Mrs. Muller stated that her daughter had left home yesterday morning to take a music lesson and she was becoming alarmed because she had not returned. She described her daughter and it was evident from the description that she was the dead woman. The mother was told that her daughter was ill and demanded to know where. When informed that she was at the County Hospital the mother seized the telephone and called up that institution. Some person at the other end of the line not knowing to whom he was talking, bluntly told the excited woman the story of the suicide, and when Mrs. Muller was informed that her daughter was dead, she fell to the floor, unconscious, and up to midnight had not been restored.

Little by little the cause of the suicide became known. Lena Muller was 22 years of age and five years ago she married one Joseph Wilson. Their married life was not happy and more than two years ago she secured a divorce and was granted the custody of her daughter, who is now nearly 4 years of age. For more than a year she had been receiving the attentions of Ferdinand Schakow, an engineer in the employ of the Southern Pacific Company, whose home is at No. 2601 Downey avenue.

The members of both families knew that they were to be married and the day of the wedding had been set for next week. The bride-to-be prepared her trousseau and when she left home yesterday morning she put on a chair in her room the dress in which she had expected to be married.

A few days ago the couple quarreled. The engagement was broken. The estrangement could not have been permanent, for the two young people thought too much of each other for that. The woman brooded over the trouble in silence not even letting her mother know all that had occurred. Naturally of a nervous disposition, she took the trouble so much to heart that it may have affected her mind. Unable to distinguish for herself any joy in life and believing, though without foundation, that all was over between her and the man she loved, she committed the deed which has plunged into deepest sorrow the members of two families.

Schakow, a manly fellow, when informed last night of what had occurred, was so shocked that he was unable to speak and when he could talk he would not discuss his affairs. He practically admitted that the engagement had been broken, but with tears in his eyes said the trouble was not too serious to have been arranged and forgotten.

The inquest will be held this afternoon at 4 o'clock at the undertaking rooms of Bresee Bros., and after that arrangements for the funeral will be made.

Danger of a Reversal.

"Don't you think you're working too hard?"

"Well, there's a lot of unfinished work before me, and I've got to cover the ground in a very short time."

"Better slow down a bit or the ground will cover you in a very short time."—[Philadelphia Press.

James Livingston, a well-known builder of New York, has filed a petition in bankruptcy with liabilities of $1,543,400 and no assets. Of the liabilities, $1,407,500 were secured by bonds and mortgages on West Side residence property.

THE BABY TRAVELER WHO BEATS 'EM ALL.

HERE is a picture of the best-traveled baby in Los Angeles—little Georgia Cohan, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George M. Cohan, who are among the well-known theatrical people of the United States. Mrs. Cohan is still known professionally by her maiden name of Ethel Levey, and under this nom-de-theater she is at present the "head-liner" at a local playhouse.

Baby Cohan, is cosily cared for at the beautiful home of her doting grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Sol Levey, of No. 1135 West Eighteenth street; and to this quiet house baby's mother adjourns each night after the work under the footlights' glow.

Little Georgia was born in this self-same place something less than three summers ago, and hardly had the little golden-haired mite fully opened her eyes before her travels began. First she was taken across the continent to the Atlantic States, and there she was introduced to the stage. She was held in a nurse's arms in the wings while papa and mamma played, and she seemed to enjoy it immensely. She became a regular traveling "prop" of the Cohan family, with "grandpa" and "grandma" as well as her parents and "Aunt" Josephine—which relative is the same dainty little soubrette who delighted audiences when the "Four Cohans" were among the leaders in vaudeville.

Since the time she was first introduced as a behind-the-scenes adjunct to professional life, little Georgia has crossed the continent from the Atlantic to the Pacific, or vice versa, six times, and has made a trip to New Orleans, has been all through the South, has paid a visit to Montreal, and has been for a few days at least in almost every one of the large cities of North America. This is pretty good for a baby.

The child's first introduction to an audience came last year at Philadelphia, where her father was starring in a big production of his own farce, "The Governor's Son." The whole family work together, and as usual on this eventful night, Georgia came down in the arms of her nurse to see the show.

In the words of Mrs. Cohan: "My husband and my father-in-law have an opening scene in which they have the stage all to themselves, and they carry on a conversation which practically explains the theme of the piece; hence, although funny, its motif is really serious, and they were usually listened to in respectful attention. As my husband was addressing the opening lines to his father he became aware of a subdued giggle in the audience that was rapidly growing into the proportions of a roar, which startled him.

"His first thought was that something was the matter with his costume; he could see nothing of the center of the stage from his position on a couch at one side. Looking around as far as possible, however, he espied a shadow—just a little, tiny shadow—bobbing up and down on the brilliantly lighted floor.

"Jumping up in amazement there he beheld Georgia, standing exactly in the center of the stage, pirouetting gravely around in an important imitation of some things she had seen me do. She was evidently having the time of her small life, and you can just wager that the audience was, too.

"Of course apologies and explanations followed, but baby had the scene, and the honors went to her that night. Nurse had set her down just for a minute, and the little minx had taken the opportunity to toddle in and give the people an imitation of her mamma's entrance. After that Mr. Cohan always let her take the curtains calls with him, when there were many, and she would crow and clap her little hands in sheer delight for half an hour afterward."

Much journeying has only strengthened, apparently, the sturdy health of this chubby youngster. There is none of the swell-dressed little "angel child" about Georgia, and out in the western part of the city this midget with cheeks almost as red as her hair romps all day with the other children in the sun and wind.

Next season Georgia will accompany her mother on her starring tour, Mrs. Cohan being featured at the head of a musical comedy company playing "Little Johnny Jones," her husband's newest piece.

But her stage career will end soon after that. Her mother will send her back to school, and then—good-by playhouse until she is a real "young lady." Her father does not believe in that pitiful prodigy, the "child actress."

BABY GEORGIA COHAN.

THE PUBLIC SERVICE.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

The Councilmen and other city officials made an inspection of the Union Consolidated Refining Company's plant yesterday afternoon, and have investigated the complaints of bad odors in the First Ward.

This afternoon Herbert Stafford will attempt to prove to Judge Allen that "Diamond Belle" was his lawful wife, and that he is entitled to her diamonds.

J. Marion Brooks is discovered to have been the grocery magnate of Whittier in disguise.

Six pawnbrokers were arraigned in the Police Court yesterday for violating the license ordinance.

AT THE CITY HALL.

OFFICIAL INSPECTION OF UNION OIL REFINERY.

COUNCILMEN GARNER IDEAS ON THE ODORS OF DISTILLATE.

Superintendent Mulholland Outlines the Manner in which the City's Water Supply Can Be Protected—Concrete Basins and Bulkheads Needed.

An official inspection of the plant of the Union Consolidated Refining Company on Avenue 22 in the First Ward was made by members of the Council and other city officers yesterday. Just what conclusions were reached by the City Fathers will not be known until the report of the committee of the whole is made to the Council, as the visit to the plant, while interesting and instructive, did not entirely satisfy all the legislators as to the merits of the controversy over bad odors.

The party left the City Hall at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. It was composed of Councilmen Bowen, McAleer, Kern, Parish, Davenport, Summerland and Skilling, Water Superintendent Mulholland, Oil Inspector Blackmar and Manager H. M. Russell and Superintendent J. T. Jordan, representing the company.

Councilman McAleer, in whose ward the refinery is located, piloted the party along the burning sands of the Arroyo Seco on the bank of which the refinery is built. Beneath this sand waste, nearly 125 feet below the surface, the gigantic infiltration tunnel which is to augment the city's water supply is to be dug. A portion of the tunnel has already been completed, but it does not yet extend as far eastward as Avenue 22.

Along the banks of the Arroyo Seco tents and small shacks are located. They are inhabited in many cases by negroes and are not the most inviting homes in the world. This view led one of the Councilmen to remark, jocosely, to McAleer:

"If I owned an oil refinery over here I would petition the Council to have some of the residents move."

"That's the trouble," replied McAleer. "If it was not for the refinery a better class of improvements would be made in this section."

And that was about the way it went all the afternoon. Councilman McAleer insisted that the odors from the refinery caused his constituents restless nights and much discomfort. The representatives of the refinery made it perfectly clear that no such disagreeable odor could possibly arise from their plant.

In a general way the Councilmen were impressed with the neatness and business-like methods in evidence about the company's plant. They were convinced that the danger of contamination of the water supply could be removed. But the smell problem is no nearer a solution than it was a week ago.

The citizens say the smell is noticeable only during certain hours and when a particular kind of distillate is being manufactured. The refinery employes assert that the wholesome air pervading the plant yesterday is a fair sample of the purity of the circumambient atmosphere.

The Union Consolidated Refining Company has operated the First Ward plant for about two years. They have installed engines, stills, tanks and pipes, together with all necessary laboratory and other apparatus that goes with a first-class refining plant, at a cost of about $250,000. Manager Russell asserts that the refinery is one of the best equipped in the West. Crude oil from the local field, from the Fullerton and from the Coalinga fields are refined at the plant. All grades of distillate, fuel oil, naptha, gasoline, kerosene, asphaltum, engine and lubricating oils are manufactured. The product is shipped all over the East and into Canada. A car was being loaded with asphaltum yesterday that will be delivered in Buffalo, N. Y. The streets of several Canadian cities are covered with asphaltum from the First Ward refinery. Much of the crude oil is kept in a big tank capable of holding 1,500,000 gallons. The refined product is kept in smaller tanks on the opposite side of the plant from the Arroyo Seco. The distance from the tanks to the part of the arroyo over the infiltration gallery is nearly 300 feet and that gallery is over 100 feet beneath the surface.

Superintendent Mulholland declared that the crude oil is not a menace to the water supply as it is too heavy to percolate into the soil. If the refined oil should escape in large quantities there would be danger that it would reach the water levels. To do away with any danger from this source he suggested that all the tanks containing refined oil might be set in a concrete basin of sufficient capacity to hold all the oil in case it should escape from the tanks. Should a large fire occur all the oil would be caught and could not penetrate the soil.

Manager Russell declared his willingness to do anything within reason to protect the city's water supply.

Then the Councilmen turned their attention to the odor problem. Superintendent Jordan showed the party over the plant, explained the use of sulphuric acid and caustic soda in the process of refining and gave the city officials all desired information regarding the plant and the methods used. The legislators peered into the deep tanks, sniffed the sulphureted hydrogen arising from the oil passing through the "cut-offs," looked wise and interested; asked numerous questions and returned to the City Hall somewhat after 5 o'clock.

While at the plant the Councilmen also investigated the complaints of persons living near that the vapor from the refinery settles on the houses and destroys the paint. The paint on some of the houses is certainly in bad shape and there are small black spots for the presence of which no one can account. However, Superintendent Mulholland does not believe that any vapor arises from the refinery which would condense and form on the houses. He disclaimed any intention of giving an opinion on the character of the odors from the plant.

"All I desire to do," he declared, "is to protect the city's water supply."

An inspection of the company's plant has also been made by Dr. F. D. Bullard and he reports as follows:

"I have inspected the plant situated near Avenue 22, East Los Angeles, and find that the odors are those generally found about refineries, and in no way detrimental to the health either of those living upon the ground, or in that vicinity.

"I find also that the company had provided means for the consumption of the gases there generated. I also find that the seepage of the waste oils dried upon the ground, forming an impervious stratum wherever they were deposited.

"I would suggest that there be a bulkhead of clay upon the sides of the refinery next the arroyo, so as to form an impervious stratum in the event that, if through some unforeseen and unexpected accident, a large quantity of lighter oil should be precipitated upon the ground, there then could be no possibility of seeping into the sand, and thus causing a damage to the water supply.

"I do not regard the plant as a detriment to the health of the community, nor, with the aforementioned provisions, as a menace in any way to the water supply of the city.

"I have on several occasions investigated the health of those employed in and living near oil refineries and have never found any of them suffering from diseases which could in any way be attributed to the odors or gases emanating from the refineries."

At the Monday session of the Council it is expected that some action will be taken on the recommendation of the Board of Public Works that the refinery be compelled to move from the First Ward.

Returned from the East.

Foster Carlisle Wright, mayor's clerk, returned yesterday from a trip to Detroit, Mich., where he attended, as a delegate from the local alumni chapter, the Grand Chapter of the Sigma Chi college fraternity. "Tossie," as he is known to all City Hall habitués, displayed his proficiency in politics by securing the position of assistant grand annotator of the fraternity, which now numbers several thousand members.

Cost of Sprinkling.

The Finance Committee approved a demand yesterday in favor of Charles Stansbury for $5808 for supplying the city with teams and wagons during July at the contract rate of $1.71 a team per day. The bill was figured at 3397 teams used during the full thirty-one days, or an average of 106 teams a day. It was the original intention of the Council to employ but 100 teams, but the necessity for sprinkling proved even greater than was anticipated. Each of the drivers received $3 a day, or an aggregate sum for the month of $5796. Adding the cost of inspection brings the cost of street sprinkling for July to $12,900. Under the old contract the city paid $4965 a month, but this sum was paid the year around. It is contended by the city authorities that under the flexible contract with Stansbury the cost of sprinkling in the winter season can be reduced so that the average expenditure will not show such an increase over the old contract figures. The City Auditor's books at the end of the year will tell the tale.

Lawsuit Over Land.

Over on Avenue 22 at the corner of Hayden street is a piece of property which the city is suing to recover from F. J. Ganahl under peculiar circumstances. Two petitions for the sale of the land were made to the Council, but the property was so described that both petitions were granted without the knowledge that they conflicted. The Council received an offer for the land from a third party, and stopped the sale of the property on one of the petitions but not on the other. F. J. Ganahl acquired the land at the sale on the other petition for $500. It is now asserted that the petition was irregular. An offer of $1000 has been made for the land.

AT THE COURT HOUSE.

HUSBAND STAFFORD MUST SHOW COURT.

BELLE'S JEWELS TO BE DISPOSED OF TOMORROW.

Public Administrator Asks that Woman's Trunks Be Brought Into Court and There Opened—Squabble Over Effects of Prostitute.

If Herbert S. Stafford was indeed the husband of "Diamond Belle," whose jewels he is after, he will have to prove it to Judge Allen this afternoon.

Yesterday Stafford and the Public Administrator both came into court claiming the jewels, and there was a conflict.

Mr. Petermichael, the clerk for the Administrator, had already secured the signature of Judge Allen to an order giving him special letters of administration in the woman's estate, when Stafford and his attorney, Horace Appel, Esq., came hurrying in. Appel demanded that the letters be issued instead to his client.

He stated to Judge Allen that Stafford was married to the woman about six years ago in Tia Juana and had the marriage certificate to show for it.

Judge Allen suggested that if such were the case he had better bring the certificate into court and show it. He postponed further hearing of the matter until this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

In the meantime Mr. Petermichael asked that the woman's trunks might be brought into court and there opened. Appel objected to this. He said his client was opposed to having his wife's belongings scattered to the gaze of the public.

The public Administrator asked for letters in a petition giving the deceased three different names, Belle Newell, Ida Wilson and Belle Stafford.

BROOKS WAS A MAGNATE.

THERE WAS NO INGLES.

Modest "Col." J. Marion Brooks has been hiding the fact that he is grocery magnate of Whittier—disguising the fact that "Charles Ingles & Co." is really J. Marion Brooks. This fact developed yesterday in some attachment proceedings.

The Ingles company was incorporated to build and own stock yards and a great grocery emporium. It was understood that "Charles Ingles" was a rich eastern capitalist. From an attachment for $300 levied on the grocery store it has been shown that there is no Ingles connected with the establishment.

The concern was incorporated with a capital stock of $25,000, of which $25 was paid. The incorporators were Herman Wiens, F. Robert Hawley, George Horstkotte, J. Marion Brooks, Edward H. Bentley.

DEMANDED COON'S ARREST.

MONKEY WRENCH INTERFERED.

A young southern boy giving the name of Oscar Tearil came to the District Attorney's office yesterday demanding that the sleuth hounds of the law be sent out to arrest a negro who threatened to shoot him early yesterday morning.

Tearil was driving an empty wagon down the hill near Avenue 51, in East Los Angeles and happened to collide with a wagon heavily loaded on the way up the hill, the wagon being driven by a negro. Tearil says that the negro swore at him and struck him with a horsewhip. This infuriated Tearil and he jumped from his wagon with a big monkey wrench. The negro drew a revolver and made him put up the monkey wrench and go back to his wagon.

A complaint was refused him, as he made the first assault with a deadly weapon.

The boy was highly indignant. "You're standing in with the nigger," he said scornfully.

OLD-FASHIONED HANDWRITING IS AGAIN IN VOGUE.

Vertical handwriting was given a death sentence by the Los Angeles County School Board yesterday.

Hereafter school children will be taught the kind of handwriting that their mothers used to make.

Yesterday's edict was but one of several changes made in the course of study in the county schools.

The change was made for the object of getting more speed. The result of the experiment with vertical writing in the public schools has not been favorable. It has been found that the vertical writing, although very plain and easy to read, is too slow for business use. The formation of the letters is accompanied by the use of too many separate lines. The slant adopted is 20 per cent.

Another slight change in the course of study will be to add more stress to history and civics. Hereafter civics will be taken up in the eighth grade instead of the ninth.

Much of the fancy part of arithmetic is to be cut out. The course in this regard will be limited to simple examples. All useless tables will be cut out.

To the reading course are added a supplemental course along the line of history and geography.

THE INFERIOR COURTS.

TEARS THAT FAILED TO MOVE THE COURT.

HIS FAMILY MAY BE WITHOUT FOOD OR MAY NOT.

Here's a Chinaman Who Said He was Guilty of the Crime Charged Against Him—Some "Jersey Justice" Dealt Out—Many Pawnbrokers Arrested.

M. Espinosa, a tall and bright-faced young Mexican, stood in the Police Court dock yesterday, charged with carrying a revolver in disobedience of the city ordinance.

Between sobs and with the tears running down his face, he told that he did not know the law, and had been but three days in the city; that he had a family, and nothing for them to eat, and was coming into the city to sell the gun to get food.

His appearance was calculated to at least create a doubt in his favor, but if there was anything in his story it failed to reach the conscience of Justice Downey, who tersely said: "Twenty dollars or twenty days."

Another Chinese Wonder.

Ah Keong was arraigned yesterday for conducting a lottery in Chinatown. He almost took the breath out of the prosecuting attorney by pleading guilty, something a Chinaman has rarely been known to do. In a few minutes his fine of $25 was paid and the incident was all over. The first wonder was a Chinaman who was hauled up for selling opium, a few days ago, when he appeared the case was dismissed and the defendant was told he could go, another thing that has rarely happened.

Jersey Justice.

Charles O'Brien appears to have gotten drunk and gone to a dance in a hall at the corner of Sixteenth and Main streets, and when he departed took with him the hat of a man named Barber. The defendant said when he was called to the bar that he had taken the hat, but it was all a mistake, and was promised a chance to explain, but when the fact was stated that the hat was found in O'Brien's possession he got from Justice Downey a sample of "Jersey justice" of the much-ridiculed type. He was given no opportunity to state his side of the case, and the only words spoken by the justice were: "Thirty dollars or thirty days."

Good Thing for Grocery.

F. D. Reynolds was found guilty of jumping his hotel bill at the Angelus, and was given a sentence of $50 or fifty days. Why wouldn't it be a good thing to have a law like that for the jumpers of grocery bills, newspaper bills, and all other kinds of bills? The landlords seem to have a cinch.

Dock Brevities.

The license war has now reached the pawnbrokers, and no less than half a dozen of them were arraigned yesterday for conducting business without having the necessary permit. All the cases were set for hearing on Tuesday next. The "uncles" all looked very much worried when they appeared in answer to their names, but they evidently agreed upon a course of action before coming to court.

Two "crap" shooters, named Richards and Barnes, who were caught in the act on East Ninth street, were each fined $5.

An unsavory household, down on Turner street, by the name of Rangel, wrangled themselves into the Police Court by shouting vile epithets at the wife of Policeman Strode and other neighbors who live across the street from them. Stella Valencia, a "dream" in blue and ostrich plumes, was one of the chief aggressors, and though the court was assured by her attorney that she was a perfect lady, she was promptly convicted of the nasty offense, along with her aged mother. They will be sentenced today.

DIRECTORS IN WILD PANIC.

CRIMINOLOGIST ABRAHAM LEVY'S EXPERIENCE WITH A CASHIER HE DISTRUSTED — PHYSIOGNOMY GAVE THE CLEW BY WHICH TABLES WERE TURNED ON COOL CRIMINAL.

BY ABRAHAM LEVY, LL. D.
(Criminologist and Alienist, New York.)

CRIMINOLOGY is a profession by itself. It has few practitioners, the reason may be found in the fact (which I state with all modesty) that not one man in a thousand has the peculiarly adapted mental caliber necessary for its successful practice.

Apart from the interest afforded by new researches into this art, which is still in its early stages, the criminologist meets now and then with strange, even thrilling adventures.

It is one of these adventures that I now purpose to relate. I shall take the liberty of altering a name or two and of making similar unimportant changes. But more than one lawyer, physician and criminologist who reads this will recognize the case, although they will learn some of its details for the first time.

There is a New York State bank of which I at one time had the honor to be a director. It was and is a prosperous and highly respected institution. For the present purpose let it be called the John Jay National bank.

THE ASSISTANT CASHIER.

On my way to the directors' room at the rear of the ground floor, I frequently noticed a tall, well-built fellow at the cashier's window. At first glance he was as good looking a chap as you would wish to see. I am perhaps too much given to looking on my fellow man with a criminologist's eye. At any rate I detected physiological traits about this good-looking fellow that led me instinctively to wish he were elsewhere than at the post of assistant cashier in an institution of which I was a director.

This was years before Bertillon and other more famous criminologists than I had made our profession recognized and had proved criminology an exact science. I therefore knew that if I ventured to announce to my fellow directors that I distrusted our assistant cashier because his skull had a certain shape and because his fingers were formed in a way slightly different from that of other men in the bank, I would be unmercifully laughed at. Moreover, such an objection would have done no good. So I resolved for the time to be silent.

Nevertheless, when our old cashier, Henry Jennings, died, and the question of appointing young Upton, the assistant, as cashier in his place, arose, I was sorely tempted to speak. Yet what proof had I? What reason, that others would regard as sane, for objecting to his promotion?

Accordingly, Upton became cashier of the John Jay National. And for nearly a year no one could have filled the post to better satisfaction. I could not quite divest myself of the distrust with which he had inspired me, though I, of course, took good care that no one should learn how I regarded him. I contented myself with proving secretly his past record, and, though I discovered several interesting facts which, taken in conjunction with an alienist's and criminologist's knowledge, had a rather unpleasant look, I could find nothing which disqualified him legally for his present position.

Upton had been in the bank, in one capacity or another, from boyhood, and had worked his way up from a minor clerkship. He had a great mind for finance, accounts, etc. (this much my knowledge of physiognomy, as well his own record, told me), and he had the banking business at his finger ends. He was engaged to be married to a young girl who lived in a near-by town, and was, according to report, only waiting for a larger salary in order to marry.

SALARY ADVANCE REFUSED.

Hence none of us were surprised to receive a very well constructed, businesslike note from him at a board meeting one day respectfully soliciting a raise of salary.

It was at a time when money was "tight," when few salaries anywhere were on the rise, and, though we knew why he wished the increase, we could not officially permit domestic matters to influence banking routine. So we were obliged to refuse his request, which we did as civilly as possible, holding out the usual possibilities that "at some future time," etc.

If the refusal cut him his face showed no sign, and the smile with which he greeted us as we passed through to the directors' room on the next board meeting day was as bland and as pleasant as ever.

The meeting was nearly over and we were wondering, most of us, if we could not manage to get back to town in time for lunch when the plate glass door was swung open without any preliminary rap, and young Upton stepped into the room.

He calmly closed the door and strolled over to one end of the long table, where he turned and faced us. No one but myself was surprised at his appearance at such a time. True, the interruption was unusual, but he was an old employé, and besides most of the directors, I fancy, had a sneaking idea we had treated him just a bit unfairly in that matter of the question of salary.

I, however, noticed that while his face still wore the impassive, pleasant smile it always assumed, his hands were tightly clinched. That, in a man of his temperament, means strong nervous tension. I wondered what that reason might be, and I edged my chair in such a way as to get a better light on his face.

BOMB FOR DIRECTORS.

The president, thinking Upton wished to consult him on some minor detail of routine, overlooked the irregularity of his entrance, and with a friendly nod said:

"What is it, Mr. Upton?"

"Do you know, sir," asked the cashier carelessly, "what is the exact cash balance we have in hand just now?"

"Certainly," replied the president, surprised at the question, and turning to some notes, he read the balance aloud. I forget the exact sum, but it was sufficiently large to meet every day emergencies and to leave a decidedly comfortable margin.

"Those figures are incorrect," replied the cashier calmly.

"Incorrect?" echoed the president coldly. "It is the amount named by yourself, Mr. Upton. What do you mean? Has there been any blunder in the figures?"

"No blunder at all, sir," said Upton, "the figure was correct when I gave it to you. It isn't now. It no longer represents our true amount of cash in hand."

"What is the exact amount we have, then?" spoke up a director from across the table.

"I forget the exact sum," answered Upton, respectfully, "but it is a trifle less than $300."

A gasp ran around the table. The

BOMB FOR DIRECTORS.

The president, thinking Upton wished to consult him on some minor detail of routine, overlooked the irregularity of his entrance, and with a friendly nod said:

"What is it, Mr. Upton?"

"Do you know, sir," asked the cashier carelessly, "what is the exact cash balance we have in hand just now?"

"Certainly," replied the president, surprised at the question, and, turning to some notes, he read the balance aloud. I forget the exact sum, but it was sufficiently large to meet almost every day emergencies and to leave a decidedly comfortable margin.

"Those figures are incorrect," replied the cashier calmly.

"Incorrect?" echoed the president, angrily. "It is the amount named by yourself, Mr. Upton. What do you mean? Has there been any blunder in the figures?"

"No blunder at all, sir," said Upton, "the figure was correct when I gave it to you. It isn't now. It no longer represents our true amount of cash in hand."

"What is the exact amount we have?" spoke up a director from across the table.

A gasp ran around the table. The president was the first to catch his breath.

"Mr. Upton!" he thundered. "This is no time or place for foolish jokes."

"I never joke in business hours, sir."

"Then what is the meaning of this wild statement that there is less than $300 in hand?"

"It is quite true, sir."

"But," bawled an excitable, apoplectic man half-way down the table, "where are all the rest of the bank's ready funds? Speak up, man!"

"I stole them," answered Upton, as calmly as if he had said "It is a hot day."

Were it not that his hands were so tightly clinched and that they twitched convulsively now and then, I should have thought him jesting or deranged.

Had he tossed a lyddite bomb into the group before him there could not have been greater consternation and panic than those two words, "I stole them," created.

While the board still stared aghast, Upton went on:

"I stole the money—all of it but about $500—and $200 of that has been drawn during the last hour. The balance may last till noon. Perhaps, with luck, a trifle later. After that the John Jay National Bank will probably have to close its doors. And when enough funds are scraped together to open again, I very much fear there'll be a 'run.' But——"

By this time the board had found its voice. In a dozen different keys it shouted queries, threats, exclamations and pleas at Upton.

I won't try to describe the scene of the next few minutes. It is enough to say that at length we became convinced Upton had really told the truth, and that the bank was in a terribly tight place.

"But—but!" howled the apoplectic director, "you'll be jailed for this. It will mean seven years in State's prison for you!"

READY FOR PUNISHMENT.

"Nearer ten years, I fancy," said Upton, unmoved. "I've figured all that out. Listen, gentlemen. I've planned this for some time and I've covered my tracks fairly well, I think. I have taken the money. But it is safe, where no one can find it. I shall plead guilty and serve my sentence. I am but thirty. I shall be in the prime of life when I get through serving my sentence. The money I have taken will then permit me to live like a lord for the rest of my life. I'd rather go to jail for a few years and then have a lifetime of comfort than to slave away as an underpaid employé until I am too old to work and then be kicked out to starve. So, gentlemen," he finished in a brisk, businesslike voice, "please send for an officer, one of you, and let the farce begin."

Again the babel of voices arose. Now, I had still been watching Upton's hands. A man who is sincere in his determination to work out such a plan as he had just outlined, and who has resigned himself to the consequences, is no longer wildly nervous. Yet Upton's hands were still clinched in that viselike grip. I saw that his weak point was his nerve.

"Will you let me speak to him alone a moment?" I whispered to the president.

A moment later I led Upton to a far end of the room. He accompanied me, more from curiosity, I thought, than from any other motive.

THE GAME LOST.

"Upton," I said, "it's a clever game, and you've played it prettily. But you lose."

I saw a startled, if incredulous, look leap into his eye. I went on before he could recover:

"There's one flaw, you see. It won't be a mere term in prison. It's a hanging job. Not this embezzlement, but old Henry Jennings's death."

Now, I had not a shadow of proof to back my charge. All I knew was this: That the old cashier had made a friend of Upton; that the latter had admittedly longed for the old man to die in order that he might get his position; that Upton had been Jennings's guest the very day the latter was taken ill with the mysterious cramps that preceded his death. All this was not enough to settle the charge of murder upon the cashier, and as Jennings had been dead for a year, it would be too late to exhume the body for traces of poison. But the thing which morally convinced me of Upton's complicity in the matter was the cast of his countenance—a type of face that three out of four of the world's most famous poisoners, from Caesar Borgia down, have been noted for.

I had made the shot at a venture, and it succeeded beyond my hopes. He could not know what evidence I possessed. He must have thought I had certain proof in order to make such a charge. I talked to him five minutes more. Then we returned to the others.

I explained to them that Mr. Upton and I had come to an understanding. That he saw how criminally foolish he had been. That the funds could be gotten at inside of an hour and would be returned at once to the bank. The only condition was that we should not prosecute.

The directors thankfully accepted the terms, and the money was brought to the bank (in response to a hurriedly dispatched note) by the girl to whom Upton was engaged. It seems she had been his accomplice and had urged him to the embezzlement. At least so he told me.

Upton profited little by the leniency we showed him. In less than six months he was on trial for forgery, was convicted and sent to prison. A few months later, on the plea that he was of unsound mind, he was pardoned and sent to a sanitarium.

There he robbed the proprietor's safe and escaped, it was said, to Europe.

Had criminology, in those days, been the exact science it is today, all this might have been averted. For I had read Upton's proclivities to theft as easily as if they had been written on paper instead of on his face.

Next Sunday's article on Wall street by Sereno S. Pratt deals with the abuses of speculaton.

A small gas stove is as big as a big coal stove; that is: it'll do more work.

The usual coal cookstove has two good "holes" on top and two more not worth much—they're useful but not for cooking.

The usual gas cookstove has four entirely-good top cooking-places, besides the simmerer.

Oven and broiler besides.

BABY'S ECZEMA

Top of Head Covered with Scales Which Peeled off Taking Hair with Them.

CURED BY CUTICURA

"My baby was about six weeks old when the top of her head became covered with thick scales, which would peel and come off, taking the hair with it. It would soon form again and be as bad as before. I tried several things and then went to the doctor. He said it was Eczema, and prescribed an ointment, which did not do any good. A friend spoke of Cuticura Soap, I tried it and read on the wrapper about Cuticura Ointment as a remedy for Eczema. I bought a box and washed her head in warm water and Cuticura Soap and gently combed the scales off. They did not come back and her hair grew out fine and thick. She is now a year and a half old and has no trace of Eczema. You have my permission to publish my letter."

Mrs. Burges Writes, Feb. 28, 1903.

"My baby, who had Eczema very badly on her head, as I told you before, after using the Cuticura Remedies was cured. I think it was about a year later it made its appearance again, but with the same treatment it very quickly disappeared. She is now six years old and has thick hair and a clean scalp."

TWENTY-FIFTH THOUSAND

Free-Labor Number

The Times has just issued another edition of its special four-page Free-Labor Number for circulation among "independent workers, captains of industry, and all employers and employees who prise their lawful rights." Its contents are mainly reproductions of editorial articles and facts and statistics which have appeared in this paper from time to time heretofore, and are now brought together in this form. The matter shows again, and even more clearly, what The Times stands for, viz.: Liberty regulated by law, and independent, unstammeled labor; also what it is unalterably opposed to, viz.: Strikes, boycotts, picketing, conspiracies and needless industrial disturbances, to the great detriment of the country.

CONTENTS

I. To All Who Seek the Truth.
II. Our Platform: For Liberty, Law and Labor—Against Strikes and Boycotts—For Industrial Freedom and Repose.
III. Gen. Otis to a Workingman.
IV. "A Spectre from the Grave."
V. Getting Their Eyes Open.
VI. Editorials: Editorial Declarations of Independence—Stand Fast—A Heritage of Unreason—Stubborn Facts, Refuting Falsehoods Disseminated by Organized Labor—The Logic of Plain Truth—The Boycott Scarecrow—Strong, Brave Words from the Nation's Chief—Ringing Words from President Parry—"Halt and Call a Council of Reason"—A Stinging Rebuke to the Boycotting Gang—The Curse of Lawlessness—Court Condemns Boycotting.
VII. Parry to the Manufacturers—"A Signal Man Swinging in the Night a Red Lantern Between Us and Perdition."
VIII. A Body Blow Given to Lawless Labor. (President Parry's Speech at Buffalo.)
IX. Speech for Freedom by Geh. LaGrange.
X. California—Los Angeles and Southern California — Announcement of The Times—[Advertisement.]
XI. A Boycott Boomerang—Wages in Southern California.
XII. Seven Strike Failures.
XIII. The Situation in Omaha—Recent Strikes, Boycotts, Lawlessness, Violence and Failure.
XIV. Mark these Plain and True Utterances.
XV. Figures that Prove—Advertising and Circulation for Fourteen Years.
XVI. The Logic of Results.
XVII. A Free Journal for Free People.

This issue being special, is not sent to the regular patrons of The Times. 100 copies will be sent to any single address in the United States for 50 cents; 10 copies to one address, 10 cents, postpaid. Scores and hundreds of free citizens, independent workers and unshackled employers can do great good to the country and to the cause of true labor by aiding to circulate everywhere this free-labor edition. HAVE been treated by Dr. Schiffman for years. I have tried all his different methods and can say unhesitatingly no dentist or physician has ever operated with such success or skill. In extracting my teeth he did it without any pain to me. It is a great pleasure to me to recommend him and his method of treatment. MILO M. POTTER,
Prop. Van Nuys Hotel and Hotel Potter, Santa Barbara.

Ten years ago a reputable D. D. S. of Va. told me that a certain molar tooth could not be satisfactorily saved and that it would probably not be of service for one year. It has not only served me for ten years, as Dr. Schiffman saved and crowned it, and comparatively speaking without pain. I sing his praise.
L. M. ANDREWS, Pastor M. E. Church, South,
Cor. 6th and Mateo Streets.

On account of some unfortunate experience I had in the extraction of my teeth I became a great coward in this respect. Today Dr. Schiffman extracted one of my very refractory teeth without causing me one particle of pain. D. K. TRASK, Judge Superior Court,
Los Angeles.

Dr. Schiffman extracted a tooth for me absolutely without pain. His advertising phrase, "Didn't Hurt a Bit," is literally true.
R. D. HOLABIRD, Pacific Electrical Works,
Under Nadeau, First St.

EVERAL years ago Dr. Schiffman did some crown and bridge work for me which has proved entirely satisfactory. The work was done painlessly and with great skill. It gives me great pleasure to recommend him.
IRVING R. SMITH, L. A. Times.

Dr. Schiffman has put in almost an entire upper bridge for me. The bridge is perfect in every respect, and I can use it as well as my natural teeth. The work was promptly and painlessly done.
J. P. WILL, 801 Westwerins.

Dr. Schiffman pulled two of my wisdom teeth, and it didn't hurt a bit; on the contrary, the sensation was pleasant. GUY L. HARRISON, Vice-Pres. Herald Pub. Co.

It is with pleasure that I state that I have had several teeth filled by Dr. Schiffman, and that he filled and extracted the nerve and filled the root of one of my teeth and put on a porcelain crown, which cannot be distinguished from a natural tooth, all of which was done without pain. JUDSON R. KUHL,
Of Davis & Rush, Attorneys, 3 Rogers Blk.

I have had porcelain crown work and some filling done, also had ten teeth and roots extracted by Dr. Schiffman, and take great pleasure in recommending his method to anyone wishing dental work done without pain. MRS. C. T. W. SCHRAMM,
Mother of Paloma Schramm, Cor. Austin and Wadsworth.

Dr. Schiffman has put in a very satisfactory piece of bridge work for me and I cheerfully recommend him to anyone in need of dentistry. P. FLORENTINE, 1103 North Main St. Crowney and City Criminal Photographer.

About a year ago I had a solid gold bridge put in by Dr. Schiffman. The work was absolutely painless, and has proved entirely satisfactory, and I cannot say too much in praise of the doctor. GUS BASLER, 218 W. First St.

Dr. Schiffman extracted my teeth and replaced same by bridge work. He also treated and filled two teeth, which I thought were too far gone to save. The above work was all done painlessly and is perfectly satisfactory. E. A. POLLARD, 727 Central Ave.

This is to certify that Dr. Schiffman did some crown and bridge work for me seven years ago and the work is as good today as it was when he finished the job.
E. J. McKENZIE, Police Officer, 1402 Kenet St.

I have had fourteen teeth extracted positively without pain by Dr. Schiffman.
L. A. OSBORN, Ocean Park Postmaster.

Have just had a large back tooth extracted by Dr. Schiffman; had been suffering, but it was only a trifle and gave no pain. FRED A. DAY, Deputy City Assessor.

"Swing your partners and change corners," was the order in the scholarship contest yesterday and most of the contestants obeyed it.

Den Manuel Saens of The Palms swung with Hazel Ball, the little "Pride of the Peatlands," and landed above her in sixth place, by adding an even 3200 points to his score.

Gertrude Hibbard of Pomona swung

MISS MABEL BROWN.

with Clare Templeton of Lamanda and landed above her in eighth place, notwithstanding the fact "Lady Clare" herself gained 1681 points. Miss Hibbard's gain was 3570.

Elizabeth Dehmlow, the popular little fraulein of Clearwater, swung with Mabel Brown of Colegrove and rests in twelfth place, with a gain of 3982 points, the largest gain of the day. Miss Brown's gain was 1351 points.

Ethel E. Bryan swung with little Blanche Marble and crowded the latter out of fourteenth place, by making a gain of 1444 points, while little Blanche added only 734 to her score.

Vada Watson changed corners with Lucille Zander and is now No. 16 in the race. Vada's gain was 1839 points and Lucille's only a paltry 231. Better luck to Lucille today.

Cecil Paull exchanged with Josephine Den and deprived the latter of eighteenth place, which she has guarded so long. Cecil's gain was 920 and Josephine's only 420.

Lynn swung so hard that she flung Martha Gore from twenty-first place way down to twenty-fourth. Miss Lynn, who is spending the week at Rialto, is making a profitable campaign in that section. She is a charming young lady and well worthy of the assistance which the people in San Bernardino county are giving her. Her gain yesterday was 1017 points, and returns of her day's work not all in.

Charlie Yorba swung with Richard Sedwell of Fernando and turned the latter down from twenty-fifth to twenty-seventh place.

Bessie Barclay swung with John Harnish and caused that young gentleman to take a tumble from twenty-sixth to twenty-eighth place.

Harry Bunnell had Julietta Dumont Campbell for his partner and replaced her in thirty-third place. Things are beginning to come "Bunnie's" way of late, and he is more cheerful than ever.

The last pair on the list to change corners was Thomas E. Cheney of Santa Monica and John M. Overholtzer, the junior contestant of Covina. Thomas moved up to forty-second place and Johnnie is left at the bottom of the list.

All those who did not pair off as mentioned above, remained in their old places, gathering their strength for the next leap.

CAHUENGA VALLEY FAVORITE.

The subject of today's illustration is Miss Mabel Brown of Colegrove. Miss Brown is going up and down the Cahuenga Valley and West Los Angeles, carrying everything before her. Like the frostiest belt, which is her home, there is nothing frigid about Miss Brown. She is a sunny-tempered, warm-hearted girl, highly esteemed by all who know her. No better evidence of this is needed than her score in the scholarship contest. The people of the valley are giving her most loyal support because she deserves it and needs the scholarship. There are hundreds of people acquainted with Miss Brown who will say "Yea and Amen" to the following testimonial from the popular rector of the Episcopal Church at Hollywood:

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 6, 1903.

Editor of Scholarship Contest.

Dear Sir: I am more pleased than I can say to be able to speak a word in favor of Miss Mabel Brown of Colegrove. Miss Brown has been most untiring in her efforts to secure a scholarship, and I feel sure that when she does win, she will make the best use of her opportunity.

The faithfulness with which Miss Brown is working to keep her place is a good example of her character. I have found her to be one on whom I can depend, and this quality is sure to help her succeed.

Miss Brown is in every way a girl who deserves one of the scholarships which The Times so generously offers each year; she is worthy of any aid which may be given her in the contest, and I wish her success. Very sincerely,

ANGUS PORTER,
Rector of Episcopal Church, Hollywood.

To Compel Respect.

Benjamin Franklin, a lawyer of Macon, Mo., has been recalling some stories of Henry Clay Dean, a chaplain of the United States Senate before the war, a curious character, with the picturesque forcibleness of language of a pioneer and a voice of extraordinary range. Perhaps this is one of the most interesting of the stories: "When I started for Charlton county, Mo., in 1854, to teach a country school near Brunswick," says Mr. Franklin, "Dean voluntarily gave me a letter of recommendation to his friend, Casper W. Bell, a noted citizen. He also offered this advice, and I will never forget it, as it has served me well: 'Benjamin, I want to say this to you: You will always find that mankind will respect you most when it sees the ivory handle of your pistol sticking out of your pocket.'"—[New York Tribune.

America's Coat of Arms.

The flag and coat of arms of the United States are not yet quite a century and a quarter old. But although the banner represents the youngest of the great nations it is nevertheless one of the most venerable among the national standards. It was adopted by Congress on June 14, 1777, and is therefore older than any of the flags of the principal European governments, namely, that of France, adopted in 1794; Spain, 1785; the German empire, in 1870; Italy, in 1848; Portugal, in 1830; and that of Great Britain, which merely dates from 1801.

It has frequently been asserted that the nation is indebted to an English baronet for the suggestion of the device which has been adopted as its national coat of arms. The story is that Sir John Prestwich, Bart., claimed that he "suggested the coat of arms for the American States to an ambassador from there, which the States have put upon some of their moneys. It is this:

NEW AND SIGNAL HONORS FOR CROWN PIANOS
First Award and Highest Order of Merit at Melbourne Exposition just given—chosen from pianos of all the world for these special honors.
No pianos more far famed—none so deserving this great recognition.
Surely they merit your close attention when buying. Your used instrument taken as part pay if you desire.

Party per pale of thirteen stripes, white and red, the chief of the escutcheon blue, signifying the protection of heaven over the States, which so pleased the Americans that it was soon after adopted as the arms of the states." Prestwich was a Lancashire gentleman and an antiquary of some note. He was a particular friend of John Adams, and there is no doubt that he had the opportunity of suggesting the device. It is from the Lancashire family of Washingtons that the first President of the United States was descended, and it is plausible to presume that Prestwich would naturally wish to connect the armorial bearings of the new government with the escutcheons of the Washingtons of Lancashire.

Benson J. Lossing, however, positively declined to believe that the arms of the flag were suggested by the heraldry of Washington. He writes: "If they were suggested by anything then existing I think it may have been the flag of the East Indian company, with which the colonists, in seaports especially, were familiar." This flag as early as 1704 was composed of thirteen horizontal stripes, alternate red and white, with the red cross of St. George on the white canton in the corner. The colonists used this number and kind of stripes to denote union nearly two years before the stars appeared on the flag. The union flag, hoisted over the American camp at Cambridge January 1, 1776, was composed of thirteen stripes, alternate red and white, with the British union in one corner. It was not until June 14, 1777, that the Continental Congress resolved "that the flag of the United States be thirteen stripes, red and white alternate, and that the union be thirteen stars (white) on a blue field, representing a new constallation."—[Chicago News.

Last Straw.

The chairman of the relief committee groaned.

"What is the matter now?" asked the treasurer.

"Just as the flood has begun to subside and our poor old town is lifting its head above the angry waters," said the chairman, "here comes a letter from Andrew Carnegie offering to give us a library building on the usual conditions. I haven't felt really discouraged until now."—[Chicago Tribune.

Notice to Contractors.

PURSUANT TO AN ORDER OF THE Board of Trustees of the State Normal School of San Diego, California, notice is hereby given that sealed proposals will be received at my office until two o'clock p.m. of August 18th, 1903, for furnishing the materials and performing the labor necessary for the construction of the west wing of the San Diego State Normal School building.

Separate proposals will be received and separate contracts made for furnishing the materials and performing the labor necessary for each of the following parts of said work, to wit:

1. For masonry work, including all concrete and cement work, and all necessary excavating and filling. 2. For the carpenter, planering, sticking, matching and fitting work. 3. For the steam heating, ventilating work, including the equipment of central heating and the care of the building therewith. 4. For the tinning and painted iron work. 5. For the painting and varnishing work.

No proposal will be considered unless accompanied by a bond of the proposer for ten per cent. of his proposal, with sufficient sureties, conditioned that if his proposal is accepted, he will duly enter into a proper contract and faithfully perform his or their part of contracts for which proposal is offered.

Each proposal must be made on blanks to be obtained from the undersigned, and must be inclosed in a sealed envelope, addressed to the trustees of the Normal School of San Diego, California, and indorsed with the name of the bidder, and a statement of the building in which proposal is offered.

Said proposals will be publicly opened and contracts based thereon will be awarded August 18th, 1903, at two o'clock p.m. office of the Board of the State Normal School of San Diego, California.

The plans, descriptions, blank and general conditions of said work will be open to inspection during all business hours at the office of Hebbard & Gill, architects, Douglas building, 1004 Fifth street, San Diego, California, from the date of this notice to the time of such contracts.

The Board of Trustees reserves the right to reject any or all proposals made.

SCHOOL SAVINGS BANK. "How thoroughly the school children of Pittsburgh have acquired the habit of thrift, inculcated by the adoption of the school savings-bank idea five years ago, is shown by the fact that their deposits now amount to $50,000. The habit itself is worth many times the money that it has accumulated, both to the children themselves and to the community. Thrift implies prudence, steadiness, self-reliance and good habits, which go to make good citizens. It is a lesson that can best be taught by practice rather than precept. A savings account of $300, as some of these children are reported to have," says the Pittsburgh Dispatch, "is a much stronger argument for saving than any number of theoretical rules for winning success and guides to fortune. One thing that commends itself in this matter is that the savings do not represent penuriousness. The children who have bank accounts seem to enjoy life even better than their spendthrift neighbors. If the effect was to make the children mere money hoarders, denying themselves and growing up embryonic misers, the value of the system might be doubted, but there is nothing of the kind disclosed. The little self-denials which the youthful depositors must undergo to swell their account do not stunt their growth; their relinquishment merely serves as an invaluable training for the duties of life where it is not always a question of what we would like, but of what we should. The mental and moral education which results from this early inculcation to the principle of living within one's income, extended as If the effect was to make the children mere money hoarders, denying themselves and growing up embryonic misers, the value of the system might be doubted, but there is nothing of the kind disclosed. The little self-denials which the youthful depositors may make to swell their account do not stunt their growth; their relinquishment merely serves as an invaluable training for the duties of life where it is not always a question of what we would like, but of what we should. The mental and moral education which results from this early habituation to the principle of living within one's income, extended as it should be to all schools, would have a notable and wholesome effect upon the nation in a generation."

OUR BONDS UP NORTH. According to the official statement of sales at the Stock and Bond Exchange in San Francisco, 15,000 shares of Los Angeles Railway Company bonds changed hands there during July at 114.

COMMERCIAL.

PIG STICKING. The Cincinnati Price Current of July 30 says: "The marketing of hogs is falling off moderately, but is still considerably larger than a year ago. Total western packing for the week was 390,000, compared with 405,000 the preceding week, and 351,000 two weeks ago. For the corresponding time last year the number was 280,000, and two years ago, 510,000. From March 1 the total is 8,510,000, against 8,066,000 a year ago—an increase of 443,000. The quality is mostly good, though at some points it is only fair. Prices have declined, prominent points averaging at the close $5.40 per 100 pounds, against $5.55 a week ago, $5.30 two weeks ago, $7.65 a year ago and $4.80 two years ago.

The provision market has continued its downward course in the early part of the past week. There were slight rallies, but the advances were followed by periods of liberal selling and the few supporting elements in the situation were not of sufficient force to support values. With stocks of product increasing, receipts of hogs last year, forcing values quiet, and domestic market also easily, the inclination of the trade was to take the selling side of the market. There is, however, a feeling in some quarters that prices have suffered decline and that the market will bear close watching, as a reaction seems due. The week has developed nothing new which would be likely to have an important bearing on the conditions. At the close a firm tone prevailed, as the market was reacting from the drop in prices which occurred earlier in the week. The export clearance of product were moderate, showing a slight increase as compared with the corresponding week last year.

The following shows the lowest, highest and closing prices of leading articles at Chicago for the week, for September indicated, and also the closing a week ago and a year ago:

	—September—

For current delivery, green hams are quoted selling at $9.87½@$10.00; green shoulders, $8.87½@$7.00 per 100 pounds. Corned hams, 16 pounds, $11.50@$12.00; shoulders, $7.50@$7.55—at Chicago.

GENERAL BUSINESS TOPICS.

CITRUS-FRUIT SHIPMENTS. Shipments of citrus fruits from Southern California on Wednesday were 19 cars of oranges and 4 of lemons. The total shipments for the season, from November 1, 1902, to date, are 21,282 carloads, of which number 2408 carloads are lemons.

BROOMCORN SCARCE. Eastern manufacturers are said to be planning further advances in the prices of brooms, owing to the short acreage of broomcorn and the marked increase in the market value of that article.

OLEO REVENUES DECREASE. The annual preliminary report of Commissioner of Internal Revenue Yerkes, which was recently submitted to the Secretary of the Treasury, shows a decrease in receipts from oleomargarine during the fiscal year 1903 of $2,207,709, the figures for 1903 being $736,783. Receipts from oleo artificially colored in imitation of butter decreased from $2,272,044, while the amount collected on oleo free from coloration was $271,227, a clear increase, as the latter product was not taxed until after the passage of the oleo law.

TEXAS IMMIGRATION. During the fiscal year just ended, 921,315 aliens arrived in this country, an increase of 200,000 over last year, and the largest number which has arrived in any year. The total number from Europe was 857,046, of which 206,011 came from Austria-Hungary, 230,622 from Italy, 135,866 from Russia and Finland, 46,028 from Sweden, 40,086 from Germany, 25,401 from Ireland, 26,219 from England and 11,461 from Norway. Japan sent 3,125, the West Indies 8170 and Asiatic Turkey 1118.

LOCAL PRODUCE MARKETS.

Little business was transacted in the local produce markets today (Thursday,) because it was "picnic day." By 10 o'clock in the morning most of the wholesale produce houses were closed for the day. Conditions and prices did not change in any particular from yesterday.

NEW YORK MARKETS.

SHARES AND MONEY.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—Wall street emerged today from its gloom which still clouded the situation during the early hours of the trading stocks, and an effective rally in prices was produced. The day closed with an animated buying movement in progress and with the prices on the active list from one to over three points above last night. During the period of early weakness there were numerous declines of from one to two points, breaking through previous low levels of the year. The early weakness was not usual, many stocks showing great resistance and reflect determined support by means of confident buying on the part of the market managers for stocks. There was acute weakness after the opening, which centered upon Missouri Pacific, Atchison and Baltimore and Ohio. This seemed to be a continuation of yesterday's liquidation, and the closing-out of collateral loans. The weak spots in the market, of which the above stocks were the most notable, kept the tone unsettled and nervous. The eagerness shown for the announcement, which was made in a conspicuous manner, that all sheets had safely passed the stock exchange clearinghouse and the evident relief after the announcement showed clearly that fears had been felt that further failures would result from the strained condition of affairs. After the clearinghouse sheets had gone through, there was a relaxation in the selling pressure and indications that liquidation of a more urgent character had spent its course. The stability of parts of the market which were supported by large banking interests arrested the rapid shrinkage in the values which aroused such acute uneasiness, yet the market gradually strengthened during the latter part of the day and became quite buoyant at the last. It may be considered as a matter of course that covering of short contracts by professional traders played an important part in the recovery, as this class of operators would not desist from putting out short sales as long as the decline in prices continued. The mere fact of the turn in the tide of the market also gave rise to a flood of rumors intended to explain the change in sentiment. The favorite rumor was that a coalition has been formed among the most powerful capitalists in the country to buy all stocks that were offered and to lend freely to the distressed interests in the market. This rumor presented so pleasing a prospect that everybody who gave credence to it was disposed to buy stocks to the extent of his ability. The professional traders short of the market were, of course, foremost in this eagerness. As a matter of fact, there is reason to believe that an exchange of views on the situation among important capitalists has disclosed an agreement of opinion as to the advisability of avoiding the further selling-out of collateral as far as possible. But the leaders in the stock market show considerable variation in the policy pursued in this matter, as was disclosed by the further closing-out of collateral this morning. There was little in the news of the day to account for the rally as there has been for the recent heavy decline. Liquidation in grain and cotton was supposed to be induced to some extent by the threatening situation in Wall street and the rise in the call loan rate to 4 per cent, this afternoon was said to be due in part to the cancellation of some loans in cotton. The movement in call money did not affect the late strength in stocks. The trade reports on iron and steel gave prominence to the difficulty of financing new undertakings on account of the money and securities market situation and stated cases of postponement of deliveries and even cancellation of orders. Passenger rate disturbances in the West and Northwest are said to be threatening. But the great relief felt that no further casualties occurred in the stock-exchange circle carried all other considerations before it and resulted in the violent rebound in prices. Speculative bonds made violent recoveries in sympathy with stocks. The general bond market was irregular. Total sales, $5,360,000. United States bonds were all unchanged on the last call.

New York Money Market.

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—Close: Money on call firmer at 2@4 per cent., closing 2@3½ per cent. Time money firm; 60 days, 4 per cent.; 90 days, 4½ per cent.; 6 months, 4½@4¾ per cent. Prime mercantile paper, 5@5½ per cent. Sterling exchange was steady at the decline, with actual business in bankers' bills at 4.83 9-20@4.83½ for demand and at 4.82@4.83 for sixty-day bills. Posted rates, 4.84@4.86½. Commercial bills, 4.82½@4.82¾. Bar silver, 54¾. Mexican dollars, 42¾. Government bonds weak; railroad bonds irregular.

GENERAL EASTERN MARKETS.

GRAIN AND PRODUCE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

CHICAGO, Aug. 6.—Wheat was rather quiet throughout the day; opening prices were weak on lower cables and more favorable weather in the Northwest, September being a shade to ⅝ to ½ lower, at 78@78¾. The market continued weak the first half of the session on an entire absence of news which could be construed as favorable to the bulls, but toward the noon hour there was fair buying by speculators and the price again recovered. One of the main causes for the advance was the good export demand at the seaboard. September sold up to 80¾, and closed at 80¼@80⅝, a net gain of ⅞ to ⅞. Trading in corn was comparatively slow, owing to a lack of selling pressure. The late strength in wheat helped corn prices, and the close was steady, with September unchanged at 53¼. Oats sympathized somewhat with the early weakness in wheat, but offerings were rather light and prices recovered without much effort. The close was firm, with September ⅛ higher, at 34¼. Provisions ruled weak with considerable selling by brokers, supposed to be acting for local packers. September pork closed 17½ lower, lard was off 2½ and ribs down 10@12½.

The leading futures closed as follows:

CAPITALIST C. R. LLOYD DIES AT YOKOHAMA.

NEPHEW BOXALL MAY NOW BE CHARGED WITH MURDER.

Never Recovered from Effects of Shooting Which Came Through Ugly and Complicated Family Row—Leaves Estate Estimated at Nearly a Million.

SAN BERNARDINO, Aug. 6.—Cablegrams announce the sudden death at Yokohama today of Charles R. Lloyd, the Berkeley capitalist, who was shot in this city by his nephew, William Boxall, January 31 last. Lloyd was a passenger from San Francisco on the steamer Korea the latter part of June, intending to make the round trip with Capt. Seabury, a personal friend, Mrs. Lloyd accompanying. The trip was taken at the direction of his physicians, who hoped that the voyage might help a weak heart, which never recovered from the effects of the shooting.

The causes behind the attempt to murder Lloyd have never been made public, but personal and family matters entered into the complications, in which his son, Fred Lloyd, his nephew and nieces were all participants. On one side there was the charge of conspiracy to blackmail the capitalist, while on the other that he had abused his niece, the sister of the nephew who did the shooting, and subsequently she swore to a complaint making a charge against him, and though the warrant was never served personally, friends at once appeared offering bail of $10,000, which was accepted.

The day of the shooting, Boxall went to Lloyd's residence in this city, and, after a meeting between the two, which was also attended by Miss Wilkinson, Lloyd's housekeeper, and lasting some time, Lloyd started to leave the house, and Boxall followed him into the street, firing three shots, all of which took effect. One grazed the backbone, and at first it was thought he could not recover. After life had been hanging in the balance for weeks, he improved enough to be able to be taken to his Berkeley home, but could not appear at the preliminary examination of Boxall, which has not been held, nor has the examination of Fred Lloyd, the son, who was arrested on charges of complicity and conspiracy. He and William Boxall are now supposed to be at Santa Monica, Boxall being out on $10,000 bail on the charge of assault to commit murder. It is stated that a new complaint will be issued at once, charging Boxall with murder.

Besides widow and son Fred, Lloyd left another son, who is a lieutenant in the army, stationed at a post in the East. Local representatives know of property that will foot up about $700,000, and they believe the estate will go close to $1,000,000.

The first cablegram came to Attorney W. S. Goodfellow of San Francisco, who holds nopwer of attorney for Lloyd, and was his personal representative. Nothing is stated as to whether the body will be brought back, but it is expected to come by the Korea, now due to sail.

GIRL'S HEAD NEARLY CRUSHED.

Miss Mary Criggs, a young girl employed at the San Bernardino Steam Laundry, had a narrow escape yesterday from a horrible death. She was saved from having her head crushed between cogwheels by the quick action of several other employés. Her hair caught in the cogs as she was bending over her machine, and before she could extricate herself she was swiftly drawn head first toward the wheels. Her screams brought several men to her assistance and they seized the big belt which operates the machine and by the strength of desperation were able to hold it until Miss Cripps's hair could be cut off. Her head was painfully bruised, and when released she fell in a faint, from which she was not aroused for some time. The men whose quick action saved her life all still feeling the affects of the terrible strain they experienced while holding the belt.

HERE AND THERE.

The resignation of C. N. Whittiker as steward of the asylum at Highland has been reported, business reasons being given as the cause of retirement. The Board of Managers will meet at the institution next Saturday.

Diphtheria has again broken out among the Mexicans employed by the Southern Pacific at Colton, and there is great alarm among the residents of the town, as it is realized that the quarantine was taken off too soon, and there is strong likelihood of the disease spreading. The matter has been referred to the county Supervisors, as the settlement is just outside the corporate limits of Colton.

SANTA ANA.

NEW COAST RESORT.

SANTA ANA, Aug. 5.—A party of Riverside capitalists has concluded negotiations for the purchase of a tract east of Newport Beach for the establishment of a new summer seaside resort. The land was bought in the name of W. W. Wilson, a Riverside real estate dealer, acting for R. F. A. Strange, W. W. Wilson and Joseph Fexton of Riverside, and Dr. George C. Clark of Fullerton. The property consists of forty acres on the beach front directly opposite the island upon which Tustin residents are establishing summer homes, and was purchased from C. Andre of this city. The new company proposes to incorporate for developing the resort.

MEDICOS CONVENE.

The Orange County Medical Association met Tuesday evening at the home of Dr. Herbert Johnson of Anaheim, who entertained his friends with a paper on "Modified Cow's Milk." A general discussion on the practical value of prepared infants' foods followed, the various staple articles on the market receiving attention. The next meeting will be held in the Santa Ana public library building, Dr. H. S. Gordon presenting the paper. Arrangements have been entered into with the directors for the establishment of a medical department in the library and also for a room in the basement of the building for the use of the organization, and all future meetings will be held there. The books for the medical library will be contributed largely by the members of the association from their private collections, the donation of the library of the late Dr. J. C. Crane by his widow, Mrs. Crane, forming the nucleus.

COUNTY EXHIBIT.

The Chamber of Commerce directorate last night reviewed the arrangement of the permanent exhibit on North Main street. Among the features planned is a miniature reproduction of the San Juan Capistrano mission done in plaster and colored to conform to the present appearance of the ruins. The Ebell Society is arranging for the reproduction, which will be done by Mr. Wagenheim of Capistrano. The local Native Sons' parlor will contribute a bear made of Santa Ana Valley walnuts. Exhibits will be made by the Buena Park Condensed Milk factory, by the Taylor Canning Company of this city, by the Olive Flour Mills, a miniature oil well and derrick by the Fullerton Chamber of Commerce, a representative exhibit from Anaheim and Orange, besides fruits, grains and other products from all over the county. The rooms will be opened to the public before the end of the month.

A new train service has been instituted for Newport Beach and Smeltzer, an extra morning train leaving Santa Ana at 7:40 and returning in the middle of the afternoon.

Henry Myers of Old Newport has raised over 500 tons of Texas red oat hay this season. Some of the oats threshed average ninety-seven pounds to the sack.

Miss Mabel Cory entertained her Sunday-school class at her home on Spurgeon street Tuesday afternoon.

A large crowd of former Iowa residents spent the day at Newport Beach today, holding their annual picnic. More than 150 attended the reunion.

SANTA MARIA.

ANOTHER OIL GUSHER.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

SANTA MARIA, Aug. 6.—The Union Oil Company's well on the Fox property south of town was opened, and proved a gusher similar to the Pinal Company's well, about half a mile away. On removing the cap the oil rushed over the casing and spurted to the top of the derrick like a geyser. The flow continued for some time, when it gradually diminished on account of sand choking the bottom of the casing. Drillers are removing the sand and sinking the casing. Another new home oil company has been organized, known as the Diamond, which proposes to develop the sixty acres adjoining the Union property. The property of John Houk in Garey will also be developed at once, having been placed in the hands of a syndicate headed by L. N. Crandall. The opinion prevails that this entire section overlies an immense body of oil, inasmuch as oil has been encountered in every deep well sunk from the ocean to Santa Maria.

FINE BEAN CROP.

One of the largest as well as the best bean crops ever grown in the valley is rapidly maturing. The prevailing cool weather and morning fogs have helped the crop out wonderfully during the blooming period and overcome the shortage of late rains, which in other parts of the State have materially shortened the prospects of a full crop. The acreage devoted to beans exceeds 20,000 and the growers expect to harvest about 300,000 sacks. The crop is composed principally of the small white and pinks, while several hundred acres are devoted to other varieties, such as the blackeye, the navy and pea bean. Aside from large shipments going East, large orders are filed for the government from this valley, the beans being shipped direct to the Philippines and the Orient in general.

Cripton Williams, a son of T. J. Williams, a well-known fruit grower of this valley, and William Edwards, a prominent mining man from Arizona, met with a serious accident while crossing the railroad track at Oceano. They were in a surrey, out for a drive, and their horses became frightened and threw them out, seriously wounding Mr. Williams about the body and face. Edwards, the other occupant, suffered a sprained ankle and minor bruises. The county's bee inspector, George Hinckley, reports that the honey output will not come up to one-third of what the crop should be in a good season. The reason given for the shortage is a cold wave.

The time of arrival and departure of trains on the Pacific Coast Railroad has been changed and in the future the fast mail and express will be the only train to run through from here to Los Olivos. The noon train is taken off.

VENTURA COUNTY.

BOMB IN LIQUOR CAMP.

VENTURA, Aug. 6.—A bomb has been quietly thrown into the liquor dealers' camp. This afternoon the Board of Supervisors passed a prohibitory liquor ordinance at the request of the Ventura County Anti-Saloon League. The ordinance covers all sections of the county except Santa Paula, Ventura and probably Oxnard, incorporated cities. There are saloons at Saticoy, Nordhoff, Hueneme and Fillmore. The passage of the ordinance comes as a complete surprise to the liquor men. The Anti-Saloon League leaders worked the question up very quietly. Supervisors Worring, Daily and Gabbert voted in favor, while Supervisor Hartman voted his regular no. Supervisor Dan Smith of the Ojai Valley refused to face the music and did not attend the meeting this afternoon. Smith pleaded road business in the Ojai as the cause of his absence. His non-attendance did not create any surprise.

YEARNS FOR AMERICA.

Famous Statue of Frederick the Great Stands Humiliated in Sculptor's Yard in Berlin.

[STAFF CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

BERLIN, July 20.—"Every time I look out of my window," said a bright Indiana girl last night, "I see, standing down in the next back yard to ours, the statue of Frederick the Great, which is to be set up in Washington as soon as people at home begin to feel a little more kindly disposed toward Germany. There Frederick stands, amid the flower beds and shrubs, in all sorts of weather, just as if he were an ordinary plaster cast intended merely for lawn decoration and not a statue of international significance."

Then this young lady went on to explain how the effigy of his celebrated ancestor, commissioned by William II as a present to the United States of America, comes to be in a "back yard," as she expresses it, underneath her window. She lives in the Pfalzburgherstrasse, just next door to Joseph Uphues, the Westphalian sculptor from whom the Kaiser commissioned the statue. The work was at the casting-rooms, ready to be sent to America, when the intimation came that it would be best to postpone its presentation for a while, and from the casting-room it was sent to Uphues's atelier. The sculptor, not knowing what else to do with it, had it set up in his "back yard," as the Indiana girl calls it.

"It's a bronze statue," the young lady went on, "about half again as large as life size, and shows Frederick the Great in court costume. I have watched him enduring quite a lot of rainstorms, and, as he isn't to be taken to the United States until next spring, I suppose he will have to brave the winter's snows as well. He stands facing the gateway, and looks as if he were eager to begin his long journey."

Joseph Uphues will go to the United States to attend the unveiling of his work, and afterward he and his wife will travel in America. Uphues is a connoisseur in German wines, and is planning to take several especially-choice vintages for presentation to President Roosevelt.

PORT ITEMS.

ALONG THE WATER FRONT.

WEATHER: Clear at 5 p.m.; wind southwest, velocity 10 miles.

The schooner Louise brought a cargo of 420,000 feet of lumber consigned to the Kerckhoff-Cuzner Company.

The steamers Coquille River and Sequoia sailed today with passengers for San Francisco. The steamer Pasadena and the schooner Lucy sailed for Eureka and Umpqua River, respectively, to reload lumber cargoes for this port.

The steamer Coos Bay is due to arrive here tomorrow from San Francisco with 400 tons of freight consigned to the Pacific Coast Steamship Company.

Changes of masters are reported as follows: Thomas Gunderson has succeeded John G. Walvig as master of the steamer Lakme; George H. Goddell has replaced S. W. Dye in command of the steamer Capt. Webber.

AT SAN FRANCISCO.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 6.—Arrived: Steamer Ramona, Newport; steamer Santa Rosa, San Diego; steamer Chehalis, San Pedro. Sailed: Steamer State of California, San Diego; steamer Samoa, San Pedro.

AMERICAN RIGHTS IN CUBA.

SANTIAGO (Cuba) Aug. 6.—Some engineers who were surveying a site for a terminal of the Cuba Eastern Railway on the United States naval reservation at Guantanamo Bay, were warned off by the American officers there, but refused to go. Admiral Coghlan thereupon notified the Cuban government and President Palma sent a revenue cutter, which forcibly ejected the trespassers. The railway, having acquired the land, claims heavy damages.

EVENTS IN SOCIETY.

Last Tuesday, at Detroit, Mich., Miss Marie H. Baby, a young society woman of Windsor, Mich., was married to Guy B. Barham of this city. The ceremony was performed at the rectory of St. Peters and St. Paul's Church by Rev. Father F. L. Weinman. None but the immediate relatives and friends were present.

Mr. and Mrs. Barham left Wednesday evening for the watering places of the Atlantic Coast, and will come from there to Los Angeles, where they will make their home.

Surprise Party.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Calvert gave a pleasant surprise Wednesday evening to their daughter, Miss Lela Calvert, and Miss Mable Kurth, the occasion being their return from San Diego.

The earlier part of the evening was spent in musical pastimes, songs, and music by a string orchestra being given. Games and dancing filled out the rest of the evening, and refreshments were served at 12 o'clock. The rooms were beautifully decorated, green and yellow being the prevailing tint.

Mrs. Stella Hawes, Mrs. Judge Kurth, Misses Simpson, Pfirman, Marshall, Ross, Shafer, Long, Berten, Booth, Perry, Fawkes and Rollins, and Messrs. Booth, McIntyre, White, Wilhite, Misner, Hastens, Read, Ramle, Dryden, Hautry, Rollins, Calvert and Tibbet.

Notes and Personals.

Mrs. W. C. Hasson, Miss Ida Hasson and the Misses Evangeline and Frances Cope have returned from Catalina.

Mr. and Mrs. G. T. Hanley left yesterday for a few days' outing at Catalina.

Dr. F. S. Barnard, wife and daughter will rusticate at the San Ysidro ranch near Santa Barbara for the next few weeks.

Mrs. F. E. Pitcher and the Misses Helen and Anita Pitcher, with Miss Myrtle Taylor, are located at Canvas City, Catalina, for a month.

Rev. J. A. Frost, now of Minneapolis, but formerly pastor of the Orchard-avenue Baptist Church of this city, is spending part of his vacation in Los Angeles. He will preach from his old pulpit Sunday morning.

CROOKS HAVE CODES.

The Outcasts Have a Way of Their Own When in Trouble—How They Overcome Their Difficulties.

[Philadelphia Ledger:] So elaborate and ingenious as to appear almost incredible are the methods by which professional criminals communicate with their accomplices. Nobody knows better than the rogues themselves that by sending their messages through the ordinary channels they place both their liberty and their plans in jeopardy. But it is so important that they communicate with each other swiftly and secretly, to elaborate some scheme of rascality or to give warning of danger from the authorities, that the clever criminals set up peculiar postoffices that are distinctly their own.

The United States Secret Service agents and the United States postal inspectors run across a large number of varied systems of this kind. From the stories they tell of "postoffices" they have discovered, it appears, that nothing is too audacious for men playing a game loss of which means for them a term of stripes behind the bars.

"Out in Iowa a few months ago," said a Secret Service man who was transferred recently to an Eastern station, "myself and four of my associates were detailed on a baffling case of counterfeiting. The State had been flooded with spurious coins and some less cleverly-made bank notes, and later it appeared that the same stuff was going into all parts of the country. We couldn't locate the plant, and it was evident that the work of manufacture and distribution was being directed by a master mind that was wise enough never to go near the plant.

"There was a suspicious newcomer in a small town on the Mississippi River, who attracted our attention. He was a man of some education and very reserved. He lived in fine style in one of the best houses in the place. We watched him for nearly a month. There was nothing to give any force to our suspicion, but we kept him under eye. He never got a letter at the town postoffice that he was not willing that anyone should see. In fact, he very frequently read them on his way home, and then threw them carelessly into the street. They were innocent appearing notes, all of them, containing not a clue.

"Every morning at about 7 o'clock a young milkman went to the man's house and left a quart tin of milk. The milkman was a newcomer, too. He had arrived about a week before the other fellow, and had bought out a small dairy with money which he said he had left him by his father. A stout cook at the fine stranger's kitchen always took the can of milk and handed the young milkman the can that had been left the day previous.

"These cans, as we learned afterward, had false bottoms in which letters were placed—letters to and from the fine-appearing newcomer. The letters were from the men who were operating the plant (which we subsequently uncovered in a town eighty miles away,) and from agents in various cities who were 'shoving the queer.' The answers were the master mind's instructions. The milkman and the cook were faithful accomplices. The milkman had been set up in business there for the sole purpose of delivering the correspondence that directed the whole works."

The operator of the notorious get-rich-quick concern eluded the police when a raid was made recently upon his establishment upon complaints of a score or more of persons in several States that they had lost many thousands and dollars. He secreted himself under certain plain disguises in a tenement house in a street in New York, not more than a dozen blocks from police headquarters. Several postoffice inspecors and central office detectives were searching for him. The fugitive had a ntumber of friends who wanted to prevent his capture, one of their reasons being that his trial would bring out their names and show their complicity in the unlawful scheme they had worked.

The men, however, were known to the police, and it was impossible for them to communicate with the man in hiding—who may be called Logan. Much more was it out of the question for them to visit him. But they agreed to keep a watch on developments in official circles and to serve Logan in whatever way they could. Within a week danger was lurking near for the fugitive, and one of the watching gang learned of it. He sent a servant to the telegraph office with this message to a friend in Chicago:

"Your Aunt Helen died today."

Assuming a great deal of effort, the cipher went to a telegraph office and wrote this message, addressed to a clothier in th vicinity of Houston street and the Bowery:

"Deliver at once to Henry Prescott (Logan's alias) at — Elizabeth street, six pairs plain black sox."

With this the Chicago man sent a telegraphic money order for an amount sufficient to cover the cost of the articles ordered.

The socks were delivered to Logan that day. When night came he disappeared from — Elizabeth street. The Chicago man had told the fugitive when and in what direction to go—the firm chosen, the article, their number and color all being a part of a clever code which the hunted man understood.

STREET SUPERINTENDENT HIT IN PASADENA.

INFURIATED VIOLATOR OF LAW MAKES ATTACK.

J. W. Ritzman Offends Court and Says He Won't Pay Fine—Corner-stone of Hundred-thousand-dollar High School to Be Laid Today.

PASADENA, Office of The Times, No. 24 South Raymond avenue, Aug. 7.—J. W. Ritzman gave Street Superintendent Brown a beating in the upper corridor of the City Hall last night just after a decision had been rendered by Judge Congdon against Ritzman for violation of an ordinance. It was only the intervention of the Chief of Police and other officers which prevented what probably would have been a fight to a finish and C. C. Brown was no sooner released from the bulldog grip of the infuriated man than he swore to a complaint charging Ritzman with assault and the defendant was allowed to go on $100 bonds. Ritzman will have his arraignment before Judge Congdon Wednesday at 3 p.m.

Ritzman had been charged by Brown with the violation of ordinance No. 60, relative to the excavation of streets without a permit, and Ritzman had asked the judge for an informal hearing, which was given him last night, no jury being summoned on the case. The ordinance requires a permit from the Street Superintendent for the tearing up of streets and prohibits the displacement of the gutter and the curb unless special permission is given for the job. Evidence introduced by Brown, Doolittle and Alfred Ninde tended to show that Ritzman, instead of tunneling under the gutter and curb in front of his property on the corner of Fair Oaks and Pico street, had torn the same away to run a pipe line into its place. Brown asserted that he had asked Ritzman of such a violation before and that in his capacity as Street Superintendent he simply wished the law to be lived up to by all parties alike. In the controversy Brown found occasion to refer to some work of the Pasadena Electric where it had been necessary for him to demand that concrete curbs be used for the street instead of asphalt base, and Ritzman broke in with "The electric railroad does about as it damn pleases with you." Judge Congdon reprimanded Ritzman for his language and hot words ensued, Ritzman narrowly escaping being charged with contempt of court. The judge fined Ritzman for his violation of the law the small sum of $3 and yet Ritzman thought that it was worth fighting about and hardly waited for Brown to get outside of the courtroom before striking him in the face.

Ritzman did not pay the fine, and asserts that he will appeal the case, which calls to mind his last appeal. Frank Burnham had offered $10 reward for the return of a lost horse. Ritzman found the animal out near Compton and had to pay $2 for the feed of the horse to the man who had been feeding it. Ritzman was given his $10 and then demanded $3 more, which was refused. He went to court, appealed the case, and it cost him $1000 by the time he got the final decision. It is said that he will look like 30 cents to what he will have to pay before he gets through with this appeal.

BOARD OF EDUCATION.

The school board held a long and busy session at the Wilson Grammar School yesterday afternoon and waded through a large amount of business. Elements of the five sets of plans submitted for the new grammar school were all had to a final decision, but an informal vote favored those of Stone & Smith of San Francisco and undoubtedly this will be the final decision of the board. Stone & Smith were the lowest bidders for the $74,000 plum for the new High School. The Stone & Smith plans for the grammar school call for a brick structure finished in the old mission style and when situated among the oak trees in the southeast section of the city will be in every way suited to the environment.

Prof. Eva Stewart was chosen by the board as principal of the Lincoln school to fill the vacancy made by the resignation of Mr. Chandler, who accepted a position in San Diego. Mr. Schilling had been elected to this position, but informed the board that he could do better elsewhere. The new principal, Mr. Stewart, comes from Hynes, where he has been living for the past three years. He is a graduate of the Tennessee Normal School at Nashville, his former home, and comes with high recommendations. Being about six feet two in his stockings, and of fine physique, he will be undoubtedly able to handle the boys alright.

Mr. French, who was to have been made principal at Columbia school, accepted a position in Los Angeles, and Mr. W. Boden, a graduate of the Los Angeles Normal, was chosen in his place. Mr. Boden has been teaching at Duarte, eKrn county, the past three years, and is a young man of high standing.

Plans for the location of the new grammar school were submitted as follows and referred to a committee composed of D. W. Lewis, C. M. Parker, and Mrs. Reynolds [illegible]; Robert Strong, 237x on Moline avenue, north of Center [illegible]; F. A. Marston, running from Moline and Franklin, south of [illegible], $5000, west half, $5000. half, $4000; Sarah A. Gardiner, 56x on Madison avenue, south of Calif[illegible]; J. H. Woodworth & Son, corner of Lake and Hudson, 254x396, [illegible] with house, which is on the property, $8300; E. H. Strafford Com[illegible], 440x289, on Lake avenue, near Mar, $7500. Also, five-acre tract on Lake on San Pasqual, $7500.

C. M. Parker of the board objected before the board to making these plans public, which calls to mind the [illegible]-lantern sessions held in the office of J. Willett in connection with the [illegible] contract.

Bids for the chemical and laboratory [illegible] were received from C. H. Jones and F. W. Braun, and for the general supplies, Le Roy Leonard and Glascock were the bidders. They were referred for report. The Finance Committee reported current bills to the amount of $376.87, which were ordered paid.

This morning the board will visit the property offered for the school [illegible] and report at the next regular meeting which is to be held Monday evening at 9:30.

GALA DAY.

There will be a gala day in the history of Pasadena educational development, the event being the laying of the corner-stone of the new $100,000 High School under Masonic auspices, Orrin S. Henderson, Worshipful Master of the Masons of the State of California being in charge. The exercises will take place at 2:30 p.m.

The order of the procession will be as follows: Police; Fidelia Concert Band of Los Angeles; Knights Templar escorts; Masonic Quartette, W. B. Edwards, leader; Grand Tyler, Robert Eason; Grand Senior Steward, O. O. Freeman; Grand Junior Steward, J. R. Slater; Junior Wardens of Lodges; Senior Wardens of lodges; Past Masters of lodges; Grand Standard Bearer, Walter L. Wotkyns; Grand Pursuivant, W. B. Clapp; Grand Organist W. J. Edwards; three Masons bearing vessels of corn, wine and oil; Grand Orator Edward H. Hart of Berkeley; Grand Chaplain, Rev. Isaac Jewell, D. D.; Principal Architect, L. S. Stone; Grand Lecturer, Phil S. Thompson of Los Angeles; Grand Secretary, W. K. Gaylord, Grand Treasurer, C. J. Willeitt; Grand Bible Bearer, Gideon S. Case; five brethren bearing the five orders of architecture; Past Grand Masters, Dr. H. S. Orme and Dr. L. W. Frary; two Masters of Lodges; Junior Grand Warden, M. H. Flint of Los Angeles; Senior Grand Warden J. P. Greeley of Santa Ana; Master of Pasadena Lodge, No. 272, R. L. Taylor; Deputy Grand Master James A. Foshay of Los Angeles; Master of Corona Lodge, No. 324, W. H. Roberts.

Junior Grand Deacon E. H. May; Senior Grand Deacon Samuel Prager, accompanying the Most Worshipful Orrin S. Henderson, Grand Master of Masons of California; Grand Sword-bearer C. W. Buchanan.

The procession will be in charge of Henry Ramel as grand marshal.

At the school the exercises will consist of solemn music by the band, followed by prayer by the Grand Chaplain; an address by the Hon. Delos Arnold, representing the Board of Education; an address by Benjamin E. Page of the alumni, presenting the stone to the Masons for their exercises; after which will follow the regular Masonic exercises of laying the corner-stone, including selections by the quartette and band. The Grand Orator, Edward H. Hart, will deliver the oration.

RUNAWAY ACCIDENT.

A broken harness caused a buggy containing Mrs. Pearson and her twelve-year-old son to run against the haunches of a fractious horse and the resentment of the animal was so violent that the front of the rig was almost demolished by his vigorous kicks, and the occupants were dumped into the road. The accident occurred on North Pasadena avenue. Mrs. Pearson's right arm was broken above the wrist, and she sustained several severe bruises about the head. Her son struck on his head and was unconscious when picked up, and suffered from concussion of the brain. The patients were rapidly driven to the home in the rear of the former home of Prof. Lowe on Orange Grove avenue and Dr. Fordyce Grinnell tended to the cases. Both were reported as well as could be expected last night, although th shock to Mrs. Pearson has proved very severe.

LESSER JOTTINGS.

Four Mexicans were caught by Constable Harley Newell playing "Monte," the favorite gambling game of the peaked-hat peons who work for the Pacific Electric and who are camped on California street. Three were fined $5 each and the fourth had to dig up $10 for running the game.

The slim-pursed boarders of Marino Casares, five Mexicans, who refused to pay for lodging and board which they had been given and turned their host out of his house, were fined $5 each for disturbing the peace.

The funeral of Rev. R. T. Baldwin, who died yesterday at 8 a.m., will be held at the residence, No. 289 Illinois street, at 11 o'clock today and will be conducted by Rev. Dr. Lamport, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal Church. The body will be cremated. He was a retired clergyman and had been a resident of Pasadena seven years.

Joseph Chamberlain of No. 125 North Johnson street, Los Angeles has purchased the Fletcher place on East Washington, and expects to make Pasadena his home.

Dr. Maria Congdon returned yesterday from a four months' visit in New York City, accompanied by her sister, Mrs. M. E. Zimmerman. She expects to resume her practice about August 15.

Secret of His Success.

The Hon. M. E. Ingalls of Cincinnati, the president of the Big Four Railroad, who will deliver an address in Portland on "Old Home Days," is a Maine man, and whenever he comes to his native State always spends a good portion of his time at Harrison, where he began the practice of law. He tells the following very good anecdote on himself:

"One evening when I was at Harrison on a vacation I had gone down to the village store and joined the circle of loafers that had gathered to talk over the public and private events of the nation, State, town, and village. One old fellow, whom I formerly knew well, when there came a lull in the conversation, leaned over and said that he wanted to ask me a question. "'I want to know,' said he, 'if it is true that you get a salary of $10,000 a year?'

"I admitted that I did make as much as that in twelve months.

"'Well,' said he, 'it is remarkable what cheek and brass will do.'"—[New York Tribune.

GROCERS AND CLERKS PICNIC AT LONG BEACH.

SEASIDE SHORE THRONGED BY THE VISITORS.

Second Annual Outing of Los Angeles Retail Association of Dealers in Edibles and Things That go With Them. Building Crop.

LONG BEACH, Aug. 6.—The Los Angeles housewife who tried to telephone to her grocer a mile distant for the immediate delivery of only a yeast cake, got a frigid "doesn't reply" answer from "central" today. The grocers and their clerks were enjoying a breathing spell at the seashore while improvident householders borrowed tea and flour from the neighbors, and addressed imprecations at the fate which permitted the grocers to close their establishments for a whole day.

It was the second annual picnic of the Los Angeles Retail Grocers' Association. It was reported tonight that over 3000 tickets for transportation between Los Angeles and Long Beach had been sold on account of the picnic.

Mingled in the throng were the dealers in soaps, and jams, clerks, wives, cashiers, sweethearts, children, drummers and deliverymen. There were no formal exercises in the way of speech-making, but an elaborate programme of games and athletic contests was presented. Dancing was enjoyed at the pavilion in the afternoon.

Following is a list of the prize events and the winners:

Baseball game—Grocery Clerks vs. Drummers. Grocery clerks won by a score of 6 to 3.

Boys' race, under 10 years: Harry Hansler of Pomona, first, Charley Davis of Long Beach second.

Young ladies' race: Miss Cora Myers of Burbank first, Miss Mabel Pettingill of Los Angeles second.

High-kicking contest: Won by J. E. Trusler of Los Angeles.

Married ladies' lemon-throwing contest: Mrs. L. A. Turner of Los Angeles.

Deliveryman's race: R. J. Adair of Los Angeles first, J. Defty of Los Angeles second.

Girl's race, under 15 years: Miss Hazel Pettingill of Los Angeles first, Miss Paula Matthau of Los Angeles second.

City salesmen's race: J. Defty of Los Angeles first, R. J. Adair of Los Angeles second.

Grocers' running broad jump: G. M. Duncan of Los Angeles first, F. Baker of El Monte second, E. W. Grannis of Los Angeles third.

Bowling contest—Commission men vs. drummers: Won by drummers.

Fat man's race: W. E. Badham of Los Angeles first, D. R. Briggs of Los Angeles second.

SEASIDE BUILDING CROP.

There is a considerable activity in building at Seaside Park, the new beach resort recently graded and prepared for settlement west of Asbury. There are ten cottages in course of construction, and lumber is on the ground for the commencement of about as many more. The cottages will apparently cost $1500 each and up.

BEACH SHORT ITEMS.

Mrs. A. J. Fry of Pomona is spending a few days with her sister, Mrs. George A. Carter, at the Pomona on Second street.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Baynham of Lordsburg are staying at the Pomona.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles de Groff of El Paso, Tex., are staying at the Riviera.

A young man named Stiles of Santa Ana fell from a springboard in the plunge this morning and struck his head so as to cut a gash requiring several stitches. He was attended by Dr. Harvey.

COVINA.

HANDSOME HOME PLANNED.

COVINA, Aug. 6.—Now that Covina is assured of electric railway service to Los Angeles, W. G. Kerckhoff, president of the Pacific Light and Power Company, is planning to build a handsome home on his orange grove south of the town, which he proposes to occupy with his family several months each year. A force of surveyors was here yesterday and today staking a broad, winding driveway through the property from Workman street to the ranch buildings. A landscape gardener will at once lay out the grounds and plant each side of the driveway with shade trees and ornamental shrubbery. Upon Mr. Kerckhoff's return from Europe next year he will let the contract for one of the handsomest homes in the San Gabriel Valley on the pretty site on the hillside now occupied by the ranch house and outbuildings, all of which will be removed.

ORANGE MEETINGS.

The Covina Valley Association held its annual meeting Tuesday afternoon in the offices of the Covina Fruit Exchange. Some difficulty was experienced in securing a quorum, but after an hour's rustling sufficient proxies were secured for the transaction of business. Otis Witham was elected president; W. H. Overholtzer, vice-president; H. E. Chesebro, secretary; First National Bank, treasurer; Stephen Green, Sampel Fesler, J. J. Brubaker, P. W. DeLancy, Horace Snodgrass, Jacob Brunjes, J. B. Adair. The total output for the season was 53,749 boxes of oranges. Entire satisfaction was expressed by the members at the way affairs had been conducted the past year, and it was recommended that the same methods be pursued the coming season.

At the adjourned annual meeting of the Covina Fruit Exchange held this morning, a full membership was present. The reports show the total output of the local exchange for the past season to have been 183,670 boxes of oranges, or about 50 per cent. of the total shipments from this point.

Col. F. M. Chapman sold a bunch of 300 cattle off his Hollenbeck stock ranch to Madison, Kendall and Martin. The cattle will be taken to Los Alamitos to be fattened at the sugar factory.

POMONA.

OFF FOR THE CAMP.

POMONA, Aug. 6.—About sixty members of Co. D left early this morning, marching to North Pomona, where they took the train for San Diego to go into camp with the Seventh Regiment at Coronado. Capt. W. W. Midgley was in command. Rev. C. D. Williamson of this city, recently appointed chaplain of the Seventh, will hold service at the camp Sunday forenoon.

THUS AND SO.

G. W. Knesthardt and D. R. Kelsey have contributed fine specimens of Burbank and Satsuma plums to the Board of Trade, to be sent to the St. Louis Exposition.

Raymond M. Davis is building a house on East Pasadena street.

The Pomona Fruit Growers' Association has finished drying 200 green tons of apricots, and J. J. White has dried 135 tons for Loud & Gerling.

Miss Julia Steffa has returned from a vacation spent at Glenn Ranch.

H. W. Beale sold his ranch south of the city and will soon return to Philadelphia.

J. M. Brest has bought two lots on Kingsley avenue, and will build houses upon them.

George B. Jess and A. B. Ross went to Catalina today.

Mrs. M. Dodge of San Francisco was the guest of her brother, C. E. Walfe, today.

"To be or not to be" may very properly be called a question, but advertising in the Los Angeles Times is no question; results are sure. Telephone your wants to Black 1111, and our Pomona agency will take your ad. and send it to the main office.

SANTA CATALINA ISLAND.

BREVITIES AND PERSONALS.

AVALON, Aug. 6.—The Catalina Card Club gave a farewell party to Mrs. John Bloeser on the eve of her starting on an extended trip in the North. The large tent at Sumner and Seventh streets was procured for the occasion, and it was beautifully decorated with potted palms and pepper boughs, and illuminated with electric lights and Japanese lanterns. The club colors of black and yellow occupied a prominent position with the initials "C.C.C." There were present Mmes. Bloeser, McCaffrey, Waddington, Walter Stewart, Vigus, Edwards, Dunsmore, Filmore, Gavigan, Prentiss, Stockwell, Hudson, Pryor, Bradford, Allen and Irving. There were also present as the guests of the club Mrs. C. Cline, Young, Mrs. Gilmore, Mrs. W. J. Savage, Mrs. Dr. Buell, Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Cook. Fishbeck catered and several young ladies assisted in serving.

E. R. Threlkeld, a Los Angeles real estate man, has as his guests a party of ladies composed of Mrs. J. C. Brinton, Miss M. P. O'Brien, Miss Nellie McCrery, Miss L. F. Hyde, and Miss Birdie Meehael of Los Angeles for a week at Hotel Windsor.

Miss F. Gogue, Miss R. Barling and Miss Hazel Fox of Bakersfield are at the Windsor for a fortnight's vacation.

George H. Monroe of Fresno, with the lunch Aileen, Percy Neil boatman, captured a 390-pound jewfish this morning in one hour and ten minutes, the largest fish of the kind landed this season.

J. A. Martin, a business man of Phoenix, Ariz., came over yesterday to remain a few weeks. He is at the Windsor.

The Savages, at their wigwam on Sumner avenue, entertained yesterday afternoon with a dainty four-course luncheon in honor of Mrs. W. P. Dunham's guest, Mrs. W. C. Truman of Florence, Ariz. The favors were paperweights from Pebbly Beach with Catalina scenes painted by the hostess. There were covers for six. Mmes. Dunham, Truman, New and Backus were the other guests.

The yacht Loma of San Diego came in this morning and will spend a day or so here before leaving for a cruise farther up the channel. There are on board James G. Scripps, captain; J. P. Scripps, first mate; W. A. Shipprell, J. P. Hamilton, P. Derenbaker, J. Tuslie, all of the Miramar Rancho, and M. Balthaser, Chicago.

A yachting party was out on the Rosie with Capt. Hugo last evening. Included were Misses Jean Mead, Katherine Luhn, Clara Heidenreich, Lila Titus, Earl Gill, Fred Ross, Will Maxwell and Luther Savage.

Miss Hazel L. Miller and G. E. Gordon and wife of Los Angeles are at the Island Villa.

Mrs. Thomas McCaffrey and daughter, Miss Gertrude, who are in the cottage on Sumner avenue for the season, are entertaining Miss Anne Walker of Los Angeles, who will spend a fortnight here.

J. L. Campbell and wife of St. Louis and W. O. Stevens of San Gabriel are among those registered at the Island Villa.

Mrs. H. T. Snowden of Los Angeles is at the Glenmore.

Mrs. C. E. Alexander and William Alexander of Los Angeles and Miss Annie M. Lyons of Pittsburgh are among the guests at the Glenmore.

A. B. Dodge of Los Angeles is taking in the beauties of Catalina.

Dr. Frank Garcelon and family and Fred Lewis of Pomona are occupying the doctor's handsome new cottage on Sumner avenue.

Mrs. Charles Loop and two daughters are having their annual outing here.

F. P. Jones, wife and daughter, Miss Hortense Jones of Los Angeles are domiciled for a month in Camp Bonnie Blue. They have as guests Miss Ella McCarthy of St. Louis and Miss Mildred Risdon of Los Angeles.

Mrs. K. M. Duncan and Miss Helen Weingarth, who have been at the Metropole for ten days, left for home yesterday.

Thomas Fox, with the Southern Pacific at Los Angeles, spent a few days here the first of the week.

CLAREMONT.

TALE OF GOLD.

CLAREMONT, Aug. 6.—In Coble's Cañon, directly north of here is a man who believes he has struck gold and struck it rich in the rock just back of his cabin. His first discovery was made several days ago; since that time, mining enthusiasts from all parts of the valley have visited the spot. The man who owns the place is Wesley Coble, for whom the cañon was named, and who has long been searching for treasures on his claim. He has sent a specimen to Prof. George G. Hitchcock of Pomona College for analysis; also to mining experts in Los Angeles. Coble has sent for D. C. Layne of Los Angeles to come out this week and investigate thoroughly the value of the ore.

Several years ago Coble interested Pomona capitalists in a paint mine, which is also located on his claim. When the Pomona men arrived, the owner asked them a cool $50,000 for the claim, whereat they drove away. That was the last speculation attempted.

COLLEGE BREVITIES.

Robert D. Williams, president of the class of 1903, has started for Berkeley, where he will enter upon an extended course of postgraduate study; science will be his major study.

Prof. Bennett, head of the Latin department of Cornell University, and well known as the author of Bennett's Latin Grammar, has just gone East after a brief visit with his brother-in-law, Prof. George G. Hitchcock.

Prof. E. C. Norton, dean of the college faculty, starts next week for a visit of several weeks in San Francisco and vicinity.

George F. Ferris and two children left the East today after a visit of two months. Mr. Ferris is manager of the Claremont Citrus Union.

SAN DIEGO AUTOISTS DON'T OWN THE ROADS.

SUPERVISORS TAKE STEPS THAT WILL STOP THEM.

Seventh Regiment, Six Hundred Strong, Goes to Camp—Sneaking Attempt by Striking Union Linemen to Start Telephone Boycott Fails.

(SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.)

SAN DIEGO, Aug. 6.—The county officials are after the automobilists, who have been gradually assuming of late a sort of proprietorship over the streets and highways of this section. The Board of Supervisors yesterday passed an ordinance compelling automobiles to come to a full stop at the right of a road, when meeting any vehicle, animal or animals, and to remain stationary until such animals or vehicle shall have passed. If such meeting occur on a hillside or steep grade, the automobile shall take the outside, whether it may be the right or left of grade. A fine of from $25 to $100 is imposed for any violation of the new ordinance. Today the board repealed that ordinance and passed a new one, almost similar, which regulates the speed of such vehicles; that it be "proper and reasonable," and such as not to endanger life or property, and includes the words "all domestic animals" in the specifications regarding stopping. Furthermore, a penalty of from fifteen to thirty days in jail is included as an alternative to the fine.

SEVENTH GOES TO CAMP.

The special train of ten coaches and baggage-car bringing the members of the Seventh Regiment to encampment drew into the station an hour late this afternoon. A large crowd had gathered to witness the arrival, and hearty cheers were given as the boys descended, 600 strong, from the train. Led by Col. Berry and his staff, with the full regimental band of sixteen pieces at the head of the column, the regiment marched through the principal business streets to the ferry, and to the camp at Coronado. The advance guard, which arrived two days since, has been hard at work, preparing the grounds and pitching tents for the accommodation of the main body. The members of Co. M of Riverside have arranged to present to their commanding officer, Capt. H. E. Mitchell, an elegant sword, as a testimonial of esteem.

ATTEMPTED BOYCOTT.

The long-continued strike of the linemen of the telephone company in this city has several times threatened to assume the nature of a boycott, but so far the public has taken little interest in the matter and has suffered no inconvenience. Last night another sneaking attempt to inaugurate a boycott was made by slipping circular letters under the doors of business houses and residences throughout the city. The circular, if signed and sent to the telephone company, would be an order for the removal of telephones used by those signing it. Manager Lewis of the company when asked whether he had received any of the documents, this afternoon said none had reached him and that he had heard no complaints from patrons. The circular letters were anonymous, of course, and were distributed by thousands.

BAY CITY JOTTINGS.

The quarantine launch Alert, in command of Mr. Moody, of the United States Engineering Company of San Francisco, with an engineer and a pilot, arrived last evening, having made the run from San Pedro under her own steam. She left San Francisco Sunday morning last; in tow of the schooner Centralia, which was bound for San Pedro with a cargo of lumber. She was built for the use of Dr. McKay, the quarantine officer at this port.

The British bark Vanduara began discharging her cargo of 13,000 barrels of cement for Spreckels Brothers today.

The threatened strike of the plumbers has been called off until charges can be formulated and presented to the Board of Health against Inspector Walker. The plumbers had demanded Walker's dismissal, but failed to prefer charges in a satisfactory manner, and the board declined to take any action in the matter. Now the plumbers have employed an attorney. They say if Walker be not dismissed a strike will occur.

Orders have been received from headquarters that hereafter both companies of artillery stationed here shall be located at Fort Rosecrans. The orders are to be carried out immediately, and as the new buildings are not yet in readiness at the point for their reception, tents will have to be utilized until permanent quarters are established. Work on the new buildings is rushed, but it will be some time before they are ready for occupancy.

The Humane Society has sworn out a writ of habeas corpus for the production in court of seven-year-old Clyde Naughton, who, it is claimed, is confined in a dark room by John G. and Fannie Renshaw, who, the society claims, are not the child's parents. The Renshaws declare they will fight the case to a finish, and it promises to be interesting, when the writ is returned.

THE LOWE SPECIAL MAKING A RECORD.

REPORTED AT ALBUQUERQUE AS BEATING SCHEDULE.

Mrs. Lowe Still Prostrated With Grief at Her Westminster Apartments—Arrangements for the Funeral of the Child Deferred Until Mr. Lowe's Arrival.

The Santa Fé special train, bearing Henry P. Lowe on a record-breaking journey from New York to Los Angeles, that he might reach the deathbed of his little daughter, passed Albuquerque, N. M., at 5:46 o'clock last evening, and was due at Seligman at 4 o'clock this morning. If this speed is maintained the world's record will be considerably reduced, the train at last reports being six hours ahead of all previous records.

Since leaving La Junta, Colo., at 9:10 o'clock yesterday morning, there has been a continual gain upon the schedule. Up to the last-named hour the news of the child's death had not been received. A little later, when her death was known, messages were hurried ahead of the special, but the railroad companys' wires were down west of La Junta, and it was impossible to get word through up to 11 a.m.

Mrs. Lowe is in a prostrated condition at her Westminster apartments, refusing herself to all callers, wearily counting the hours that so slowly pass as she awaits the coming of her husband to share her grief. Until his arrival no arrangements will be made for the disposition of little Mary's remains. To shorten the lengthening hours of Mrs. Lowe's lonely vigil the Santa Fé officials are doing all in their power to speed Mr. Lowe's train to its destination. Orders have been issued to give it the right-of-way, and, if possible, beat the record of the famous Peacock special, which made the distance between Los Angeles and Chicago, 2265 miles, in 57 hours and 56 minutes. That was in March, 1900, when C. R. Peacock, a director of the United States Steel Corporation, was traveling to Pittsburgh to attend a meeting of the directorate.

The schedule time for the Lowe special is sixty-one hours.

"The fastest time ever made by a Santa Fé train in California," said Chief Clerk Held in the general passenger agent's office yesterday, "was last September, when a special was run for a San Francisco newspaper from Fresno to Point Richmond, 194 miles, in 204 minutes. On this occasion from Fresno to Merced, this train ran 58 miles in 58 minutes, and from Merced to Stockton, 65 miles in 64 minutes."

MISS HALLOWAY OF CHICAGO.

BY MARY WOOD.

SHE was so decidedly petite that even when she drew her figure to its greatest height the assumption of dignity was laughable. But her eyes sparkled dangerously as she faced the bellboy.

The bellboy was impressed He eyed the door as if meditating escape before she proceeded to stronger methods.

"Now, see here," she exclaimed, belligerently, "this is the third note I have whitten to the office, and I want a reply this time."

"If you would go down to the desk," the bellboy insinuated apologetically, "Mr Parker—"

"No, I will not go down to the desk," Miss Halloway interrupted decidedly. "That head clerk Parker, or whatever name he answers to, shall come up here or I will know the reason why."

The bellboy departed promptly. "And by the way," she called after him, "just hustle along some telegraph blanks on your way back. I have a few things to say to my father and some of his friends concerning the lack of accommodations at the Great Eastern."

"Oh, Belle, Belle," wailed Mrs. Halloway, whose ample form had collapsed in one corner of a red plush sofa, "how can you make such a disturbance. Now, if your father was only here—but the two of us alone, without a protector!" and she rolled her eyes distractedly.

"Protector, fiddlesticks!" said the energetic Miss Halloway. "Have you no spirit, mother?" She began to pace the floor excitedly. "Would you be treated as a nobody—you, the wife of Thomas P. Halloway! Consider your position."

Mrs. Halloway doubtless considered her position—she was absolutely at the mercy of her daughter's scathing tongue. Therefore she maintained a discreet silence.

"They must be taught the deference due to us, the Halloways, of Chicago," said the girl. She was very young and possessed of the follies as well as the graces of youth.

The bellboy now reappeared, holding out a handful of yellow blanks like a yellow flag of truce. "Mr. Parker," he averred, "he says—he's coming."

Miss Halloway seized upon the blanks and flung herself into a chair beside the writing table. "There will probably be ample time to get off the telegrams before he comes. Things don't quickstep at the Great Eastern."

"But, Belle," Mrs. Halloway protested, after the bellboy had closed the door in reverential fashion, "had you not better slip on another waist? Mr. Parker—"

"Mr. Parker," her daughter interrupted superciliously, "is a hotel clerk, a servant. This dressing sack is good enough for him."

She dashed off a telegram and read it aloud reflectively:

"Dear Dad, we are being shamefully treated at the Great Eastern. If things are not remedied we will change to the Grand tonight. But don't worry. I am running this affair and you can bet on me.

"ARABELLA HOLLOWAY."

"I think that will make things hot for the Great Eastern," she said triumphantly. She did not hear the knock at the door, nor its noiseless opening. Her mother's voice startled her: "Belle, here is Mr. Parker, but remember—"

Mrs. Halloway's voice trailed off into a deprecating silence. Miss Halloway straightened up in her chair with the laudable pride of a judge about to confer sentence.

"Mr. Parker," she said impressively, "I have called you here to complain of the treatment to which we have been subjected by this hotel." She began deliberate enough, but the words soon tumbled over each other in her vehemence. "How dare you," she cried, "how dare you put us into this stuffy back room, an eight-dollar-a-day room, when we have always been accustomed to an eighteen-dollar suite. Do you know who we are—the Halloways of Chicago? Is not our money good, or better, than other people's?"

The clerk remained silent. And now for the first time Miss Halloway looked up—far up—and encountered the serene gaze of his brown eyes.

Mr. Parker, the clerk, was tall—unusually tall. But it was not merely his inches which gave authority of bearing—it was his self-confidence, his mental poise. Intuitively Miss Halloway of Chicago realized that here was a man who would always be the master of circumstances no matter how adverse the contrivings of fate. Her judicial complacency vanished, and shame, hot-cheeked and defiant, stood as a culprit at the bar. For a twinkle lurked in the cool depths of the brown eyes as he said easily:

"I can agree with you, Miss Halloway of Chicago—but only in part. Your money is as good as that of other people—but no better. At the Great Eastern first come must be first served, and that," with a half bow, "is why we have been forced to give this room to—Miss Halloway of Chicago."

His tone was courteous, but the girl felt the sting of underlying reproof. It was a new experience to her. All her twenty years had not discovered a person who should dare to cross her. The great T. P. Halloway himself lacked the necessary courage. Or, rather, he openly encouraged her willfulness as a reincarnation of his own indomitable spirit. As for Mrs. Halloway, she was always a minus quantity on such occasions as demanded firmness. She preferred to be comfortably seated and wring her hands—gently. Tears came easily, and in no wise interfered with her heart action or gradual increase of avoirdupois.

Now she looked entreatingly at her daughter and murmured, "Oh, Belle, don't, don't!"

Miss Halloway did not hear. Her world seemed falling about her ears. For the first time the shameful helplessness of her sex overcame her. But woman's wit came to her aid. Her lips trembled piteously and two large tears ran down her cheeks.

This was a new method of warfare. The redoubtable Mr. Parker stood aghast. Then, as became a prudent general, threw out scout lines.

"Really, Miss Halloway," he said soothingly, "the whole thing is a trifle which we have foolishly exaggerated. In the morning you will laugh at your fancied grievances."

But still the girl's head was hidden in her folded arms and her shoulders heaved. Mrs. Halloway sobbed, swaying comfortably back and forth. "If your father were only here," she wailed.

Mr. Parker looked from one to the other despairingly. He was a young man. A woman's tears are sacred—to the chivalry of youth. He cast discretion to the winds and capitulated.

"Don't cry, Miss Halloway," he implored; "please don't. I think that perhaps I can arrange the matter. A personal friend of mine has one of the suites. Perhaps, for you—yes, I am sure I can arrange it."

"On your word and honor?" asked Miss Halloway of Chicago in a muffled tone.

"On my word of honor," he promised recklessly.

The girl lifted her head and—laughed. She had not been crying at all. "You can stop your crying now, mother," she said cheerfully, "it is all over with." She turned to the astonished Mr. Parker and extended her hand frankly. "And, since you have acceded to my request," she said sweetly, "let me apologize for having asked in—well—rather peremptory fashion. It is a way I have, unfortunately. Of course, your promise holds good?"

"Of course," replied Mr. Parker a trifle stiffly. He could not avoid taking her outstretched hand. "Of course," he repeated more heartily, for some mesmeric influence radiated from her finger tips to his. There was added respect as well as admiration in the brown eyes. He recognized her powers as a strategist.

Miss Halloway laughed. "I won, but I would not have if you had not been—a gentleman. Mamma and I are very pleased to meet you—even in this informal fashion."

Mrs. Halloway beamed upon them. Peace and harmony were essential in her scheme of things.

And peace and harmony—and Mr. Parker—attended her and her daughter for the next few weeks. Mrs. Halloway beamed, Miss Halloway was radiant, Mr. Parker was assiduous. So assiduous, in fact, that Thomas P. Halloway, on his advent on the scene, felt called upon to interfere.

He did not hesitate, but Mr. Parker spoke first. It is a way youth has. And he did not mince matters. He struck straight from the shoulder.

"Mr. Halloway, I love your daughter, she loves me. We are going to be married. Have we your approval?"

"The devil!" ejaculated

SAYS HE CAN TURN SILVER INTO GOLD.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Rudolph M. Hunter, a widely-known scientist and [illegible], has recently startled the [illegible] announcement that he [illegible] method of manufacturing gold. He announces his announcement that he [illegible] statement that he [illegible] backing of prominent [illegible] city and New [illegible] will begin the erection [illegible] where the business [illegible] Later into the more [illegible] will be extensive. Hunter says: [illegible] gets in working order, thousands upon thousands of dollars worth of gold can be turned out daily. Text-books on chemistry will need revision, for I have demonstrated beyond a shadow of a doubt that the metals are now elementary. It can readily be seen what a calamity it would be for the secret to become public property. One dollars' worth of silver becomes forty dollars' worth of gold.

"If you were to give me a silver dollar, I could convert it into gold in ten minutes—gold that would stand every test known to man and be accepted by the government assaying officers."

LIBRARIAN FROM STANFORD.

RICHMOND (Ind.) Aug. 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Mrs. Mary Graeba of Stanford University has been chosen librarian and cataloguer at Indiana University. Mrs. Graeba has been filling a similar position at Stanford for three years. She will begin her work at Indiana University about the middle of September. She was chosen for the place because of her peculiar fitness and success.

DYNAMITED KONAK AND KILLED TURKS.

Governor's Palace at Krushevo Destroyed by the Bulgarians.

Fifty Musselmans Blown Up With the Building—Ottoman Troops Burn a Village—Ministers of the Porte Decide on Reprisals Against the Revolutionaries—Arrest of the Supposed Plotters at Belgrade.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SALONICA, Aug. 6.—[By Atlantic Cable.] A special from Monastir reports that the Bulgarian insurgents have dynamited the Konak (Governor's palace) in the town of Krushevo, twenty-three miles north of Monastir. Fifty Turks were killed.

A detachment of Ottoman troops have burned the village of Dihovie, near Monastir. Eight Turkish battalions have been dispatched to Monastir and three battalins to Salonica from Kosovo. Telegraphic communication with Monastir is still interrupted.

TURKS MEDITATING REPRISALS.

MINISTERS DECIDE ON ACTION.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 6.—[By Atlantic Cable.] Consular advices which were received here yesterday from Monastir indicated that the situation in Macedonia was constantly growing worse. At a meeting of the ministers, it has been decided to adopt measures of extreme severity in order to suppress the revolution. It is reported that Albanian troops will be employed, in which event massacres are almost inevitable.

The Bulgarian patriarch was summoned to the Yildiz Palace Wednesday and urged to make a final appeal to his flock to deliver up their arms and thereby avoid bloodshed.

The menacing attitude of the Kurds in Armenia is causing increased alarm at Erseroum, Bitlis and Kharput. It is asserted in some quarters that the authorities are secretly arming the Kurds, while endeavoring to convict the Armenians of revolutionary intentions.

TROUBLE AT BELGRADE.

ARREST OF SUPPOSED PLOTTERS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

VIENNA, Aug. 6.—[By Atlantic Cable.] According to advices received here a number of Servian officers have been arrested at Belgrade on account, it is reported, of a suspicion that they were conspiring against the War Minister, Gen. Alanasekovs, who is said to have prevented the advancement of the participants in the assassination of King Alexander and Queen Draga.

RUSSIA BARS OFFICERS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

BERLIN, Aug. 6.—A St. Petersburg dispatch to the Cologne Gazette says two Servian officers, who were deputed to attend King Peter's sons on their journey to Belgrade to join their father, have not been permitted to cross the Russian frontier, the Russian Legation at Belgrade having refused to vise their passports, because they were implicated in the assassination of King Alexander and Queen Draga.

HOPING FOR OUTBREAK.

WANTED AFTER THE HARVEST.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

LONDON, Aug. 7.—[By Atlantic Cable.] The London papers print mail letters descriptive of the Macedonian situation, and dated the latter part of July, which indicate that the committee was vigorously preparing for an uprising at the close of the harvest. The members of the committee, according to these advices, have been vainly hoping for an outbreak of war between Turkey and Bulgaria or some other sensational occurrence, such as a massacre of Christians, to give them an opening, but nothing has happened, and, although the situation is critical, it is just possible that the committee may still further put off the date of the outbreak.

Meanwhile, the Turks are more ready than ever to strangle any rising at its birth. The imperial troops, poorly paid and poorly fed, exasperated by the prolongation of the crisis and the necessity of incessant duty night and day, are preying upon the peasantry, and would indulge in barbarities upon the slightest pretext.

MUSSA BEY ESCAPES.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

LONDON, Aug. 7.—A letter, from Veddo, dated July 11, reports that the notorious Kurdish chief, Mussa Bey, who was responsible for many of the Armenian outrages, has escaped from Medina with several other Kurdish chiefs, where they have been living in exile, and that all attempts to intercept them have failed. The Sultan was so incensed that he ordered the immediate dismissal of the Governor of Medina, this being the third time Mussa has escaped. It is feared that he will reach Kurdestan and lead a new insurrection against the Turks, with perhaps a repetition of the atrocities in Armenia.

ICE STORM'S HAVOC.

Ten-inch Chunks Fall in Colorado. Two Inches of Hail in Wyoming. Floods in Kansas—Crops and Stock Destroyed.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

DENVER, Aug. 6.—Details of the storm which prevailed along the eastern slope of the Rocky Mountains in Colorado and Southern Wyoming last night show it to have been much more severe than at first reported. In some sections the hail fall was unprecedented. In the neighborhood of Greeley and Eaton, in the northern part of Colorado, chunks of ice measuring in some instances ten inches in length fell, and the damage wrought was immense.

Sheep were struck dead in the corrals and cattle and horses were severely injured. Farmhouses and barns were wrecked and crops utterly wiped out of existence. Near Greeley a man named Johnson was severely bruised and rendered unconscious by the hail. The damage will reach thousands of dollars.

Near Lafayette, Colo., there were two storms, the second following the first within fifteen minutes and with great severity. The streets of the town were flooded, cellars partially filled with water and trees and shrubbery stripped of foliage. Many windows were broken. The crops in the country surrounding were destroyed. Hail lay on the ground in many places to a depth of two feet. The damage in and around Lafayette is estimated at $200,000.

In Southern Colorado the rainfall was very heavy, approaching the proportions of a cloudburst in several places. Railroad traffic was affected.

HOTEL ROOF RAISED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

DENVER (Colo.) Aug. 6.—A special to the News from Perry Park, Colo., a resort for tourists located about forty-five miles south of Denver, says that a high wind prevailed there this afternoon during which the roof of the hotel was blown off and a pavilion near by blown down. Five persons are reported injured.

COLORADO ELECTRIFIED.

LOCOMOTIVE IN SWOLLEN RIVER

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

PUEBLO (Colo.) Aug. 6.—A cloudburst and terrific electrical storm occurred last night west of here. A great volume of water is coming down Arkansas River and the Denver and Rio Grande road was washed out in one or two places east of Florence, delaying trains.

Shortly after 4 o'clock, as the Rio Grande passenger train, No. 15, was going over the Fountain River bridge at Little Butte, the trestle gave way. The engine was plunged into the water and buried completely out of sight. Engineer Hughes and Fireman Lillis were in the water for fifteen minutes. They managed to keep afloat by hanging onto small pieces of floating debris and reached shore. All the passenger cars remained on the track.

BOTH RAILROADS CRIPPLED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

DENVER (Colo.) Aug. 6.—A special from Florence, Colo., says: "As the result of the heavy rainstorm that prevailed in this section last night railroad operations on both the Rio Grande and the Santa Fé railroads are crippled by washouts and soft roadbeds."

KANSAS RAIN FLOODS.

NORTH TOPEKANS FLEEING.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

TOPEKA (Kan.) Aug. 6.—A rainfall of 3.5 inches over this territory after midnight has started the Kaw River upward rapidly. Many North Topeka citizens are alarmed by the heavy rainfalls of the past few days, and the reports of rising tributaries of the river to the west, and are packing up their valuables and preparing to flee to higher ground.

KANSAS CITY SAFE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

KANSAS CITY (Mo.) Aug. 6.—The Kansas River here has risen but slightly since yesterday and it is believed the water coming this way from the west will spread out before reaching Kansas City and that no damage will result at this point.

BRIDGE SWEPT AWAY.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

JUNCTION CITY (Kan.) Aug. 6.—An inch and a half of rain here last night caused the Smoky Hill River to rise rapidly and it now is up over ten feet. A temporary bridge here that took the place of one of the steel bridges that was washed away by the flood in May was swept away.

LEAPS UP THREE FEET.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

LAWRENCE (Kan.) Aug. 6.—As a result of the heavy fall of rain here and to the west last night, the Kansas River here has risen about three feet in the past twelve hours.

RUIN IN WYOMING.

TWO INCHES OF HAIL FELL.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

CHEYENNE (Wyo.) Aug. 6.—Evidences of damage wrought by the hailstorm last evening, the worst ever known in this city, are seen on all sides today. Many windows are shattered and splinters from broken shingles strew the streets. The ground is completely covered with foliage stripped from the trees. At the close of the storm, which lasted thirty minutes, two inches of hail covered the streets and lawns. Gardens are ruined.

FAST, SNAPPY POLO FOR DEL MONTE CUP.

BURLINGAME BEATS SANTA BARBARA BY SEVEN TO ONE.

Tobin and Driscoll Played Best for Winners, While Colby was Star of Channel City Team—Good Ponies Make Last Two Periods Clean.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

DEL MONTE, Aug. 6.—Fully 1000 spectators witnessed the match between the polo players of Burlingame and Santa Barbara for the Del Monte cup this afternoon, which resulted in a victory for the northern team by a score of 7 to 1. Four periods of ten minutes each were played and the Burlingame players did most of their scoring in the first two, scoring three goals in the first period and three in the second. In the third period Santa Barbara scored one and in the fourth and last Burlingame scored one more.

Fast, snappy polo was played throughout by both sides, Burlingame's superiority in ponies being most pronounced in the first two periods. In the last two, when the Santa Barbara players rode their best ponies, the game was at its best, each side being able to make but one goal.

The teams were made up as follows: Burlingame—F. J. Carolan, Joe Tobin, Thomas Driscoll, J. O. Tobin. Santa Barbara—J. C. Colby, E. A. Boesecke, R. C. Rogers, E. J. Boesecke. Joe Tobin and Driscoll put up the best play for Burlingame. Colby of the Santa Barbara team made many brilliant plays.

ESPEE EMPLOYEES PENSIONED.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 6.—Thirty-five employees of the Southern Pacific who have passed their days of usefulness in that corporation have been retired from active service with the company and placed on the pension list.

TAMMANY FOR GROVER.

New York and New Jersey Democrats in Favor of Cleveland.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SARATOGA, Aug. 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Henry Stafford Little, Trenton, N. J., who was head of the New Jersey Statehouse Democracy during Cleveland's first term as President, and now one of Cleveland's associates in the board of trustees of Princeton University, is at the Grand Union Hotel. Today he said he believed Cleveland would accept the nomination for the Presidency next year, if it became manifestly his duty to do so, and said the New Jersey delegation will certainly be instructed to vote for his nomination, unless Cleveland specifically prohibits such a course.

"I am very much interested in the favorable discussion of Cleveland for President, and am in sympathy with everything said to promote his candidacy," said Little. "It is my opinion that Cleveland can be nominated, and I have no doubt that if nominated he will be elected. You will understand I am speaking only for myself. I do not assume to commit Cleveland in any way, nor to express any views he may entertain on the subject."

Of ex-Senator Hill, Little said: "He should not be permitted to control the Democratic party of New York. He has done more damage to his party than Bryan."

Among New York Democrats here the same impression prevails. A Tammany Hall man to whom Little's statement was shown, said: "That is correct. At the present time New York lies between Cleveland and Parker."

Another Tammany leader, who is close to Murphy and Croker, says that the present Tammany programme is to declare for Cleveland immediately after the city election, in case Tammany wins. This leader intimated that the same elements which combined to wrest the State from Hill in 1898 are now acting in conjunction against Hill.

SHOT LEG OF SEAVIS.

Keena and Deputy Get the Negro.

Escaped Convict Was Trying to Get Away on Freight Train Out of Newcastle.

Told Engineer Waters He Was Going to Nevada to Work as a Harvest Hand.

Report of the Capture of Cons Unfounded—Dogs Unable to Follow Trail.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

PLACERVILLE, Aug. 6.—Following the news of the capture of the negro Seavis, the two sons of John Fuller, a boss at the Copper Lead mine, located about twenty miles southeast of here, arrived in Placerville tonight and reported that the five convicts who were supposed to be heading for the Cat Creek country ate supper at the James Hawkins ranch, near Omo, last night, paying $3.10 for their meal and taking a supply of food with them. The men disclaimed any desire to commit murder, but said in positive terms that if cornered they would fight to the death.

This morning, according to the statements of the Fuller boys, the five men were seen near the Crystal mine, east of Copper Lead, on the middle fork of the Consumnes river. It is authoritatively stated that, Monday morning last, the five men breakfasted with the family of a miner named Smith, paying for the meal and a quantity of provisions with a five-dollar piece. If these reports are true, the five men have traveled but little since Monday. If they keep on up the Consumnes, they will certainly fall into the trap set for them by Sheriff Norman.

AUBURN, Aug. 6.—Albert Seavis, the negro who was among the thirteen convicts who escaped from Folsom a week ago, is behind prison bars in the Placer County Jail at Auburn, with a bad wound in the right leg, caused by two loads of buckshot from the guns of Sheriff Keena and Deputy Sheriff Coan.

Seavis was seen to get on freight train No. 214, east-bound, at Newcastle. When the train arrived at Auburn, Conductor Oscar N. Nelson reported the discovery to Operator J. F. Schnitzius, who called up the Sheriff's office. The train was held, and Sheriff Keena and Deputy Sheriff Coan hurried to the depot. Seavis had been riding behind the pusher engine. Engineer Ed. Waters had just been talking to Seavis, who, slipped off the car when the train stopped, and was sitting down on some lumber. Waters asked him where he was going. Seavis replied that he was going harvesting in Nevada.

When Keena and Coan arrived, one officer went on either side of the train. As the officers came up to Seavis, they called upon him to surrender. He replied by firing three shots. Coan retaliated without effect, as Seavis dodged under a car. Both Keena and Coan emptied their guns, and Seavis called out: "Don't kill me; I am Seavis." The officers went to where he lay and found him lying on his side, holding his leg. His pistol was found a few feet away, fully cocked. He was carried to the depot, put on a stretcher, and taken to jail, where his wounds were dressed.

DO NOT BELIEVE ROBERTS.

OFFICERS LOOK FOR HOWARD.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 6.—Acting Deputy Sheriff J. J. Hinters, whose leveled rifle made Roberts surrender yesterday afternoon, does not believe Roberts's statement that he has not seen Howard, his companion, since he left him at Agricultural Park, a short time after they arrived there. Other officers do not believe Roberts's statement, either. Howard is thought to be in Yolo county, and at the time of Roberts' capture was probably not far away.

Deputies William Lowell T. Haggerty and Constable M. Judge put on a search for Howard yesterday afternoon and last evening, but were compelled by darkness to abandon the hunt.

Convict Roberts will be kept here several days before being sent back to Folsom Prison, as Sheriff Reese and Dist.-Atty. Seymour believe they can obtain more information of him in this way than by returning him to the prison at once.

Dist.-Atty. Seymour, his assistant, Archibald Yell, and Sheriff Reese had Convict Roberts before them for two hours this afternoon. All declined to say what admissions the prisoner had made. Reese was seeking information

SAYS HE CAN TURN SILVER INTO GOLD.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Rudolph M. Hunter, the widely-known scientist and miner, who recently startled the country by the announcement that he had discovered a method of manufacturing gold, supplements his announcement today by the statement that he has secured the backing of prominent business men in this city and New York, and will shortly begin the erection of a large plant where the business of converting silver into the more precious yellow metal will be extensively carried on. Hunter says:

"The point I am now working to is, that thousands upon thousands of dollars worth of gold can be turned out daily. Text-books on chemistry will need revision, for I have demonstrated beyond a shadow of a doubt that the metals are now elementary. It can readily be seen what a calamity it would be for the secret to become public property. One dollars' worth of silver becomes forty dollars' worth of gold.

"If you were to give me a silver dollar, I could convert it into gold in ten minutes—gold that would stand every test known to man and be accepted by the government assaying officers."

SALONICA, Aug. 6.—[By Atlantic Cable.] A special from Monastir reports that the Bulgarian insurgents have dynamited the Konak (Governor's palace) in the town of Krushevo, twenty-three miles north of Monastir. Fifty Turks were killed.

A detachment of Ottoman troops have burned the village of Dihovie, near Monastir. Eight Turkish battalions have been dispatched to Monastir and three battalins to Salonica from Kosovo. Telegraphic communication with Monastir is still interrupted.

MINISTERS DECIDE ON ACTION.
[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 6.—[By Atlantic Cable.] Consular advices which were received here yesterday from Monastir indicated that the situation in Macedonia was constantly growing worse. At a meeting of the ministers, it has been decided to adopt measures of extreme severity in order to suppress the revolution. It is reported that Albanian troops will be employed, in which event massacres are almost inevitable.

The Bulgarian patriarch was summoned to the Yildis Palace Wednesday and urged to make a final appeal to his flock to deliver up their arms and thereby avoid bloodshed.

The menacing attitude of the Kurds in Armenia is causing increased alarm at Erzeroum, Bitlis and Kharput. It is asserted in some quarters that the authorities are secretly arming the Kurds, while endeavoring to convict the Armenians of revolutionary intentions.

TROUBLE AT BELGRADE.

ARREST OF SUPPOSED PLOTTERS.
[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

VIENNA, Aug. 6.—[By Atlantic Cable.] According to advices received here a number of Servian officers have been arrested at Belgrade on account, it is reported, of a suspicion that they were conspiring against the War Minister, Gen. Alanasekovz, who is said to have prevented the advancement of the participants in the assassination of King Alexander and Queen Draga.

RUSSIA BARS OFFICERS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

BERLIN, Aug. 6.—A St. Petersburg dispatch to the Cologne Gazette says two Servian officers, who were deputed to attend King Peter's sons on their journey to Belgrade to join their father, have not been permitted to cross the Russian frontier, the Russian Legation at Belgrade having refused to vise their passports, because they were implicated in the assassination of King Alexander and Queen Draga.

HOPING FOR OUTBREAK.

WANTED AFTER THE HARVEST.
[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

LONDON, Aug. 7.—[By Atlantic Cable.] The London papers print mail letters descriptive of the Macedonian situation, and dated the latter part of July, which indicate that the committee was vigorously preparing for an uprising at the close of the harvest. The members of the committee, according to these advices, have been vainly hoping for an outbreak of war between Turkey and Bulgaria or some other sensational occurrence, such as a massacre of Christians, to give them an opening, but nothing has happened, and, although the situation is critical, it is just possible that the committee may still further put off the date of the outbreak.

Meanwhile, the Turks are more ready than ever to strangle any rising at its birth. The imperial troops, poorly paid and poorly fed, exasperated by the prolongation of the crisis and the necessity of incessant duty night and day, are preying upon the peasantry, and would indulge in barbarities upon the slightest pretext.

MUSSA BEY ESCAPES.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

LONDON, Aug. 7.—A letter from Vedda, dated July 31, reports that the notorious Kurdish chief, Mussa Bey, who was responsible for many of the Armenian outrages, has escaped from Medina with several other Kurdish chiefs, where they have been living in exile, and that all attempts to intercept them have failed. The Sultan was so incensed that he ordered the immediate dismissal of the Governor of Medina, this being the third time Mussa has escaped. It is feared that he will reach Kurdestan and lead a new insurrection against the Turks, with perhaps a repetition of the atrocities in Armenia.

ICE STORM'S HAVOC.

Ten-inch Chunks Fall in Colorado. Two Inches of Hail in Wyoming. Floods in Kansas—Crops and Stock Destroyed.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

DENVER, Aug. 6.—Details of the storm which prevailed along the eastern slope of the Rocky Mountains in Colorado and Southern Wyoming last night show it to have been much more severe than at first reported. In some sections the hail fall was unprecedented. In the neighborhood of Greeley and Eaton, in the northern part of Colorado, chunks of ice measuring in some instances ten inches in length fell, and the damage wrought was immense.

Sheep were struck dead in the corrals and cattle and horses were severely injured. Farmhouses and barns were wrecked and crops utterly wiped out of existence. Near Greeley a man named Johnson was severely bruised and rendered unconscious by the hail. The damage will reach thousands of dollars.

Near Lafayette, Colo., there were two storms, the second following the first within fifteen minutes and with great severity. The streets of the town were flooded, cellars partially filled with water and trees and shrubbery stripped of foliage. Many windows were broken. The crops in the country surrounding were destroyed. Hail lay on the ground in many places to a depth of two feet. The damage in and around Lafayette is estimated at $200,000.

In Southern Colorado the rainfall was very heavy, approaching the proportions of a cloudburst in several places. Railroad traffic was affected.

HOTEL ROOF RAISED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

DENVER (Colo.) Aug. 6.—A special to the News from Perry Park, Colo., a resort for tourists located about forty-five miles south of Denver, says that a high wind prevailed there this afternoon during which the roof of the hotel was blown off and a pavilion near by blown down. Five persons are reported injured.

COLORADO ELECTRIFIED.

LOCOMOTIVE IN SWOLLEN RIVER
[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

PUEBLO (Colo.) Aug. 6.—A cloudburst and terrific electrical storm occurred last night west of here. A great volume of water is coming down Arkansas River and the Denver and Rio Grande road was washed out in one or two places east of Florence, delaying trains.

Shortly after 4 o'clock, as the Rio Grande passenger train, No. 15, was going over the Fountain River bridge at Little Butte, the trestle gave way. The engine was plunged into the water and buried completely out of sight. Engineer Hughes and Fireman Lillis were in the water for fifteen minutes. They managed to keep afloat by hanging onto small pieces of floating debris and reached shore. All the passenger cars remained on the track.

BOTH RAILROADS CRIPPLED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

DENVER (Colo.) Aug. 6.—A special from Florence, Colo., says: "As the result of the heavy rainstorm that prevailed in this section last night railroad operations on both the Rio Grande and the Santa Fé railroads are crippled by washouts and soft roadbeds."

KANSAS RAIN FLOODS.

NORTH TOPEKANS FLEEING.
[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

TOPEKA (Kan.) Aug. 6.—A rainfall of 3.5 inches over this territory after midnight has started the Kaw River upward rapidly. Many North Topeka citizens are alarmed by the heavy rainfalls of the past few days, and the reports of rising tributaries of the river to the west, and are packing up their valuables and preparing to flee to higher ground.

KANSAS CITY SAFE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

KANSAS CITY (Mo.) Aug. 6.—The Kansas River here has risen but slightly since yesterday and it is believed the water coming this way from the west will spread out before reaching Kansas City and that no damage will result at this point.

BRIDGE SWEPT AWAY.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

JUNCTION CITY (Kan.) Aug. 6.—An inch and a half of rain here last night caused the Smoky Hill River to rise rapidly and it now is up over ten feet. A temporary bridge here that took the place of one of the steel bridges that was washed away by the flood in May was swept away.

LEAPS UP THREE FEET.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

LAWRENCE (Kan.) Aug. 6.—As a result of the heavy fall of rain here and to the west last night, the Kansas River here has risen about three feet in the past twelve hours.

RUIN IN WYOMING.

TWO INCHES OF HAIL FELL.
[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

CHEYENNE (Wyo.) Aug. 6.—Evidences of damage wrought by the hailstorm last evening, the worst ever known in this city, are seen on all sides today. Many windows are shattered and splinters from broken shingles strew the streets. The ground is completely covered with foliage stripped from the trees. At the close of the storm, which lasted thirty minutes, two inches of hail covered the streets and lawns. Gardens are ruined.

FAST, SNAPPY POLO FOR DEL MONTE CUP.

BURLINGAME BEATS SANTA BARBARA BY SEVEN TO ONE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

DEL MONTE, Aug. 6.—Fully 1000 spectators witnessed the match between the polo players of Burlingame and Santa Barbara for the Del Monte cup this afternoon, which resulted in a victory for the northern team by a score of 7 to 1. Four periods of ten minutes each were played and the Burlingame players did most of their scoring in the first two, scoring three goals in the first period and three in the second. In the third period Santa Barbara scored one and in the fourth and last Burlingame scored one more.

Fast, snappy polo was played throughout by both sides, Burlingame's superiority in ponies being most pronounced in the first two periods. In the last two, when the Santa Barbara players rode their best ponies, the game was at its best, each side being able to make but one goal.

The teams were made up as follows: Burlingame—F. J. Carolan, Joe Tobin, Thomas Driscoll, J. O. Tobin. Santa Barbara—J. C. Colby, E. A. Boesecke, R. C. Rogers, E. J. Boesecke. Joe Tobin and Driscoll put up the best play for Burlingame. Colby of the Santa Barbara team made many brilliant plays.

EXPEE EMPLOYEES PENSIONED.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 6.—Thirty-five employes of the Southern Pacific who have passed their days of usefulness in that corporation have been retired from active service with the company and placed on the pension list.

TAMMANY FOR GROVER.

New York and New Jersey Democrats in Favor of Cleveland.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SARATOGA, Aug. 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Henry Stafford Little, Trenton, N. J., who was head of the New Jersey Statehouse Democracy during Cleveland's first term as President, and now one of Cleveland's associates in the board of trustees of Princeton University, is at the Grand Union Hotel. Today he said he believed Cleveland would accept the nomination for the Presidency next year, if it became manifestly his duty to do so, and said the New Jersey delegation will certainly be instructed to vote for his nomination, unless Cleveland specifically prohibits such a course.

"I am very much interested in the favorable discussion of Cleveland for President, and am in sympathy with everything said to promote his candidacy," said Little. "It is my opinion that Cleveland can be nominated, and I have no doubt that if nominated he will be elected. You will understand I am speaking only for myself. I do not assume to commit Cleveland in any way, nor to express any views he may entertain on the subject."

Of ex-Senator Hill, Little said: "He should not be permitted to control the Democratic party of New York. He has done more damage to his party than Bryan."

Among New York Democrats here the same impression prevails. A Tammany Hall man to whom Little's statement was shown, said: "That is correct. At the present time New York lies between Cleveland and Parker."

Another Tammany leader, who is close to Murphy and Croker, says that the present Tammany programme is to declare for Cleveland immediately after the city election, in case Tammany wins. This leader intimated that the same elements which combined to wrest the State from Hill in 1898 are now acting in conjunction against Hill.

SHOT LEG OF SEAVIS.

Keena and Deputy Get the Negro.

Escaped Convict Was Trying to Get Away on Freight Train Out of Newcastle.

Told Engineer Waters He Was Going to Nevada to Work as a Harvest Hand.

Report of the Capture of Cons Unfounded—Dogs Unable to Follow Trail.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

PLACERVILLE, Aug. 6.—Following the news of the capture of the negro Seavis, the two sons of John Fuller, a boss at the Copper Lead mine, located about twenty miles southeast of here, arrived in Placerville tonight and reported that the five convicts who were supposed to be heading for the Cat Creek country ate supper at the James Hawkins ranch, near Omo, last night, paying $3.00 for their meal and taking a supply of food with them. The men disclaimed any desire to commit murder, but said in positive terms that if cornered they would fight to the death.

This morning, according to the statement of the Fuller boys, the five men were seen near the Crystal mine, east of Copper Lead, on the middle fork of the Consumnes river. It is authoritatively stated that, Monday morning last, the five men breakfasted with the family of a miner named Smith, paying for the meal and a quantity of provisions with a five-dollar piece. If these reports are true, the five men have traveled but little since Monday. If they keep on up the Consumnes, they will certainly fall into the trap set for them by Sheriff Norman.

AUBURN, Aug. 6.—Albert Seavis, the negro who was among the thirteen convicts who escaped from Folsom a week ago, is behind prison bars in the Placer County Jail at Auburn, with a bad wound in the right leg, caused by two loads of buckshot from the guns of Sheriff Keena and Deputy Sheriff Coan.

Seavis was seen to get on freight train No. 214, east-bound, at Newcastle. When the train arrived at Auburn, Conductor Oscar N. Nelson reported the discovery to Operator J. P. Schnitzius, who called up the Sheriff's office. The train was held, and Sheriff Keena and Deputy Sheriff Coan hurried to the depot. Seavis had been riding, behind the pusher engine. Engineer Ed. Waters had just been talking to Seavis, who slipped off the car when the train stopped, and was sitting down on some lumber. Waters asked him where he was going. Seavis replied that he was going harvesting in Nevada.

When Keena and Coan arrived, one officer went on either side of the train. As the officers came up to Seavis, they called upon him to surrender. He replied by firing three shots. Coan retaliated without effect, as Seavis dodged under a car. Both Keena and Coan emptied their guns, and Seavis called out: "Don't kill me; I am Seavis." The officers went to where he lay and found him lying on his side, holding his leg. His pistol was found a few feet away, fully cocked. He was carried to the depot, put on a stretcher, and taken to jail, where his wounds were dressed.

DO NOT BELIEVE ROBERTS.

OFFICERS LOOK FOR HOWARD.
[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 6.—Acting Deputy Sheriff J. J. Hinters, whose leveled rifle made Roberts surrender yesterday afternoon, does not believe Roberts's statement that he has not seen Howard, his companion, since he left him at Agricultural Park, a short time after they arrived there. Other officers do not believe Roberts's statement, either. Howard is thought to be in Yolo county, and at the time of Roberts' capture was probably not far away.

Deputies William Lowell, T. Haggerty and Constable M. Judge made a search for Howard yesterday afternoon and last evening, but were compelled by darkness to abandon the hunt.

Convict Roberts will be kept here several days before being sent back to Folsom Prison, as Sheriff Reese and Dist.-Atty. Seymour believe they can obtain more information of him in this way than by returning him to the prison at once.

Dist.-Atty. Seymour, his assistant, Archibald Yell, and Sheriff Reese had Convict Roberts before them for two hours this afternoon. All declined to say what admissions the prisoner had made. Reese was seeking information

Bells of Five Hundred of Rome's Churches Clang.

Mgr. Bressan Private Chaplain and Secretary—Coronation Ceremony Outlined.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

ROME, Aug. 6.—[By Atlantic Cable.] During one full hour this morning there seemed to be nothing but vibrating sounds, so penetrating were the strokes of the bells of about five hundred churches which, all ringing together, absorbed all other noises. The ringing was in honor of the election of Pius X. All the churches contemporaneously celebrated masses for the event, the intoning of the Oremus combining with the harmony. The bells involuntarily served to ring in the great ceremony of the reception of the diplomatic body accredited to the Holy See. Rome has lately been surfeited with Vatican functions, but that of this morning was so striking that it held its own with the others.

The members of the Sacred College gathered before the hour set for the ceremony, and held a kind of informal reception, the conclave, short as it was, having brought them cordially together. A procession was then formed. First came the Swiss Guards, which gives a peculiar splendor to all papal gatherings; then the Palatine Guard, followed in regular order by the whole pontifical court, with its multi-colored costumes, the cardinals in all gorgeousness of their scarlet robes, and the bishops scarcely less striking in their purple. The Pope, in spotless white, his gray hair in harmony with his whole attire, and surrounded by the Noble Guard, who always remain near his person, went on foot, just as the others.

The procession having gained the hall of the throne, where the members of the diplomatic body were gathered, Senhor D'Antas, the Portuguese Ambassador, the dean of the corps, read in a clear voice the collective greeting of his colleagues, presenting their homage to the new Pope and assuring him of their fidelity. Pius X answered with great cordiality, thanking them heartily for their good wishes. All then kissed his hands, and the Pontiff took this opportunity of speaking personally to each, showing a knowledge of the politics of the diverse countries which surprised the diplomats, the new Pontiff being credited with taking small interest in affairs outside of Italy. It was another surprise to them to hear him speak French, if not fluently, at least with a certain readiness. Altogether, the whole audience gave promise of a new era of international cordiality at the Vatican.

The Pope has appointed his conclavist, Mgr. Bressan, as his private chaplain, which means that he will also be the Pontiff's chief private secretary.

CORONATION CEREMONY.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

ROME, Aug. 6.—The coronation ceremonies will be performed at St. Peter's Sunday, according to a rite dating from the latter part of the fourteenth century. As the Pope enters the clerk of the papal chapel holds up before him a reed surmounted by a handful of flax. This is lighted; it flashes up for a moment, and then dies out at once, as the chaplain chants: "Pater Sancte, sic transit gloria mundi." (Holy Father, thus passeth away the world's glory.)

This is done three times. The mass is then begun as usual, but before the intonation of the altar, the blessing of the Pontiff-elect is announced by three cardinal bishops, each of whom recites a prayer over him. After the collects come the so-called laudes, that is, the threefold supplications to God for the welfare of the new Pope. The coronation itself takes place after the mass in the balcony over the portico of St. Peter's overlooking the great piazza. The cardinal deacon takes off the miter, which until now the Pope has worn, and then the senior cardinal deacon (Macchi) places the tiara on his head, and all the people cry out: "Kyrie eleison."

The Pope reckons his pontificate from his coronation day, although, of course, he is Pope from the day of his election.

SIXTY THOUSAND EXPECTED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

ROME, Aug. 6.—The throne of St. Peter which Pius X will occupy will be surrounded by a canopy forty feet high. The function will consume five hours. The Pope has informed the Vatican officials that he wishes to be received on the threshold of the Basilica by Cardinal Rampolla who, as arch-priest of the church, will address the formal greeting to him. At the conclusion of the ceremony, the Pope will confer his blessing upon the people, but it has not yet been decided whether he will do so inside the church or from the balcony looking out upon the piazza, where many hoped he would bestow his benediction on the day of his election. It is stated that Pius X is favorable to the latter plan, but that the influence of the Vatican officials is against it, on the ground that it might be interpreted as a recognition of the present state of affairs in Italy.

The holding of the coronation ceremonies in St. Peter's itself represents a concession, as in the case of Leo it occurred in the Sistine Chapel. It is expected that 60,000 tickets will be issued for the event, as the demand for them is already very great.

In the consistories to be held Monday and Thursday next the Pope will confer the red hat upon Cardinals Adjuti Taliani, Katschthaler and Herrero y Espinosa, who were raised from the purple June 25, but who have not received these symbols of rank because of the illness and death of Leo. It is believed that the Spanish Cardinal Herrero will not be able to be present at the coronation ceremonies.

CONSISTORIES NEXT WEEK.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

ROME, Aug. 6.—The Pope has decided to hold a secret consistory Monday next and a public consistory on the Thursday following. The Mayor of Riese, the birthplace of the new Pope, in reply to an inquiry, wires to the Italian bureau of the Associated Press as follows:

"The election of Cardinal Sarto as Pope has aroused indescribable enthusiasm here. The people are preparing splendid festivities, which have been unanimously approved by the city fathers. The village being almost entirely composed of peasants, has no idea about the policy or tendencies of Pope Pius, and I am unable to give you any information on that point. He was of the humblest birth.

Strong Financiers Buying Stocks at Comfortable Margin.

Exchange Member Says a Bullish Feeling for Americans is Found in Europe.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Wall-street Journal says:

"The selling of stocks is the result, as far as we can learn, of a most unreasonable scare on the part of the Wall-street public. Reports indicate that there will be no crop failures, and that there will be no failures of any national institutions.

"Stocks are selling much below value. Values will assert themselves in due time, and the present prices will look ridiculously cheap. People should not be scared into selling good stocks at this time at such great sacrifices.

"We wish there were some way of reassuring the holders of good stocks that their properties are in sound condition, and that the securities are worth holding. We think strong people are buying good stocks on the scale, and we believe that any one who does buy good stocks on a comfortable margin at this point is bound to make a great deal of money within the year."

A well-known member of the Stock Exchange who has been abroad visiting the leading European centers, says the sentiment on the other side is in marked contrast to that in New York. Everywhere he found sentiment turning strongly bullish toward Americans, a marked change in this respect having taken place within the past few weeks. He reports that the weather, particularly in May, was unusually cold and unseasonable, and that, as a result, the crops are unsatisfactory. The fruit crops have practically failed, and he expects to see heavy exports of American grain and fruits this year.

MADE SUBSTANTIAL GAINS.

COURSE OF YESTERDAY'S DEALS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—Following a weak, almost panicky opening, today's stock market suddenly reversed its course, substantial gains being registered by practically all the better-class securities. The average of net advances was about two points. In some instances gains were much greater. New York Central led the active list, with a net gain of 3⅜.

The change of front which occurred in the early trading was doubtless due to several reasons, the most potent of which was the "good" buying which seemed to emanate from high quarters. There is little room for doubt that stocks were purchased freely today by insiders—by banks, banking houses, financial institutions generally and wealthy individuals, because they seemed cheap. No justification could be found for the report rather industriously circulated that the Vanderbilts, Rockefellers and Harrimans, with their hosts of followers, had entered upon a plan to lift prices. As a matter of fact, no little part of today's improvement was undoubtedly due to extensive covering. Many on the short side regarded the market as being very much oversold. Despite the marked improvement, further talk of trouble and probable failures was heard on every side, almost to the close, which was really buoyant.

Reports current in trustworthy circles suggest that several firms and individuals whose affairs were found to be in bad shape, have been permitted to make private settlements, thus saving themselves such sacrifices as would inevitably have been made here had their holdings been thrown upon the market.

The day's business was slightly less than 1,000,000 shares. Stocks that made the most extensive net gains included Sugar, American Tobacco preferred, St. Paul, Colorado Fuel and Iron, Delaware and Hudson, Denver and Rio Grande, General Electric, Hocking Valley preferred, Illinois Central, International Power, Louisville and Nashville, and Metropolitan, Chicago and St. Louis second preferred, North American, Rubber Goods preferred, Southern Pacific, Virginia-Carolina Chemical, common and preferred, Wabash preferred, Westinghouse Electric, Wheeling and Lake Erie second preferred, and St. Louis and San Francisco, Eastern Illinois certificates, the latter advancing ten points. Marked improvement was shown also in the bond list.

FIRM SUSPENDS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—Laidlaw & Garrie, members of the Consolidated Exchange, announced their suspension today. The firm did a commission business, which was not extensive. The failure was without general importance.

The members of the firm are William R. Laidlaw and Daniel E. Garrie. Laidlaw, a few years ago sued Russell Sage, charging that the aged financier threw him in front of the bomb which Norcross threw at Mr. Sage. Laidlaw was then cashier for Bloodgood & Co., and happened to be in Sage's office when Norcross entered it.

LOS ANGELES BLONDE TO WED DYING MAN.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

OAKLAND, Aug. 6.—Exclusive Dispatch.] An elopement, to be followed by a deathbed marriage, is the romantic story developing from the application of Miss Jeanette Page of Los Angeles for a license to wed Milton Lipman of San Francisco, who is said by his fiancée to be on his deathbed. The ages of the young people concerned are the same, 21 years.

According to the tale of the young woman, here is a case where love is strong enough to cross the shadowy border of death, and penetrate the Great Beyond. In the first place, she says, her parents are bitterly opposed to her marriage to the man she chose in preference to all others. This parental opposition was temporarily set at naught by the determined young woman resolutely journeying from Los Angeles to Oakland to marry her fiancé, even on a last bed of sickness.

In order to maintain secrecy and to facilitate marriage, Miss Page came to Oakland early this morning and applied for a marriage license. She told her troubles to "Cupid" Zambresky. She said it was absolutely necessary that she should be married before 12 o'clock today. When the obliging Deputy County Clerk informed her that she could not be married on a license from Alameda county in San Francisco her countenance fell, but she hit upon a happy solution of the matter by saying she would bring her dying lover to this side of the bay in a carriage and marry him before the sun went down. She had to abandon this plan, however, when she learned that her intended husband was too ill to be removed. The prospective bride is a tall, handsome blonde.

SAVAGERY MARKS RUSSIAN STRIKES.

[BY THE ASSOCIAT ED PRESS—P.M.]

LONDON, Aug. 7.—[By Atlantic Cable.] The Daily Mail's Nikheloeff correspondent, under date of August 2, fully confirms the Times' correspondent's accounts of strikes in South Russia. The correspondent says that 250,000 men are affected, and that simultaneously strikes occurred over a vast industrial area. He says that the amount of studied organization and well-concealed preparation was unprecedented in the troubled annals of Russian labor. Prices of the necessaries of life are rising by leaps and bounds. The strikers, on the whole, have preserved exemplary order, but this has not saved them from savage attacks directed by Gen. Arsenieff, Governor of Odessa. Groups of men who assembled last Saturday with the intention of holding a meeting were driven into a solid mass by 500 Cossacks, backed up by two lines of infantry with fixed bayonets. About two thousand strikers being thus inclosed by a double cordon, the Cossacks rode through them, striking right and left with heavy whips, the fallen being trampled under the horses' feet.

"When the living mass had been thoroughly kneaded to the Governor's will," continues the correspondent, "numerous men were arrested as suspected agitators. The infantry then marched off, and the strikers scattered in a dozen directions, with Cossacks at their heels. It is rumored that 400 strikers were more or less seriously injured, and that from six to a dozen succumbed. The whole affair is a typical piece of administrative savagery. The extraordinary feature of the movement at Odessa is that the police and gendarmes belonging to one depot threatened to throw off their uniforms and risk all the terrors of insubordination unless the miserable pittance of 11 to 14 pence which they are allowed daily, was increased and the hours of labor reduced. Siberia is losing its terror even for Russian policemen.

"The epidemic of incendiarism is spreading through Russia. Scarcely a day passes without news of conflagrations. At Baku alone the destruction has been collossal. Tens of millions of gallons of naphtha have been burned. In twenty-four of the largest towns the damage due to fire the past month is estimated at $35,000,000. The object of the bulk of the fires is to get insurance money.

Many of the incendiaries are Jews and the insurance companies in some cases have raised premiums 50 per cent. Public opinion in Odessa is entirely on the side of the striking sailors and stokers. A wealthy company which has been employing men for years has paid sailors at the rate of only 25 shillings a month."

The Standard's Odessa correspondent, under date of August 2, says that all the trades have now resumed work, and that the strike is practically ended, but that the city will remain under martial law for at least another ten days.

The strikers did not get all they demanded, but in most cases were met with fair-spirited compromises on the part of the employers. According to the correspondent the local Odessa papers on the day the dispatch was sent announced that the Governor had issued a statement to the effect that he had summarily convicted seventy-one persons and had sentenced them to three months' imprisonment for disturbing the public order. The names given include many Jews and a few foreigners.

UNIONISM ABOVE LAW.

FIREMAN TO BE PROSECUTED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

BOSTON, Aug. 6.—John Keenan, a steamship fireman, who, after signing articles to ship with the steamship Admiral Schley, a vessel carrying mail to Port Antonio, Jamaica, declined to make the trip, and in so doing delayed the mail about three-quarters of an hour on Wednesday, was held for the grand jury by United States Commissioner Fiske today, charged with retarding the United States mails.

Assistant Attorney John H. Casey summarized the case as follows: "This man disregards the rights of the United States; disregards the law on the statute book as to the retarding of the United States mails; disregards the consequences of his action in retarding mails in order to stand by his union."

Keenan refused to sail with the vessel because he did not like the accommodations provided for the men.

MOUND BUILDERS HAD GREAT FEAST.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

COLUMBUS (O.) Aug. 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] W. C. Mills, curator of the museum of the Ohio State Archaeological and Historical Society, has made a discovery in Ross county, a few miles south of Chillicothe, which he believes will have an important bearing upon the final estimate of the attainments of the Mound Builders. He and a party of Ohio State University students have unearthed a prehistoric village, whose inhabitants left signs that they knew something of agriculture and the domestic arts.

Thus far, forty-nine pits have been excavated, and in several was found in the heaps of parched corn and beans evidence that the Mound Builders did not subsist entirely on fish and game, as has been thought hitherto by many archaeologists. The pits contain also rude weaving instruments, needles, bobbins, and other household implements, some made of flint, others of bone.

One pit bears traces of a feast to which Mills believed 1500 people sat down. A hole in the center of the apartment, four feet in diameter and ten feet deep, tells the story of how the Mound Builders cooked the food. The clay soil from the bottom to the top of the excavation was burned to a deep red, while 450 stones heaped up in the center of the hole show signs of having once been fired to red heat. Mussels from the river supplied the first course, and more than 20,000 shells show either that the diners were very numerous or that their appetites were extremely keen.

BARKER'S BIG BOATS AWAIT THE ENEMY.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

BAR HARBOR (Me.) Aug. 6.—A tug from Admiral Barker's squadron which, in the war maneuvers now going on, is defending the Maine coast, which put in here today for mail, reported Admiral Barker, with the flagship Kearsarge, the battleships Alabama and Illinois and the tugs Peoria and Nina off Desert Rock, about twenty-eight miles from here. The old schoolship Hartford and the Chesapeake are guarding the mouth of Fisherman's Bay near the Egg Rock lighthouse, though it was at first intended to have the training ships participate in the maneuvers.

Only the scout boats have gone any great distance from this section of the coast. The superior force apparently is held in readiness to repulse any attack. Should the enemy attempt an anchorage, it would be necessary for the superior force to attack them within five hours.

BAD WEATHER NO AID.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

PORTLAND (Me.) Aug. 6.—With thick and stormy weather along the coast, it would seem as if the attacking fleet under Rear-Admiral Sands had the best possible conditions today in which to win the war game by evading the defending squadron under Rear-Admiral Barker and establishing itself in some of the numerous little harbors of the Eastern Maine coast, but at a late hour tonight nothing had been heard from the "enemy." Admiral Sands has still about three days in which to make his dash for the coast.

A foreign liner brought in today the last word of the attacking squadron, the entire fleet being sighted several hundred miles off shore the evening of August 4. At that time the fleet was steaming in an easterly direction.

INYO COUNTY'S SHERIFF.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 6.—Sheriff C. A. Collins of Inyo county called at the office of Sheriff David Reese this morning and tendered his services in pursuing the prisoners who escaped from Folsom. He was informed that Sheriff Reese was in Eldorado county with Sheriff Bosquit. Collins said he had some business at Stockton, but would try to finish it in time to permit him to return to this city tonight. Collins stated he would render all assistance possible, and could place a number of men in the field with whom he trailed the outlaw, James McKinney, who killed two officers at Bakersfield recently, before he himself was killed.

REESE AND THE DOGS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 6.—Sheriff David Reese returned this morning from the Webber Creek country where he went last Tuesday with C. F. Fennell and Sheriff Bosquit to put bloodhounds on the trail of the escaped convicts seen in that locality.

Reese said the dogs had found some trails late yesterday, but they lost the scent. All these trails were comparatively old, and the hounds were unable to hold them for that reason.

Fennell was confident a fresh trail would be scented in the neighborhood and had determined to remain in the creek bottoms a day or two longer. This is the country in which Convicts Seavis, Case and Davis have been seen at different times within the past week.

Reese said neither he nor Bosquit placed much confidence in the report that Case had visited the Planters' Hotel at Shingle Springs, twelve miles below Placerville, last Monday night and had eaten supper there. Despite the fact that several people say the man who ate supper at the hotel was Case, and that he carried food to a companion who was waiting for him near the cemetery, Reese thinks Case and his companions are still in the Webber Creek bottoms.

At 11:30 o'clock this morning Clerk Smith at Folsom prison said word had been received from Sheriff Bosquit that the men who are trailing the men reported to have been seen in the vicinity of Fair Play, on the Consumnes River, last Tuesday, are now a few miles southeast of Dogtown Mills, and heading for Silver Lake. Bosquit informed the prison authorities that he did not place much credence in the report. He said he had received no other reports from the men in the field. He was then at Placerville, having returned from Webber Creek. He stated his men and the hounds had been left at Jurgens's ranch on Webber Creek last night. All were about worn out with following the fruitless search for the fugitives, but would take up the work of tracking again this morning. If no fresh trails are found today, the hounds will be taken to Shingle Springs and worked from that place to determine if there is anything in the report that Convict Case was there last Monday night. As stated, Bosquit does not believe there is much foundation in that report.

CORONER'S VERDICTS.

MILITIAMEN'S CASES.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

PLACERVILLE, Aug. 6.—The Coroner's inquiry into the deaths of Festus Rutherford and William G. Jones, the young Placerville militiamen, who were killed by the convicts on Saturday evening last, and the inquest into the accidental death of Philip Springer, who was killed by pickets on the same night, as he was wandering along the road, for refusing to obey a command to halt, occurred today. The verdict in the cases of Rutherford and Jones was that they met death at the hands of escaped convicts from Folsom penitentiary, who killed the two men with murderous intent.

In the case of Springer, it was shown that C. L. Westlake and William Blake, the pickets, had fired simultaneously on the man. The young men were exonerated, the jury returning a verdict that Springer was killed accidentally by the pickets in the performance of their duty.

NOT CASE, BUT A TRAMP.

THOSE CACHEVILLE ARRESTS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WOODLAND, Aug. 6.—After a pursuit of several hours officers today arrested a negro and white man near Cacheville on suspicion of being Seavis and Frank Case of Los Angeles, two of the escaped convicts from Folsom prison. It developed that the men arrested were not Seavis and Case, but were tramps presumably. They are still in custody.

Search has been prosecuted vigorously all day in Yolo county for Fred Howard, who accompanied James Roberts, who was captured at Davisville yesterday. A man answering Howard's description was seen at Winters. When last seen he was headed toward Davisville, traveling through the brush on Putah Creek. A constable and posse are hot on his trail, and it is expected that he will be caught before daybreak. The officers at Davisville have been notified, and a posse has gone from there to head off the fugitive.

COLOR LINE IN A

Petty White Officers Refuse to Eat at Table with a Negro.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The color line has been drawn in the navy, and in Brooklyn, where much feeling has been aroused over the fact that a negro, Isaac Miller, has been permitted to go to table with the chief petty officers.

Miller has been in the navy a number of years, and by his steady promotion until he is now chief carpenter's mate. He passed a satisfactory examination for his present position recently, and was ordered to Tuesday last by Captain Cowles, commanding the receiving ship Columbia. His new rank entitled Miller to a seat at the petty officers' mess. He took his seat there Wednesday noon, but upon sight of the officer left and refused to sit at the table with him. Since then he has had a table to himself.

The white petty officers declare they have never been called upon to sit at the table of Miller's race, and that they will not do so now, even if he does outrank them in rank. Miller seems unconcern regarding the matter exhibited, and does not appear to mind eating his meals alone.

Miller is not a full-blooded negro, and, at all events, the Brooklyn Eagle says Miller's right to be protected, as the navy makes no distinction as to color.

PORTLAND (Or.) Aug. 6.—After being more than a year with a cargo of general merchandise from Antwerp, the Russian bark Grand Duchess Olga arrived in the Columbia River today. The passage is one of the longest on record, and but for the fact that she has been spoken every now and then, would probably have long since been placed among the lost. The Grand Duchess left Antwerp for Portland with a cargo consigned to Girvin & Co. early in the year 1902. She had a rough passage down the canal, but met with unfair weather in the South Atlantic, and off the coast of South America was caught in a blow that caused her to send her to the bottom. She had lost her bowsprit, foremast and main topmast, however, she succeeded in reaching Rio de Janeiro. Several months were lost in the Brazilian port.

STOCKTON, Aug. 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Seaton R. Heatt, a student in the University of California at Berkeley, has been leading his mother a merry chase over the State, but she has finally run him here, simply because officers of this city were required to arrest the young man and hold him on a charge of assault alleged to have been committed in Ba[illegible]. Heatt came down from Portland to [illegible] colleges and during the past two [illegible] weeks has been enjoying a va-

TO OPEN FOREST OF WHITE PINE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Huge lumber syndicates, in which Pittsburgh is largely represented, have joined interests in the formation of the American Lumber Company. The capital of the company is $2,000,000, and it has a bond issue of $800,000. Its officers are C. A. Ward of Chicago, president, and E. E. Crepin of Chicago, vice-president. The object of the company is to develop 200,000 acres of rich virgin white pine forest in western New Mexico. It is estimated that the property has on it upward of three billion feet of white pine, the supply of which will go far to replenish the market depleted for over thirty years. The enterprise is expected to prove the most important development in the lumber trade of the decade. Scarcity of white pine has sent prices up 50 per cent. within a year, with no prospects of relief until the new concern begins to replenish the market. It is thought that the new supply will be available in October.

Access to the property will be had by the Santa Fé Central Railroad, now being built by Pittsburghers. It will afford ready entrance to markets in the country where lumber is exceedingly choice. The road is being built from the Santa Fé to Roswell, N. M., and will connect with the Rock Island system. The lumber company, it is said, has already arranged for a freight rate of half a cent a ton a mile to Chicago.

HUNTINGTON'S HOLD REMAINS AS BEFORE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 6.—A holding company with a capital of $50,000,000 for the Hellman and Huntington lines in Southern California has been abandoned. Senator W. A. Clark of Montana and E. H. Harriman were to have held a minority of stock in the proposed company, Hellman and Huntington keeping the control. The interested parties have decided not to disturb the existing four companies, which represent the Hellman and Huntington lines. They comprise the Pacific Electric and Interurban Electric, with $10,000,000 of stock, and $10,000,000 of bonds; the Los Angeles Street Railway with $5,000,000 stock, and a like issue of bonds, and the Los Angeles Traction, recently bought by the Pacific Electric, for about $2,000,000.

CALIFORNIA NORTHWESTERN.

PART OF A COAST SYSTEM.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 6.—E. H. Harriman, head of the syndicate which controls the California Northwestern Railway, is planning to make that road part of a coast system, that will eventually have its northern terminus at Astoria, where direct connections will be made with the Oregon Railway and Navigation Company's line.

The extension of the local road to the State of Washington is not a project contemplated for the far future, but is actually under consideration. Engineers of the Harriman syndicate are already engaged in defining the route and estimating the cost and the time that will be necessary to carry out the enterprise.

UNION PACIFIC REPORT.

SURPLUS SHOWS AN INCREASE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

POINT RICHMOND, Aug. 6.—Pierre Bray, a young Frenchman, was taken into custody this morning by Constable John E. Bouquet, on a charge of attempted blackmail.

On Monday night of last week William Mintzer, a wealthy man, who lives in the foothills, three miles east of Point Richmond, heard a shot fired in front of his window. He went out immediately and could see no one. But he found a letter on the porch which told him that the shot was fired that he might know that the writer could have killed him if he had intended to. The letter than asked him to leave $5000 in a certain fence corner near the house the following evening and to fire a gun as a signal that the request had been complied with.

Mintzer filled a bag with stones and carried it in the designated place next night and set a watch. About 2 o'clock a form appeared, but the night was so foggy that the man evaded capture. Mintzer then consulted with Constable Bouquet. The latter sent a note by letter to a young French servant girl in Mintzer's home, who was under suspicion. The letter offered him $10 per week wages than he was receiving, if he replied favorably. The two letters were compared and the writing seemed to be identical. Another letter was dispatched, telling him to call at the house the following morning, when he was taken into custody by Constable Bouquet and taken to the County Jail at Martinez. The prisoner is not quite 19 years old. He had been employed at Mintzer's home for three months. Two weeks after he left there an attempt was made to burn the fine country home of the Mintzers, which had only recently been completed at a cost of $30,000. At the time, Mintzer offered a reward of $2000 for the arrest and conviction of the incendiary.

NEW DIVORCE LAW TEST.

SUBMITTED TO SUPREME COURT.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 6.—The new divorce law passed by the last Legislature, forbidding final decrees within one year after the granting of divorce, came before the Supreme Court today. The case was brought before the court by Frank C. Deyoe of Mendocino, who was given a divorce on the ground of desertion and then sued out a writ of mandate asking that the Superior Court be compelled to grant him a final decree.

Assemblyman McCartney, the author of the bill, appeared in its defense. The court took the case under advisement.

CABIN DYNAMITED.

GOLDEN LAKE EXCITEMENT.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEVADA CITY, Aug. 6.—The miners around Golden Lake, Sierra county, are much excited over two recent events there. On Sunday night last an old cabin at the head of Golden Lake, owned and occupied by John Egbert, was blown up with dynamite. The report was so loud that it was heard at Bassett's station, six miles away. The discovery was made Monday by some packers, who found parts of the Egbert cabin a mile away. Egbert has not been seen since and it is feared that he perished in the explosion.

A few days ago a cabin belonging to a miner named Shale, who also resides near Golden Lake was burned. Shale was in Downieville at the time and is satisfied that the fire was of incendiary origin.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 6.—A strike of all the electrical workers of the local power, lighting, gas, street-railway and electric corporations, as a movement in sympathy with the striking telephone linemen, is considered probable by labor leaders in the event that the officials of the telephone company do not arrive at a settlement with their striking employés.

CANUCKS NOW PLAY FAIR.

SALMON-FISHING WAR OVER.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SEATTLE (Wash.) Aug. 6.—As a direct result of the Treasury Department's recent ruling permitting American salmon packers a drawback of duties paid on foreign fish caught for export, the Canadian packers have sought a truce in the warfare going on near the border waters. A conference was held here yesterday between J. A. Russell of Vancouver, B. C., and T. B. McGovern of the Pacific Packing and Navigation Company, at which it was agreed that the Canadians would cease fishing in American waters and buying American fish and the Americans, so far as the salmon combine is concerned, will leave the Canadians their own fish. The Canadians for years have encouraged fishing in American waters for their canneries, but the duty on salmon prevented retaliation by the Americans. With the drawback allowed by the Treasury the Americans were put in position to retaliate, which the Canadians have hastened to forestall.

TRY TO BURN ASHLAND.

THREE INCENDIARY FIRES.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

PORTLAND (Or.) Aug. 6.—A special to the Oregonian from Ashland, Or., reports intense alarm there over what is believed to be a deliberate attempt to burn the town. Since 10 o'clock last night three undoubtedly incendiary fires occurred, which only the vigilance of the fire department prevented from wiping out the place. At midnight a dozen special policemen went on guard and the people generally were awake in expectancy of more fires. At 1 o'clock this morning seven tramps were arrested on suspicion.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 6.—The United States Weather Bureau at Point Reyes reports that the schooner Copper Queen, from Rogue River for San Francisco, went ashore at 2 o'clock this morning on the beach four miles north of the Point Reyes life-saving station. The crew was saved and are now at the Reeves ranch. It is thought that the vessel can be saved.

KINGMAN EXCITED.

GOLD IN GRANITE HILLS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

KINGMAN (Aris.) Aug. 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] One of the greatest gold excitements in the history of Arizona is now on at this place. R. A. Curley, a mining man of Denver a few weeks ago discovered that great reefs of what was supposed to be granite, three miles south of Kingman, carry values from $10 to $100 a ton in gold. He associated with him M. B. Carpenter and the Sullivan brothers, lawyer and banker, respectively, of Denver, and purchased the ground from G. C. Davis for a large sum.

WINE AT ST. LOUIS.

MORE SPACE ASKED FOR.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 6.—Leading wine men of the State met today to discuss the plan of making a worthy exhibit at the St. Louis Exposition. A committee was empowered to confer with the California Commissioners as to the most suitable installation of the exhibit. The proposition put forth by the commissioners is that the wine men furnish the wine and contribute $50 toward the cost of installation.

An application has been sent by the State Board of Trade to the chief of the Department of Agriculture, F. W. Taylor, asking for the allotment of 15,000 feet more of space in the Agricultural Building at the St. Louis Exposition. At present 40,000 has been granted to California.

SLOPE BRIEFS.

Lads and Giant Powder.

SAN JOSE, Aug. 6.—John and Joseph McDermott, the ten and eleven-year-old sons of P. F. McDermott, the Southern Pacific station agent at Alviso, were dangerously injured by the explosion of some pieces of giant powder this afternoon. They found it lying beside the track, and not knowing what it was, took it home in a can. In their own yard it fell down, or they dropped the can, and the explosion followed, burning both boys severely.

"Blackleg" Spreads Alarmingly.

GRASS VALLEY, Aug. 6.—Despite every effort to prevent it, "blackleg" continues to spread in this county in the vicinity of Chicago Park. Within a week it is said over sixty head of cattle have died. The disease is no longer confined to calves, but it is attacking full-grown animals.

Madera Railway Restrained.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 6.—Superior Judge Murasky today granted a writ of injunction restraining the Madera Railway Company and the Madera Granite Company from constructing a railroad over land belonging to the Raymond Granite Company.

Seized Empty Cigar Boxes.

STOCKTON, Aug. 6.—Deputy Revenue Collector Ellis today seized empty cigar boxes in four Stockton saloons as evidence against the proprietors, who failed to cancel the government stamps. Last Tuesday he secured evidence of the same kind against two others. The penalty is $5 fine for every uncanceled stamp. Deputy Ellis recently warned local dealers to comply with the law and cancel cigar stamps, and is now pressing offenders.

College Park Postoffice Robbed.

SAN JOSE, Aug. 6.—The postoffice at College Park and an adjoining stationery store belonging to P. R. Wright were entered by burglars last night. Ten dollars in stamps and small change was taken from the postoffice and about $2 from the store.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 6.—Mrs. Clara A. Evans of Phoenix, Aris., a prominent teacher and former member of the Territorial Board of Education, is very ill at the home of a friend in this city. Little hope is entertained of her recovery.

Watson Wreck Suit Dismissed.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 6.—The United States Circuit Court today dismissed the suit of Watson against the Southern Pacific Company. This suit was brought by the plaintiff to recover $2500 damages claimed to have been done to plaintiff's baggage in a wreck that occurred at Byron last year. Judge Beatty declared that his court had no jurisdiction by reason of the fact that neither of the parties are inhabitants of this district, the Southern Pacific Company being a resident of Kentucky and the plaintiff, Watson, a resident of New York.

Big Fire on "Goose Flat."

PRESCOTT (Aris.) Aug. 6.—Fire early this morning destroyed three large boarding and roomin-houses in the part of town known as "Goose Flat." The houses were owned by Mrs. Alex Thompson and valued at $20,000. They were a complete loss, together with the furniture, the insurance being $4000. A lighted lamp left for a lodger exploded and started the fire.

Horse Killers Caught.

NAPA, Aug. 6.—Deputy Sheriff Charles Stoll of Cordelia telephoned to the Sheriff's office at Napa, Wednesday afternoon, to arrest three men whom he described. Under-Sheriff Daly caught the men, who are George Walsh, J. Williams and T. Williams. They are charged by F. M. Souza of Cordelia with cruelty to animals, in that they cruelly killed a horse in Sousa's dooryard.

William D. English Very Ill.

OAKLAND, Aug. 6.—The condition of William D. English, former secretary of the Harbor Commission, and at present general manager and vice-president of the Contra Costa Water Company, has within the past twenty-four hours grown alarming, and tomorrow morning he is to be removed to a hospital, where he is to be operated upon.

Delinquent Jurors Cited.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 6.—Nine citizens who had been served with summones to appear in the United States Circuit Court last Monday morning to serve on the jury panel failed to appear and Judge Beatty issued a citation today commanding them to appear before him on Tuesday of next week to show cause why they should not be punished for contempt. Their names are Bernard Bienenfield, J. A. Folger, Charles Nelson, Horace Newell, J. C. Peters, George Robinson, T. Tillman, Jr, and Herman L. Welch.

Eligible for Code Commissioner.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 6.—The Attorney General of the State has replied to the recent question of Gov. Pardee asking if a member of the last Legislature is now eligible to appointment to the office of Code Commissioner. The Attorney-General is of the opinion that a member of the last Legislature is eligible to appointment to the office of Code Commissioner.

The candidates for the position have been John F. Davis of Amador county, who was a member of the Legislature of 1902, and Thomas H. Selvage of Eureka, Humboldt county, a member of the Legislature at the last session

IRISH LAND BILL MOVES.

Reaches Committee Stage in House of Lords After Close Division on Amendments that Bode Trouble.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

LONDON, Aug. 6.—[By Atlantic Cable.] The committee stage of the Irish Land Bill was reached in the House of Lords this afternoon. There was an unusually large attendance of Irish peers. The divisions of the amendments indicated a determined fight, and on the division of the first amendment the government narrowly escaped defeat by one vote. In the following division the government was defeated by three votes. Neither amendment was vital to the bill, but as notice has been given of thirty-four pages of amendments, this early opposition to the government aroused Nationalist circles' apprehension of trouble before the committee stage of the bill is concluded. Another amendment moved by Lord Abercorn (Conservative) was carried against the government by a majority of three. After that the progress was easier to clause 42, upon reaching which the House of Lords adjourned.

SUGAR BILL PROGRESSES.

In the House of Commons, after James Bryce (Liberal) and Charles Wentworth Dilke (Advanced Liberal) and others had vigorously denounced the sugar convention bill as a protectionist measure, the bill was passed to a third reading by a vote of 119 to 87.

PROCEEDINGS AGAINST DEIBEL.

CLEVELAND (O.) Aug. 6.—Criminal proceedings were instituted in the Federal Court here today by attorneys representing the City National Bank of Canton, O., against Albert W. Deibel, teller of the latter institution, on the charge of embezzling about $22,000 in funds and falsifying the bank's books.

CUPID'S FOOD

After a Bump on the Pike.

No one expects true love ever to run perfectly smooth, and it doesn't.

A Texas girl was thrown from her horse, and how food righted the situation she best can tell.

"Seven years ago last March I was thrown from my horse and although I did not seem much hurt at the time in a few months I began to suffer, gradually growing so weak that I had to stop school and never felt well. I had no appetite and was so nervous I could not do work of any kind. Five years ago I became engaged to be married as soon as my health was better but we waited and waited for years and there was no change.

"About New Year's a year ago I said: We will wait three months longer and if I am not lots better we will part forever for it seemed I was doomed to suffer the rest of my life.

A few weeks later a friend asked me if I had ever tried Grape-Nuts food and begged me to get a package. I did this not having any hopes of it helping me but before I had used the first package I felt stronger than I had for a long time.

"So I continued the use of Grape-Nuts twice a day with plenty of cream and now the United States does not hold gold enough to buy my health and the happiness that has become mine because of this health. It was not long before I was entirely well and strong once more and last September I was married and am the happiest young woman in the world and all of it is the outcome of using the food Grape-Nuts.

"Now that I have written my letter I feel that it is not a success for I cannot find words that seem half strong enough to me to tell you how thankful I am." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Corregidor and Cavite to Be United Thereby.

Revenue Boats and Transports to Be Equipped With It.

Demurrer to Machen Indictments Overruled—Veteran Clerk Arrested—Reformers.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Advices have been received at the Navy Department from the naval station in the Philippines that arrangements have been completed for installation of the wireless telegraph system between Cavite and Corregidor Island, a distance of about twenty-five miles. Corregidor is the first stopping place for vessels arriving at and departing from Manila. It has been made an important naval station, and it is proposed to connec it by wireless telegraph with Cavite, where the naval shops are located.

The Navy Department has already ordered wireless apparatus, and an appropriation of $3000 has been made by the Philippine government for the maintenance of wireless stations. The masts to which the wires will be attached are to be 120 feet high. The plans of the Navy Department contemplate equipping all vessels with the wireless system and the Philippine government is considering the question of installing a wireless system on its revenue boats and army transports, so that communication between ships and shore may be maintained off Cavite or Corregidor, as well as between those points.

DEMURRER OVERRULED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6—The District Criminal Court today overruled the demurrer to the indictments for bribery in connection with the government purchase of letter-box fasteners of August W. Machen, the former general superintendent of the Free Delivery Service, and D. B. Croft, and S. A. Groff, of this city. Counsel for the defendant noted exceptions to the ruling.

CHINESE REFORMERS' ACTIVITY.

APPEAL TO SECRETARY HAY.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The State Department received a telegram this morning from Chen Chung, president of the Chinese Reform Society of San Francisco, urging that the United States government should use its influence in preventing the delivery of the Chinese reformers at Shanghai to the Chinese government for trial. No action has been taken by this government in the matter beyond instruction to its representatives in China to insist upon a strict construction of treaty rights.

WASHINGTON BRIEFS

Time for Railroad Safeguards.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—The Interstate Commerce Commission today ordered another temporary extension until October 15 of the time within which a number of railroads must complete their safety equipments.

Purchase of Silver.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—The Treasury Department today purchased 75,000 ounces of silver at an average of 55 1-5 cents, for Philippine coinage, delivery to be made at San Francisco.

Col. Lippincott not Promoted.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—Col. Henry Lippincott of the medical department, who was among those designated to be appointed a brigadier-general and placed on the retired list, will not be promoted. Under the direction of the President those officers to be promoted must have a civil-war service of one year, and it was decided that Col. Lippincott did not come within that provision.

COLORADO LAND FRAUDS.

Millions of Acres Alleged to Have Been Transferred to a Corporation.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

DENVER, Aug. 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] An official estimate of land sold from holdings of the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company and subsidiary corporations in Colorado accounts for three-quarters of a million acres of government land that has been acquired at various times in the last ten years through homestead titles or by aid of entries under timber and stone acts which allow title to pass from the government to the entry man at the rate of $250 an acre, instead of $10, the regular price for coal and mineral lands.

Some of this land was entered in good faith, before the valuable character of it became known, and cannot be questioned, but the larger portion of the public grants have been taken up covertly by agents during the last five years. It is said the amount due the government in Colorado will aggregate $10,000,000. The extent of land frauds in the State leaves little doubt that Congress the coming session will demand full investigation.

CHINA'S REIGN OF TERROR.

Autumn Execution List May Include Marshal Su, Who Failed to Crush Rebellion—Young Reformers Flee.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

PEKING, Aug. 6.—[By Asiatic Cable.] Edward T. Williams, the Chinese secretary of the United States Legation, has made an extensive investigation into the execution of Shen Chien, the reform journalist who was put to death by order of the Empress Dowager, July 31, and has handed Minister Conger a report proving that the executioners, after beating Chien for three or four hours, despaired of being able to fulfill the Dowager Empress' orders, and yielding to Chien's pleadings to end his misery, strangled him with their own hands.

Six scholars, whose essays at recent examinations proposing reforms in the administration of China, were denounced by the censors, have fled from Peking through fear of arrest and execution. It is supposed that they have gone to Japan.

Marshal Su, who was summoned to the capital to explain his failure to crush the revolution in Southern China, has had an audience with the Dowager Empress which is reported to have been unsatisfactory to him. It is reported in official circles that Su will be included in the autumn list of those condemned to be executed.

CARNEGIE'S GREAT GIFT TO HIS NATIVE TOWN.

TWO AND A HALF MILLION DOLLARS AND FINE PARK.

Says His Action is an Experiment, Decided on Twenty Years Ago, in Introducing Sweetness and Light Into the Lives of the Toiling Masses.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

LONDON, Aug. 6.—[By Atlantic Cable.] Andrew Carnegie has donated to the town of Dunfermline Scotland, his birthplace, $2,500,000 in United States Steel Corporation bonds and Pittenkrief Park. Carnegie stipulates that the fund shall be employed in maintaining and keeping up the estate of Pittenkrief, which contains the tower in which Malcolm Cameron married Princess Margaret, and which Carnegie recently purchased as a pleasure ground.

The gift is also to be used for the maintenance of a theater, the encouragement of horticulture among the working classes and the advancement of technical education in the district which is the center of the linen industry. The administrators of the gift are also charged with the advancement of moral and material interests of the town.

In handing over to fifteen representative citizens of his native town, Dunfermline, who were his guests at Skibo Castle early this week, the trust deed transferring to them $2,500,000 in bonds and Pittenkrief Park, Carnegie explained the objects he had in view in these words:

"It is an experiment the object of which is to attempt to introduce into the monotonous lives of the toiling masses of Dunfermline more sweetness and light; to give them, especially the young, some improvement, some elevating conditions of life which their residence elsewhere would have denied, so that a child in his native town will feel, however far he may have roamed, that simply by virtue of being such, his life has been made happier and better."

Carnegie proceeded to say that he had provided for this experiment in his will more than twenty years ago, but his retirement from business enabled him to put the scheme into operation during his lifetime. The problem set to the trustees is, "What can be done in towns to benefit the masses by money in the hands of the most public-spirited citizens?" If it was proved that good could be done, then the trustees would open new fields to the rich, which, Carnegie added, he believed they would hereafter be more and more anxious to find for their surplus wealth.

Carnegie exhorted the trustees not to be afraid of making mistakes, to try many things freely, but to discuss just as freely, keeping in touch with the masses and constantly aiming to improve their tastes and to give Dunfermline something beyond what was possessed by other cities.

RUSSIANIZING KOREA.

Two Hundred Acres of Land on Yalu River Acquired—Telegraph Privilege Denied—Railway Progressing.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SEOUL (Korea) Aug. 6.—[By Asiatic Cable.] An agreement has practically been concluded between Russia and Korea whereby Russia acquires 200 acres of land at Yongampho on the Yalu River, on a ninety-nine-year lease.

The application of M. Pavloff, the Russian Minister for permission to erect telegraph and telephone lines on Yongampho, has been refused.

Previous dispatches said work on the Russian telegraph line between Au Tung and Yongampho had been abandoned in consequence of Korean remonstrances. Thereupon M. Pavloff objected to the Japanese telegraph line from Seoul to Fusan, which was constructed prior to the Russian line. The Korean government asked the Japanese Minister to have the line removed, but the minister declined to do so.

The extension to the northward of the Seoul-Wiju Railway is progressing.

CATHOLIC TEMPERANCE.

PITTSBURGH (Pa.) When the national convention of the Catholic Total Abstinence Union of America met today the Credentials' Committee reported 916 delegates present. Reports of diocesan unions showed increasing interest and rapid growth all over the country. The session concluded with papers on the history of the temperance movement for 250 years by Thomas H. Keogh of Springfield, Mass., and "Strong Men" by William O'Brien.

The minimum temperature was 65 deg. at 6 a.m., and the maximum 74 at 4 p.m. Temperatures in the seventies generally prevailed in the Middle West, except in the Ohio Valley, where it is slightly warmer, and in the Lake Superior region, where Marquette and Sault Ste. Marie report a maximum of 56. Temperatures at 7 a.m.: New York, Philadelphia, 62; Boston, 58; Washington, Chicago, 66; Minneapolis, 58; Cincinnati, 68; St. Louis, 72.

SOLD WHEN BABY GIRL.

After spending fifteen of the seventeen years she has lived in alleged bondage on a South Dakota ranch, Miss Louise Haby has been rescued, and is now safe in the home of her uncle, John Mayer, of this city, who recently discovered her condition. The young girl was sold by her father to a Dakota planter for $25, it is said, when she was 2 years old. She never left the ranch in her life, never went to school, and her existence from her earliest recollection was one of horror, she says.

MAMMOTH LEGACY TAX.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

MILWAUKEE, Aug. 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Wells estate will have to pay a government legacy tax of $1,500,000. Mrs. Charles W. Norris, the adopted daughter of Wells and the inheritor of the estate, has received informal notice from the Solicitor of Internal Revenue that she could not be considered as a blood relative. The decision makes a difference of $1,000,000 to the beneficiary.

MICHIGAN'S INTERURBAN LINE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BENTON HARBOR (Mich.) Aug. 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Prospects for another interurban line through the city are exceedingly favorable. J. G. MacMichael of Chicago announced today that if sufficient cooperation could be secured, he would at once begin operations. The road would run through Fair Plain and along the banks of the St. Joe River to the various resorts.

CATS AND CATTLE DIED.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SIOX CITY (Iowa) Aug. 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] One of the most remarkable atmospheric depressions is reported from Oacoma, S. D. Following the hottest day ever experienced, there came an atmospheric condition, lasting only a few minutes, but fatal to live stock and greatly distressing human beings. During the day nearly every kitten in the vicinity died, apparently from the effects of some gaseous matter in the air, and a dozen head of cattle fell dead.

ELECTCRIC LINE IN IOWA.

JEWELRY HOUSES LOSE BY SMART YOUNG MAN.

FREDERICK W. LEWIS GETS AWAY WITH A LARGE STOCK.

Engaged Handsome Offices in a San Francisco Business Block and then Made the Rounds—Secured on Credit a Great Quantity of Valuable and Easily-disposed-of Goods.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Frederick W. Lewis, a young man who engaged handsome offices in the Parrott building and styled himself a manufacturing jeweler and optician, as well as Coast representative for large eastern firms, is missing, and a round half-dozen business houses in this city are heavy losers by his disappearance.

Lewis left his office in this city late last Saturday afternoon, stating to his stenographer that he was going on a business trip to Portland. Before he left he made the rounds of the wholesale jewelry and optical houses and, relying on credit, secured a great quantity of valuable and easily-disposed-of goods.

The firms report a total loss of about $20,000, but it is believed this sum will be many times multiplied when the real extent of the missing man's transactions are known.

Lewis originally began his career by buying the merchants of this city by purchasing considerable quantities of goods from the Standard Optical Company and paying cash for them. After establishing a credit with the optical company, he used its name as reference, and, being of smooth address, was able to secure jewelry and goods from other houses on the credit system. It is known to have made heavy orders on eastern houses for jewelry and optical goods, and it is believed that the credit which he established in this way allowed him to secure large invoices of valuable goods without putting up any payment whatsoever.

Lewis is described as about six feet in height, of dark complexion, with a dark face. When last seen he wore a black Fedora hat and a dark suit. He has a convivial disposition, and was widely known along the tenderloin, where he is said to cut quite a swath.

PEARL SEAMAN OF SHANGHAI MARRIED IN CHICAGO.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Aug. 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] All the way from far Cathay a woman has traveled to wed the man of her choice. The ceremony took place shortly after their meeting today in Chicago. The woman was Mrs. Pearl ..., widow of a rich American merchant in Shanghai, and she is now ... Philip Herbert, wife of one of the United States sailors who fought their way into Peking.

The Seamans arrived here a few days ago from San Francisco. Herbert was recently discharged after an honorable service of seven years in the navy. He recently fell heir to an estate left by a relative in England, $20,000 with which to begin life, and to the money his wife brings he is looking for business.

Herbert's ... originally began his career in Boxer troubles in China led to their marriage. Herbert was on shore duty from one of the American naval vessels in Shanghai in the summer of 1900.

JEWELRY HOUSES LOSE BY SMART YOUNG MAN.

FREDERICK W. LEWIS GETS AWAY WITH A LARGE STOCK.

Engaged Handsome Offices in a San Francisco Business Block and then Made the Rounds—Secured on Credit a Great Quantity of Valuable and Easily-disposed-of Goods.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Frederick W. Lewis, a young man who engaged handsome offices in the Parrott building and styled himself a manufacturing jeweler and optician, as well as Coast representative for large eastern firms, is missing, and a round half-dozen business houses in this city are heavy losers by his disappearance.

Lewis left his office in this city late last Saturday afternoon, stating to his stenographer that he was going on a business trip to Portland. Before he left he made the rounds of the wholesale jewelry and optical houses and, relying only on credit, secured a great quantity of valuable and easily-disposed-of goods.

The firms report a total loss of about $5000, but it is believed this sum will be many times multiplied when the real extent of the missing man's transactions are known.

Lewis originally began his career among the merchants of this city by purchasing considerable quantities of goods from the Standard Optical Company and paying cash for them. After establishing a credit with the optical company, he used its name as reference, and, being of smooth address, was able to secure jewelry and goods from other houses on the credit system. It is known to have made heavy orders on eastern houses for jewelry and optical goods, and it is believed that the credit which he established in this way allowed him to secure large invoices of valuable goods without putting up any payment whatsoever.

Lewis is described as about six feet in height, of dark complexion, with dark face. When last seen he wore a black Fedora hat and a dark suit. He has a genial disposition, and was widely known along the tenderloin, where he is said to cut a swath.

ELOPED FROM BOXERS. SHE WEDS HER HERO.

PEARL SEAMAN OF SHANGHAI MARRIED IN CHICAGO.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
CHICAGO, Aug. 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] All the way from far Cathay a woman has traveled to wed the man she loves. The ceremony took place when the two met their meeting in Chicago. The woman was Mrs. Pearl Seaman, widow of a rich American merchant in Shanghai, and she is now Mrs. Philip Herbert, wife of one of the United States sailors who fought their way into Peking.

Mrs. Seaman arrived here a few days ago from San Francisco. Herbert was recently discharged after an honorable service of seven years in the navy. He recently fell heir to an estate left by a relative in England. With this and with which to begin life, added to the money his wife brings with her, he is looking for business.

The Boxer troubles in China led to the marriage. Herbert was on shore leave from one of the American naval vessels in Shanghai in the summer of 1900.

Anti-foreign demonstrations against foreigners from every country were of frequent occurrence in those troublesome times. One day he was walking down the principal thoroughfare of the city when he saw a woman surrounded by a menacing crowd. She was alone, seemed in great danger, and that all he needed to know. Although a stranger to her from his comrades who had been detailed in a body to guard the homes of American citizens ashore, he ran to the woman's assistance, attacking the Chinese throng right and left, and effected her rescue. After the surrender of Peking, Herbert returned to his ship, and his acquaintance with the young widow was resumed. Then there was a separation that lasted until today. But during the intervening time there has been a steady correspondence between the two.

PROF. BELL TO GO ALOFT.

With Langley's Help the Telephone Man Will Try to Fly.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
BALDOCK (C. B.) Aug. 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Prof. Alexander Graham Bell has gone forward toward solving the airship problem. In a few days he will make an experiment which he says will place the feasibility of the airship beyond peradventure. Prof. Langley of the Smithsonian Institution will arrive here in a day or two and be associated with Bell in the conduct of the experiment. Bell's success has been almost altogether a matter of kites, and his great success in this line makes him confident of the solution of the airship question. He has abandoned the use of silk in the construction of his machines, and has taken lighter and stronger material, which resembles silk in texture. Thus far he has succeeded in having his machine remain stationary in the air, and has himself risen in one of the airships.

In the experiment in which he and Langley will be associated with him the object will be to seek to obtain full control of the machine. The experiment will be conducted on Bras d'Or lands. Bell says that even if the experiment is successful, air flight is still in its infancy.

MURDEROUS MRS. HODGE CHANGES HER STORY.

SURPRISED BY CORPSE OF MAN SHE CONFESSED SLAYING.

Old Peddler Ryan's Skull Shows Bullet Hole Which She Declares She Could not Have Inflicted—Husband at High Grove Heard from.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]
SALT LAKE (Utah) Aug. 6.—Mrs. Aurora Hodge, who confessed in Grand Rapids, Mich., that she was implicated in the murder of William X. Ryan, an aged spectacle peddler, near Murray, Utah, a few weeks ago, and who has been brought here for trial, has considerably modified the statement she first made in relation to the killing, and now declares she did not fire the shot that killed Ryan. Ryan's remains were exhumed yesterday and a large bullet hole was found in the top of his head. When Mrs. Hodge was told of this she appeared much surprised.

"If he died from that wound, I did not kill him," she said to her attorneys. "I admit that I shot at him, but I do not admit that I killed him. I tied his hands over by the big tree, but he got loose and started after me. I had to protect myself and fired at at him. I fired at his side. It would have been impossible for me to shoot him in the crown of the head when he was up and running. If he died from that wound I did not kill him. He was not tied when I shot at him, and if he was found tied some one else did it."

Chief of Police Burbidge today received a letter from Cornelius Hodge, the husband of the woman. The letter is dated High Grove, Cal., and contains an inquiry as to the facts connected with the murder, and expresses a desire to be present at the trial. The police believe that Hodge can materially assist them in solving certain features connected with the murder, and will communicate with him at once.

SHAPCOTT'S SUICIDE.

Former Live-stock Man of Bakersfield Shoots Himself at Denver When Financially Ruined.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
COLORADO SPRINGS, Aug. 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] William G. Shapcott, formerly treasurer of a big live-stock company at Bakersfield, Cal., shot himself through the heart in his office here this afternoon. Since leaving California Shapcott has been interested in the Warren Live Stock Company of Wyoming. Eight years ago he moved to Colorado Springs, where he has been one of the most prominent mining brokers and industrial promoters. He became involved in stock depression and recently returned from St. Paul, having failed to close a big mining deal. He left a letter stating that financial troubles were the cause of his act. His liabilities are supposed to be about $50,000.

BRECKENRIDGE HEIR.

Child Born at Paris to Inherit Millions of Dollars from His Mother and His Mentally-incompetent Father.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
PARIS, Aug. 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Mrs. John Cabel Breckenridge of California, whose husband was recently declared insane after a long and bitter fight in the courts between his wife and his mother, gave birth to a son today. The child will inherit millions of dollars, both sides of the house being enormously wealthy.

Breckenridge's mother is now Mrs. Frederick Sharon. Between her and Mrs. Breckenridge there was a sensational dispute over the custody of Breckenridge, which ended in the Paris courts, and he was declared mentally incompetent.

STANDARD OIL MAIL STATION.

An Associated Press dispatch from Bakersfield states that about fifty letters addressed to the Standard Oil Company, Los Angeles, were found in a boxcar at Kern, and delivered to Postmaster Edmonds yesterday. All had been opened, and if anything of value was found it had been taken. Checks amounting to several hundred dollars were discovered, as not being easily negotiable, the robbers did not take them.

BUSINESS.

The local bank clearings yesterday amounted to $911,890.72, as compared with $718,740.20 for the corresponding period of last year and $379,699.17 for the same date in 1901.

Good export demand at seaboard was the chief factor in keeping up prices in the Chicago wheat pit and Wall street emerged from its gloom and an effective rally in prices was produced.

A GREAT COMBINE—TEDDY AND BOB.

This is the way in which the Utica Observer ("no pent-up Utica contracts our powers, but the whole boundless universe is ours") proceeds to make a Republican nomination for Vice-President. The job is well done:

FOR VICE-PRESIDENT.

What are the necessary qualifications for a successful vice-president? We hear the qualifications of this or that man for the presidency discussed frequently and fully. But we rarely hear qualifications required of a vice-president in his particular work described or discussed at all. And yet it is certain that a vice-president needs particular qualifications for his particular work; just as certain as that a president needs certain qualifications for his work. The vice-president must be a man of discernment and judgment. He must be able to control men, and to do that must understand men. He must be of cheerful disposition, able to bear up under trying circumstances and preserve an equanimity that will not be ruffled by any annoyances.

A letter just at hand from the Far West suggests a candidate who possesses all these qualifications, and more, too. He is a Republican, and would make an ideal running mate for our strenuous President. Evidently the idea has occurred to the gentleman in question, for—but here is a portion of the letter:

The old lecture for which you are good enough to entertain such kindly feeling, is printed in book published by Bell Perkins—"Kings of the Platform and Pulpit." I reckon I am one of the majesties. It is also printed in Tom Reed's "Modern Eloquence." So I reckon I am moderately eloquent. I did print it in a book of my own, the lecture being the title sketch. But that is out of print, you will be pleased to learn. And therefore I am the author of a very rare work, impossible to obtain even at the Old Corner Bookstores. I found a copy of it the other day for which I paid Four (4) Dollars ($). How's that for FAME—Fame? I have also just been called to the pastorate of a new Baptist church in Los Angeles, Cal., and have gladly accepted the call. And I have just been appointed a member of everybody—the Board of Commissioners of Fire, Water, and Parks, in my home city of Pasadena. And I am open to the nomination of Vice-President on the Roosevelt ticket. I have thrown away my umbrella, and when it is raining Honors I walk out in my bare head, "everybody take the hat off to me." Say "Sir" when you speak to

Yours very cordially,
ROBERT J. BURDETTE.

The Rev. Robert Jones Burdette is the man to put on the ticket with Roosevelt. Geographically he is all right. A Pacific Coast candidate would help the party in the West, where eastern tariff ideas are under suspicion. He is eloquent—modernly eloquent, as he says—and would make a splendid presiding officer. His literary ability would doubtless result in a higher standard being adopted by The Congressional Record. There is not a member of the Senate who has a rare work to his credit, or who has ever paid $4 for one of his own books.

As for his other qualifications, what man has been mentioned who is at once a Baptist preacher and a Fire and Water Commissioner? Not one. That is a most uncommon combination, and one that indicates rare versatility.

Roosevelt and Burdette! Teddy and Bob! There's a combination for the Republicans. We don't wish to be accused of giving aid and comfort to our political enemies, but the temptation to suggest this ticket was too strong to be resisted.

COL. BURDETTE'S ACCEPTANCE.

The Times is able to announce, in advance of all competitors, rivals and other "contrumperies," white, yellow, black-and-tan, neutral, et al., that the thing is settled—Burdette accepts. Here is his authoritative official response, fresh from the recesses of "Sunnycrest." We have arrested the progress of the entire battery of Times printing machines to "get it in:"

"SUNNYCREST" (Pasadena, Cal.) Aug. 5.—My Dear General: Of course, I'm sorry to butt G. and B. off the track. But where one's country calls, no true patriot can refuse the salary. Moreover, we must do something to offset the Hearst boom in California. I accept the nomination. "It's all over but the shouting."

Cordially yours,
ROBERT J. BURDETTE.

"Such is life on the border!"

A Brooklyn man was cut open the other day and the doctors found nearly one hundred cherry pits in his vermiform appendix. That's what comes from eating at those blamed quick lunch counters. They don't give a fellow time to shuck his cherries—just has to swallow 'em feathers and all.

LIBERTY AND LAW—COMMON SENSE WILL TRIUMPH.

In a recent interview, from which The Times has already quoted approvingly, George P. Bent of Chicago, who is one of the leading manufacturers of pianos in the United States, declared that there is a constantly-growing sentiment against the methods of trade-unionism. "This sentiment," said Mr. Bent, "is increasing in the unions themselves, and I have enough faith in the common sense of the great American people to believe that the day is not far distant when common sense will triumph; and when that day comes, the walking delegate will be obliged to go to work at his trade, if he would eat."

There is no doubt that "common sense will triumph" in the end, in the determination of the industrial problems which just now are causing so much discussion and uncertainty throughout the country. Common sense has always triumphed in the solution of the many grave problems with which the American people have been confronted, from time to time, since the beginning of their national history. They have met and solved many problems more serious than the industrial problem which now confronts them. They are not going to fail in the exercise of common sense in this particular instance, any more than in other and more difficult cases.

In the final triumph of common sense, toward which the industrial situation is steadily tending, the politcal demagogue will be turned down; the walking delegate will be overthrown and robbed of his power for evil; the rampant unionist lawbreaker will be made to fear the law and to obey it; the rights of the non-unionist to labor and enjoy the fruits of his labor will be fully protected; and the sacred guaranties of constitutional and statutory law will be maintained to the fullest extent, so that there shall be industrial peace, in the truest and most complete sense, with the rights of all protected, and the rights of none invaded. All this will come about through the triumph of common sense, and will constitute the essential results of that triumph.

There is nothing in the industrial situation to warrant the pessimistic foreboding in which some well-meaning persons are fond of indulging. This is a nation which is governed by law, and it will continue to be governed by law. Any organization, society, clique or faction of men who set themselves up as superior to the law, or outside the pale of its governing influence, will in due time be made to understand their error. This because of the inherent and irresistible power of public opinion, which is nothing more or less than common sense acting harmoniously and concretely. Common sense tells us that the only successful government must of necessity be a government in which law is respected, and in which it is generally recognized and obeyed as the supreme governing authority. Common sense has guided the American people in the achievement of their high destiny, by teaching them to respect their laws and to reverence their constitutions. Common sense has in fact made this nation great, and common sense will keep it in the path of greatness and of national achievement, by enforcing respect for law and compelling the protection of the inherent rights of all citizens.

However we may seemingly depart from the spirit and the letter of our constitutional and statutory laws, we shall be sure to return to the fundamental principles of right and justice, upon which our government is securely founded. The people will never permit a permanent departure from these principles, for they know that in them, and in them alone, rest our national security and the perpetuity of our institutions. The public may for a time seem to approve, or tacitly to acquiesce in violations of the law. But in the end public opinion will invariably veer around to the side of right, and will irrevocably condemn the violations and the violators of law. The American people are very tolerant, but they are rarely or never wrong in their ultimate conclusions, and these are seldom or never at variance with the eternal principles of right and justice which form the corner-stones of their government—the best government beneath the sun.

Public opinion has sometimes been indulgent to the verge of weakness of the excesses of labor unions. But the limit of this tolerance and this indulgence has been reached—and passed. The fact is recognized, and with constantly increasing distinctness, that these organizations assume to be a law unto themselves, in contempt and in defiance of the laws of the land. They have presumed, within the field which they assume the right to dominate and absolutely to control, to set up a system of despotic government, superior in authority even to the government of the United States of America. This despotic government plans, not merely to control the individual, within the sphere of his ordinary civil rights, but to exercise at its discretion the power of life and death over those who see fit to dispute its absolute authority. This may seem like an extreme statement of the situation, but it is fully borne out by the revelations of the anthracite coal strike investigation, and by the dastardly crimes of unionism which are committed almost daily in all parts of the country.

The American people, it is hardly necessary to say, will not long stand for this sort of thing—the setting up under the flag which they love of an arrogant and dictatorial system, claiming to be independent of the laws of the land, and to be superior in authority and power, within its sphere, to the sovereign power of the national government itself. Already, from one end of the country to the other, is apparent the revolt of public opinion against the arrogant assumptions of rampant unionism. The tide has turned. Let the agitators and disturbers beware, when it shall have reached its flood.

CONVICTS STILL AT LARGE.

Most of the desperate convicts who escaped from the Folsom prison over a week ago are still at large. The dispatches tell us with considerable circumstantiality, from day to day, of the nearness of the pursuing officers to the fugitives, and of the probability that they (the fugitives, not the officers) will soon be captured. But the net results of the pursuit thus far, it must be confessed, are rather meager and unsatisfactory. This fact appears to be due, not so much to lack of proper zeal on the part of the pursuers as to their lack of equipment and preparedness for the pursuit.

In yesterday's dispatches, Sheriff Bosquit of El Dorado county was quoted as saying that he has been greatly handicapped in the pursuit by lack of financial support extended to him by the State officers. He declares that the State has not permitted him to spend a cent on its account, and that the Supervisors of El Dorado county have thus far paid no attention to his appeals for financial assistance. Every cent of expense thus far incurred in that county, for outfitting and posses, for telephone and telegraph charges, and the numerous incidentals necessary to the prosecution of the search, Sheriff Bosquit says, has been paid from his private funds.

All this is manifestly wrong. It is as clear as anything can be that the State should provide an ample emergency fund, which would always be immediately available, to pay the expenses incidental to the pursuit and capture of convicts escaping from the penitentiary, and for any other extraordinary expenses connected with the conduct of the State's penal institutions. In the case of a prison delivery such as that which recently occurred at Folsom, the State authorities should be in a position to put into the field, immediately, a force of men sufficient to run down and capture the fugitives. All expenses of the expedition should be amply provided for by the State, and officers of counties in which the escapes might be in hiding should be authorized to incur any and all needful expenses for their apprehension, such expenses to be guaranteed and promptly paid by the State.

The prisoners in our penitentiaries are in the custody of the State, and if they escape from custody it is the business and the imperative duty of the State to apprehend them at the earliest possible moment, at any cost. It is disgraceful that any question of meeting the necessary expenses of pursuit should be allowed to enter into the case. The next Legislature should make provision for an ample emergency fund to meet all cases of this kind.

The physical health of Los Angeles is keeping right along in the procession with the financial health thereof. If we can succeed in getting rid of the dust, settle the garbage question, remove the droves of cows that inflict certain sections, buy fire hose without too much friction, get trees planted and the streets paved, this will come as near being heaven as people can hope to find on this earth.

Public Printer Palmer is said to be sitting in a somewhat uneasy position on his throne in the Government Printing Office because of his smug complacency with the fool doings of the union that dominates that establishment, which all citizens of the United States help to support. There are certainly mighty few thrones in which a particularly sharp pin would be more apropos.

Considering generally the personnel of the commission which has been appointed to investigate the question of merging the city and county governments, or failing in that, in combining some of the dual offices, there is every reason to believe that some way out of the woods will be discovered. It is a work that has been commenced none too soon.

Life is just as sweet in Los Angeles as it is in St. Paul, Minn., or Chicago, Ill., hence the Fourth of July bomb should be suppressed and prohibited here as well as in those places, where a movement for such prohibition is now under way.

The public of Los Angeles has a right to feel joyful because of the fact that the public printing contract isn't coming up just now, when the garbage question and the purchase of some more fire hose are tearing things wide open.

THE PLAYHOUSES

MASON OPERAHOUSE. "The Frisky Mrs. Johnson" is an adaption by Clyde Fitch from the French. Mr. Fitch is a prolific if not a remarkably versatile playwright. There is perhaps more of Fitch than of the French in this play. Without traversing very much ground, in a dramatic way, it tells an entertaining story in a manner which is never dull nor uninteresting.

Clyde Fitch fully understands the necessity for action in a play, whatever may be its character. This is probably the principal secret of his success as a writer of plays. He never permits the interest to drag; never lapses into mere talkiness; never leaves his characters to dawdle upon the stage, with nothing pertinent to do. Besides, in all his plays (and they are in numbers, seemingly, as the sands upon the seashore,) there are bright flashes of wit, which are entertaining for the manient, though rarely subtle or profound. His productions are efferescent, sparkling, ingenious, but of little or no permanent value. This remark applies, with some modifications, to practically all that this popular playwright has written. His work will hardly survive its generation. But in an ephemeral way, it has won tremendous popular favor.

"The Frisky Mrs. Johnson," under Mr. Fitch's adaptation, retains much of the French flavor—quite enough, in fact, to give it as much "raciness" as the average American audience will stand. It has to do with the foolish flirtation of a young wife, in Paris, with an English lordling who is "long" on about everything but brains. The Frisky Mrs. Johnson being a widow, sister to the foolish young wife, and deeply devoted to her, offers herself a vicarious sacrifice on the altar of the sister's honor, when the latter's indiscretion is about to be revealed. She takes the blame of the sister's intrigue, pretends that a compromising letter from the young lord was meant for her, and in so doing finds herself driven to reject an offer of marriage from the man whom she adores. This theme (which is far from new) forms the basis of much complication, both comic and serious. There are a few moments of almost tragic intensity, but these are pleasantly relieved by wit and raillery, by ludicrous situations and the laughable antics of quaint characters.

Miss Bingham's company is one of the best that has been seen in Los Angeles in many a day, considered as an entirety, and the several members work together with noticeable and pleasing harmony. Miss Bingham's own work in the character of Mrs. Johnson (the frisky) is notable above all else for its ease and freedom and lack of "staginess." In a marked degree it has the quality of naturalness. Her quick transitions from the fighter to the serious vein, and vice versa, are very effective, though perhaps she is somewhat too insistent in vibrating these particular chords. The finest expedients of art grow tame and commonplace with too frequent use. Miss Bingham is especially successful in her simulation of the laugh that has heartbreak just behind it, as well as of the laugh that carries infectious mirth. Her art is charming at all stages and in all varying aspects; charming, principally, because it is so close a simulation of nature as to pass current with the average observer for nature itself.

Wilton Lackaye appears to better advantage in the role of Jim Morely than in the impossible, morbid and uncanny character of Richard Sterling, in "The Climbers." In the role first mentioned he is dignified, forceful, and satisfying to an unusual degree. W. L. Abingdon gives a vigorous and characterful impersonation as Frank Morely. Mr. Abingdon, more successfully than any other member of the company, perhaps, conveys the impression of power held in reserve—always a mark of excellence in the work of any actor.

The character of Mrs. Frank Morely is presented with much artistic merit by Miss Frances Ring. Miss Ring has learned well the lesson of self-repression, and it lends grace as well as forcefulness to her work, as it is bound to do in all histrionic work, if not carried to an extreme. The other characters, which need not be cited in detail, were, without exception, presented acceptably.

A notable feature of the presentation was the elegance of costuming and the completeness of the stage furnishing, which added not a little to the value of the performance as a whole.

"The Frisky Mrs. Johnson" will be repeated tonight. At tomorrow's matinée the bill will be "The Climbers," and tomorrow evening "The Modern Magdalen" will close this desirable engagement.

Great Head!

A SPEEDY CURE FOR LABOR TROUBLES.

SANTA BARBARA, Aug. 4, 1902.—[To the Editor of The Times:] The direct tendency of modern practical science is toward the utilization of waste force and material. It is unfortunate that frequently the immediate effect of a great mechanical discovery is to force out, or displace, many human workers, thus, causing suffering and want until society becomes adjusted to the new conditions, and today much of the unrest in the labor world is a direct outgrowth of the introduction of improvements and inventions, whereby one man can perform the work formerly done by ten, and that man's desire to be rewarded accordingly without paying royalty to the inventor. Now there is going on at the present moment under our very noses, a most stupendous waste of human energy, an energy that could be utilized to run all our mills, to work all our mines, harvest all our grain, pick all our fruit, even down to doing all our housework, and all this, too, without displacing a single union workman whose exalted station (as a member of a union) places him above the laws (against violence, assault, conspiracy, etc.) that apply to ordinary citizens.

Briefly outlined, my plan is this: In China there are 400,000,000 toiling human beings, ground down by their conditions and forced to live on less than 5 cents a day and deprived of the unspeakable blessings of our freedom, civilization and holy religion. Now, suppose we gradually but rapidly introduce, say, 100,000,000 of these unhappy people into this country under proper governmental—I mean union control, and each one employed shall in return for the privilege of coming here, give up at least three-fourths of his wages to go to a fund to pension the displaced union members, who would then be enabled to retire from active physical labor, and to devote their entire time and talents to looking after and regulating the affairs of the rest of us. Thus a Chinaman earning 25 per day could keep 50 cents (far more than he earns at home) and the other $1.50 would make a labor-union pick-and-shovel artist tolerably comfortable, particularly if the government did its duty by removing the tax on the beer, whisky and tobacco consumed by members of the union and provided free railway passes for themselves and their families and friends. Every Chinaman, therefore, instead of displacing white labor as at present, would pension it. The more Chinamen the more pensions. Of course, like the Indian and nigger, he should not be allowed to vote, and occasionally we might have to burn a few at the stake or massacre a bunch of them, as an example, if they became impudent or lazy, but those are trifling incidents that need not be discussed at present, and would be far outweighed by the advantages they would gain by their contact with our liberty, civilization, freedom and Christianity. And that reminds me that this plan should be approved by all our churches and missionary societies, for it would bring these poor benighted heathen to them, instead of their having to go to far-off lands at such great personal inconvenience as at present, and might enable them to increase the percentage of their converts, which of late years has sometimes been as high as a half of 1 per cent.

Of course, the whole matter should be placed under strict union control, and its members prohibited from doing other work or saving up their pensions under penalty of a heavy fine. Indeed, nothing is more fatal to sound union principles than for some of its members to cunningly practice thrift, industry, perseverance and frugality. Those are Chinese habits, and if allowed to go on, soon degrade the guilty wretch to the rank of the despicable capitalist. (Remember how the Children of Israel were censured for trying to store up manna when in the wilderness.) To put a stop to this the unions cannot do better than to copy after the plan adopted by our County Assessor, Ben Ward. He is a man after their own hearts. Raise the assessments on (in other words, fine) those unworthy members of society who have artfully practiced self-denial and saving in order to get a home of their own, that they may selfishly live in comfort in their old age or perhaps send their children to college. If allowed to continue, they will soon want to put up business blocks, so ferret them out, Mr. Ward, and in the few years left of your term you can put a stop to inequity, and the man who obeys scriptural injunction "to take thought for the morrow" will be living rent free in the house provided by the miserable, mercenary member, but taken by the State for it. That is the way to fix 'em, Mr. Ward, and the unions will back you up.

It is possible that there may be a few dense, obstinate people who will not see the many advantages of your great plan just as a few stupid people now maintain the fallacy of the present assessment, low tax rate" theory, and claim that if the present assessment had been quadrupled instead of only doubled, our self-denying and disinterested Councilmen and Supervisors would prove that the good of the taxpayers still required a tax raise up to the full limit. For the enlightenment of such benighted minds I would suggest that each union man contribute two-bits a day to provide a fund for Bro. Ward and myself and we will do missionary work (at so much per diem.) for the cause.

For a country that is doing so much for the negro and the Indian, we surely do this little for the Chinese, and if we are quite sincere in our protestations about "the greatest good for the greatest number," the benefits to those oppressed four hundred millions in China will outweigh any temporary inconvenience to our seven or eight millions at home.

SOME CHICAGO PAPERS REGAIN COURAGE.

THE NEWSPAPER WORM AT LAST TURNS AND REVOLTS.

Going After the Labor Autocrats in Good Shape—Blazing out in Bold Head Lines that Tell Real Truth—Journals that Ceased to Be Afraid.

Of all strike-ridden cities on the American continent, Chicago has undoubtedly been the greatest sufferer. There, if anywhere, unionism has been able to make its bluff good for many a long day past, and has succeeded notably in its efforts to browbeat the community into obedience to its behests. The fact that such a degrading state of affairs has existed in that great metropolis has been manifest most plainly through the palpable subserviency of Chicago's newspapers, which lived in plainly evident fear of unionism and its vengeful threats. But the truth of the saying that the worm will sometimes turn, even in Chicago, is being demonstrated there now, and the newspapers have come to their senses. They have thrown off the garb of servility, and "speak out of their editorial mouths" with a freedom and abandon that is truly refreshing. Their redemption, however, is most noticeably displayed in their bold use of the head lines appearing above their news articles, which now are startlingly courageous, whereas but a short time ago they were as mild as the mewing of little kittens. For instance, this is the way the Chronicle now dares to call attention to a recent speech by President Parry of the National Manufacturers' Association:

"Labor is a Despot—Unions Seek the Power of Entire Autocracy—Demand Control of all Workers and all Industry—D. M. Parry Shows Arrogance of Irresponsible Leadership—Crushes Individual in Order to Build up their Own Authority—Boast of 'Only Four Murders' Displays Love of Violence."

And, in its report of a local meeting of trades unionists held in the precincts heretofore sacred to their presence, the same paper comes out with a stiff punch in the jaw like this:

"Labor Defies Law—Wrath Boils Over at Federation Meeting—Courts, Judges and the Police Share Denunciation—Tax on all Chicago Unions Voted to Aid Kellogg Strike—Secret Committee is Chosen to Spread Movement All Over City."

The Tribune, heretofore, distinguished by its timidity and extreme mildness of manner, is now scarcely less daring in its outspokenness than The Chronicle. In its editorial columns it hits straight out from the shoulder and its news heads look like Old Glory waving in the breezes blown from Lake Michigan. Note the following example printed July 21, last:

"Town Ousts a Union—Striking Miners Run Out of Idaho Springs and Warned to Stay—Banker Leads the Crowd—Leading Citizens Take Steps as Measure of Self-Protection."

The next striking "head" is also from The Tribune and is a great step to the fore on account of the fact that it doesn't fear to call strikers by the offensive title of "rioters" when they engage in their favorite pastime of bullying and beating independent workmen:

"Law Closes on Labor Rioters—Grand Jury Instructed to Investigate Troubles at the Kellogg Plant—New Injunction Issued."

The Evening News, experiencing also a change of heart and a resuscitation of its nerve gaily joins the glad throng in favor of law and liberty, as witness the following:

"War on Boycotters—Aims of Association that has been Formed to Fight Labor Combinations—Laws to be Enforced."

Finally, along comes The Record-Herald swinging out in big type at its column heads on the subject of the attempt of the printers and bookbinders to boss the United States government when President Roosevelt gave the Record-Herald's "head" then swelled up like this:

"Stands on Principle—President will Reverse Decision in the Case of Binder Miller—Holds Law is Supreme."

The above reproduced head lines must make good reading for the Chicago public so long used to being tyrannized over without a newspaper in their city fearless enough to take up the battle against the jawsmiths and unionist autocrats. But now that they have once begun, and know how it feels not to be afraid, it is believed that the Chicago press will redeem itself and stand by the public and its rights as it should have done long ago.

RANSOM HOME DIFFICULTIES.

Present Quarters Sold, the Home Will Have to Move into Its Unfinished Structure at Highland Park.

The way of the philanthropist is not always smooth, even in this City of the Angels, where philanthropy might naturally be supposed to become second nature. One of the older institutions of the city has just reached one of the rough spots.

The Ransom Industrial Home, which began its work here years ago, and which has cared for hundreds of girls and women at times when they were grasping at straws, is practically to be turned out of its house. During all these years of its operation the Home has been conducted in rented buildings. Recently the present location was sold. The new owners have advanced the rent to such a figure as to make it practically prohibitive to the Ransom people, and have requested the Home to vacate as soon as possible.

At all times the Home has as its ambition unfortunates whose removal from place to place can be accomplished only with great hasard, and a move at the present time would be a calamity.

Recently, through the activities of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union ground was purchased in Highland Park, and it was decided to erect a moderate-sized building, adapted as far as possible to meet the present requirements. After the building was under way it was found that there would be a shortage of funds, and it was probable that the building would have to remain in an unfinished condition for an indefinite time.

Now the Home people are "up against it," and they find it almost impossible to secure a building in the city to move into, so they are practically forced to go to their unfinished structure out in Highland Park. The crude shelter now available will possibly do for the present, but with the coming of the fall and winter more protection will be necessary. The W. C. T. U. women are issuing an appeal to the public to help them out in this emergency.

But the truth of the saying that the worm will sometimes turn, even in Chicago, is being demonstrated there now, and the newspapers have come to their senses. They have thrown off the garb of servility, and "speak out of their editorial mouths" with a freedom and abandon that is truly refreshing. Their redemption, however, is most noticeably displayed in their bold use of the head lines appearing above their news articles, which now are startlingly courageous, whereas but a short time ago they were as mild as the mewing of little kittens. For instance, this is the way the Chronicle now dares to call attention to a recent speech by President Parry of the National Manufacturers' Association:

"Labor is a Despot—Unions Seek the Power of Entire Autocracy—Demand Control of all Workers and all Industry—D. M. Parry Shows Arrogance of Irresponsible Leadership—Crushes Individual in Order to Build up their Own Authority—Boast of 'Only Four Murders' Displays Love of Violence."

And, in its report of a local meeting of trades unionists held in the precincts heretofore sacred to their presence, the same paper comes out with a stiff punch in the jaw-like this:

"Labor Defies Law—Wrath Boils Over at Federation Meeting—Courts, Judges and the Police Share Denunciation—Tax on all Chicago Unions Used to Aid Kellogg Strike—Secret Committee is Chosen to Spread Movement All Over City."

The Tribune, heretofore, distinguished by its timidity and extreme mildness of manner, is now scarcely less daring in its outspokenness than The Chronicle. In its editorial columns it hits straight out from the shoulder and its new heads look like Old Glory waving in the breezes blown from Lake Michigan. Note the following example printed July 31, last:

"Town Ousts a Union—Striking Miners Run Out of Idaho Springs and Warned to Stay—Banker Leads the Crowd—Leading Citizens Take Steps as Measure of Self-Protection."

The next striking "head" is also from The Tribune and is a great step to the fore on account of the fact that it doesn't fear to call strikers by the offensive title of "rioters" when they engage in their favorite pastime of bullying and beating independent workmen:

"Law Closes on Labor Rioters—Grand Jury Instructed to Investigate Troubles at the Kellogg Plant—New Injunction Issued."

The Evening News, experiencing also a change of heart and a resuscitation of its nerve gallly joins the glad throng in favor of law and liberty, as witness the following:

"War on Boycotters—Aims of Association that has been Formed to Fight Labor Combinations—Laws to be Enforced."

Finally, along comes The Record-Herald swinging out in big type at its column heads on the subject of the attempt of the printers and bookbinders to boss the United States government when President Roosevelt gave the word. President Roosevelt gave the printers such a severe jolt. The Record-Herald's "head" then swelled up like this:

"Stands on Principle—President will not Reverse Decision in the Case of Binder Miller—Holds Law is Supreme."

The above reproduced head lines must make good reading for the Chicago public so long used to being tyrannized over without a newspaper in their city fearless enough to take up the battle against the jawsmiths and unionist autocrats. But now that they have once begun, and know how it feels not to be afraid, it is believed that the Chicago press will redeem itself and stand by the public and its rights as it should have done long ago.

RANSOM HOME DIFFICULTIES.

Present Quarters Sold, the Home Will Have to Move into Its Unfinished Structure at Highland Park.

The way of the philanthropist is not always smooth, even in this City of the Angels, where philanthropy might naturally be supposed to become second nature. One of the older institutions of the city has just reached one of the rough spots.

The Ransom Industrial Home, which began its work here years ago, and which has cared for hundreds of girls and women at times when they were grasping at straws, is practically to be turned out of its house. During all these years of its operation the Home has been conducted in rented buildings. Recently the present location was sold. The new owners have advanced the rent to such a figure as to make it practically prohibitive to the Ransom people, and have requested the Home to vacate as soon as possible.

At all times the Home has as its inmates unfortunates whose removal from place to place can be accomplished only with great hazard, and a move at the present time would be a terrible.

Recently, through the activities of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, ground was purchased in Highland Park, and it was decided to erect a moderate-sized building, adapted as far as possible to meet the present requirements. After the building was well under way it was found that there would be a shortage of funds, and it was probable that the building would have to remain in an unfinished condition for an indefinite time.

Now the Home people are "up against it," and they find it almost impossible to secure a building in the city to move into, so they are practically forced to let their unfinished structure out on Highland Park. The crude shelter now available will possibly do for the present, but with the coming of the fall and winter more protection will be necessary. The W.C.T.U. women are issuing an appeal to the public to help them out in this emergency.

Cholera Morbus is a Dangerous Disease. In many instances attacks of cholera morbus terminate fatally before medicine can be procured or a physician summoned. The safe way is to have Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy at hand. It is prompt, safe and reliable.—[Adv.

FIRST ANNUAL OUTING OF RETAIL BUTCHERS.

FIFTEEN HUNDRED PEOPLE PICNIC AT VERDUGO PARK.

Three Salt Lake Trains Carry Out the Jolly Crowds—Many Amusing Contests—Butchers' Board of Trade Officers.

It was butchers' day at Verdugo Park yesterday, and the fraternity of meat-cutters, with their wives and children, sweethearts and sisters to the number of about 1500 went out from the city early in the morning for an all-day picnic under the trees of fair Verdugo Cañon. Three trains were run by the Salt Lake road.

"Something doing at Verdugo" has been the slogan of the butchers for the past few days, and there was certainly something doing from the time this jolly crowd started from the Salt Lake's First-street station until they were landed in town again last night.

The "feed" committee had provided most generously for the crowd, and there was an ample supply of provender. There were sports a plenty, and many of the contests created great amusement. Notable among these was a fat men's shoe-lacing contest, the heavyweights unlacing, taking off and putting on and lacing their shoes while standing. There was a "killing" presentation by the heavyweights of the Delsarte movements; the thin men had a woodenshoe race; there were tugs-of-war, and races, and minor sports galore.

Much interest centered in the foot races. In the journeymen butchers' race, A. E. Hughes was awarded first prize, a meat saw; H. Wallace, second, a steak knife. In the free-for-all, G. Conterno won the butchers' steel. The winners of prizes in the children's races were Dalphine Levy and Marcel Levy. The race for ladies over thirty years old was won by Mrs. Dalton; the young ladies' race for a $5 hammock was won by Miss Mabel Richards; and L. Bouttier carried off a case of champagne as victor in the fat men's race.

The crowds were fed on 1000 pounds of barbecued beef and accompanying "fixin's."

The dancers kept the fiddlers busy, and there was a competition for prizes to be awarded for the butchers' solution of how to cut the least meat for the most money; how to give a customer mutton when she wants beef; why the beef trust is losing money; why it's called ox-tail when it's from a cow; how to tell spring lamb in December; how to tell sheep from mutton and many other meaty jokes.

Fourteen coaches brought the crowds back to the city last evening, and the general report was that the first annual outing of the Retail Butchers' Board of Trade had been a decided success.

The Committee on Entertainment for yesterday's picnic was: W. D. Osgood, L. V. Glascock, Alex. Grieve, T. C. Newton, T. W. Wallace, David Frey, Oliver Gray, George Schleicher, J. S. Vidar, George Buck, Leo Meyer, L. Bouttier, Jr., Charles Otto, M. T. Ryan, L. Haustein, George Martz, John McCollough, M. D. Fiscus, J. A. Rydell, Franz Frank and J. A. McCoy.

The Retail Butchers' Board of Trade includes more than 100 of the city's retailers, and its objects are the protection and advancement of its members, and the interests of the trade. The officers of the Board are: A. C. Winter, president; George Schleicher, vice-president; H. L. Falkenstein, secretary; M. W. Everhardy, assistant secretary; J. G. Young, treasurer; Joseph Oser, marshal; J. S. Augenthaler, assistant marshal.

RAILROAD NOTES.

Epes Randolph, general manager of the Pacific Electric Railway Company, returned yesterday from a rest trip in Arizona. He had been away for several weeks, and comes back much rested. He says his trip was without especial incident, except for a little shake-up the other morning, when he was returning in a special car from a trip into Mexico.

The Southern Pacific Railroad has made a rate of $38 to Seattle and back for the Trans-Mississippi Commercial Congress, and provided a party of twenty is secured they may have a special car. These tickets are sold in bunches of five.

The main building of the plant of the American School Furniture Company at Piqua was destroyed by fire early yesterday, entailing a loss of $50,000, partially covered by insurance.

Black Silk Sale
Coulter Dry Goods Co
317-319-321-323-325 South Broadway, Los Angeles

EXTRAORDINARY BUYING—Otherwise present prices would be impossible. Though price was a powerful factor, it was not price alone that prompted us to make such an enormous Black Silk purchase (upwards of Twelve Thousand Yards)—but rather the quality of the merchandise.

Discriminating buyers will recognize the excellence of the silks on sight. The painstaking care of the makers is pronouncedly prominent in every piece.

The Saving?—From a Quarter to a Third; but the sale doesn't begin until Monday. We make the announcement thus early in order that out-of-town customers can plan to come.

22-in. $2.00 Black Satin Duchesse at $1.47½.
23-in $2.50 Black Satin Duchesse at $1.97½.

Colored silks at cut prices are common—but when it comes to buying Best Black Silks at such tremendous reductions—that's different; and advices from Paris say that silks are to assume their old-time important place this autumn in wearables for women; especially Black Silks—otherwise we wouldn't have felt justified in showing them in such lavish profusion: and the call is going to be largely for Peau de Soies and Taffetas, that is certain.

Sir Thomas Lipton's Key To Success.

HE may not "lift the cup" but Sir Thomas Lipton's perseverance in the attempt is the same kind that prompted him in early life to persevere in saving money. It was this habit of money saving that laid the foundation of his great fortune, now said to be upward of one hundred and fifty millions. The importance which he attaches to money saving as the foundation to success is best told in his own words: "Saving is the first great principle of all success. It creates independence, it gives a young man standing, it fills him with vigor, it stimulates him with the proper energy; in fact it brings to him the best part of any success—happiness and contentment."

Every young man should begin to save early in life, while men who are older should start now, ever bearing in mind that "it's never too late to mend." A dollar will start an account here. Once started, the desire to constantly increase your savings becomes a firmly rooted and most commendable habit. We pay four per cent. interest on your deposits, compounded semi-annually. This materially helps your savings to grow.

WIFE'S CHARGES DENIED.

Dr. Barnes and His Father Say Mrs. Barnes's Divorce Suit Allegations are Absolutely False.

Writing to The Times from Ocean Park, Dr. C. H. Barnes and his father, William H. Barnes, make specific denials of the allegations of the aged Mrs. Barnes in her action for divorce against the young physician. Referring to the dispatch dated Boston, August 4, and which appeared in The Times of the 5th inst., Dr. Barnes asserts that he never knew a chorus girl and was never accused of such a low crime as adultery; never abused, starved, poisoned or robbed his wife; that she testified in a Boston court a few weeks ago that she was perfectly satisfied with him, and that her attorney received her; that he received an excellent letter from her a few days ago asking him to come on and bring her back to his California home.

Mr. Barnes, the elder, declares in his letter that the woman's allegations are a mass of lies, except the facts of the marriage, which he says were in no way concealed. He says his never had the old lady in his custody, but she and her husband boarded with him, he and his wife keeping the house; that the old lady had the best of care and treatment, had anything she wanted or asked for, and was at liberty to go and come as she pleased; that she went to Boston May 21 with friends who were going East, and he or his son did not accompany her; that she testified in court that she had good treatment; that she wanted to return to her California home. Mr. Barnes says further that he never met or saw her until a few days before her marriage, and that he never received any pay for the care or management of her business while she and her husband were away, except his and his wife's expenses.

CORNER-STONE LAID FOR NEW MASONIC TEMPLE.

WIDE-AWAKE HOLLYWOOD ADDS TO HER PUBLIC ENTERPRISES.

Grand Officers and Knights Templars Join in the Ceremonies—Building Will Be Dedicated Next Fall, When the Lodge Expects to Have a Large Membership.

Yesterday was another red-letter day for Hollywood. The entire population out around the sprightly suburb gave itself up to the ceremony of laying a corner-stone for the new Masonic Temple.

A large delegation of Knights Templars went out from the city on one of the handsome private cars of the Pacific Electric Railway, accompanied by the Los Angeles Military Band. This party was followed by another private car containing Grand Master O. S. Henderson of Fresno, and his party.

At 2:30 o'clock a grand lodge having been organized at Druit's Hall on Sunset boulevard, a procession was formed and led by the band, marched to the site of the new temple. The site selected for the building is one of the best in Hollywood, being on the Ocean View tract, just north of the Hollywood Hotel.

A great crowd had already gathered there to witness the ancient and honorable rites which were conducted by Grand Master Henderson. The principal oration was by Grand Orator E. H. Hart of Berkeley. It was listened to with the closest attention.

The following grand officers filled the several positions during the ceremonies: Grand Master, Orrin S. Henderson; Deputy Grand Master H. S. Orme; Senior Grand Warden J. A. Foshay; Grand Treasurer, Louis Ferry; Grand Secretary, H. J. Lloyd; Grand Lecturer Simon Cahen; Grand Orator E. H. Hart; Assistant Grand Secretary, L. A. Durfee; Grand Marshal, E. C. Hampton; Grand Chaplain, Rev Edelman; Grand Bible-bearer, L. L. Mercer; Grand Sword-bearer, J. P. Greeley; Senior Grand Deacon John King; Junior Grand Deacon, F. S. Bynon; Senior Grand Steward, C. V. Eccleston; Junior Grand Steward, H. F. Starbuck; Grand Pursuivant, Delos W. Smythe; Grand Tyler, J. H. Matthews.

The new lodge starts under favorable auspices and promises to become a strong organization. Its officers are as follows: Gilbert Field Stevenson, Worshipful Master; W. Frank Bemis, Senior Warden; Francis Charles Ferry, Junior Warden; Louis Ferry, Treasurer; Louis Adalbert Durfee, Secretary; Frederick Silas Bynon, Senior Deacon; Edwin Harratt, Junior Deacon; Ellis Clark Hampton, Marshal; Charles Frederick Koebler, Steward; Moses Young, Steward; John Henry Mathews, Tyler.

The new structure will be a substantial two-story brick, the upper story especially designed for the use of the lodge and the ground floor for storerooms. It is expected that the building will be completed in time for dedication immediately following the meeting of the Grand Lodge in October, and all efforts will be bent in that direction.

At the close of the ceremonies yesterday the ladies of the Eastern Star provided refreshments for the entire company.

CREASINGER'S STATEMENT.

The attorney of S. P. Creasinger, the bankrupt "barrel-of-money" man, yesterday filed a statement of the latter's affairs in the United States District Court. The schedule is voluminous, covering more than fifty typewritten pages. Large property holdings are recorded, but of the famous barrel of money, there is left "no cash on hand," according to the statement. Creasinger is still at Matilija Springs.

SIR THOMAS'S NERVE GOOD.

Thinks Both the Shamrocks Should Beat the Reliance.

Backers of the Green, However, Ask Two-to-One Odds.

Miss Anthony Wins Glenview Cup—Henry Hoffman Hurt. Bona Beats Meteor.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Two weeks from today, there will assemble off Sandy Hook lightship a record-breaking fleet of pleasure vessels and excursion steamers to meet the Reliance and Shamrock III, the yachts named to race for the America's cup. Meanwhile, the Reliance and Shamrock III are being given their final tuning-up spins, the former off Newport and the latter off Sandy Hook. The Reliance has earned the right to defend the cup, but August Belmont, in the most loyal manner possible, has placed the Constitution at the disposal of the Reliance people, that she may be used as deemed best by them for the end in view. From now on until the Reliance ceases her tuning-up, the Constitution will be in charge of George A. Cormack, secretary of the New York Yacht Club.

The Shamrock III is watched over by a number of experts and amateurs. The methods pursued by those in charge during her trial with the Shamrock I was long ago decided upon, and may prove to be beyond criticism when viewed from the standpoint of a challenging party. Should they turn out, however, to be a repetition of the reported policy adopted abroad when the Shamrock II was being tried with the older boat, the result of the approaching match is likely to be the same as that of two years ago.

When the Shamrock II beat Shamrock I during their trials in home waters, interested parties were happy. When the old boat, however, did well and there was little choice between them at the finish of the bout, the interested parties did not overwhelm Shamrock I's officers with congratulations. Some wide-awake yachtsmen have wondered why the old boat has not received the same attention in American waters as has been given the challenger, in way of being kept smooth and in proper gear and improved canvas. Not being up to the mark in these particulars, as claimed by many, it is asked: "Have the comparisons indulged in between these boats been reliable or have they been misleading?"

Recently, friends of the Reliance have offered liberal amounts at 2 to 1 and 100 to 75, and considerable money has been placed at these odds, one member of the New York Yacht Club having already invested about $15,000. Still, Shamrock folk are cautious, and while holding off on the general result of the match, seem inclined to believe the challenger may win the race, and so to a limited extent, are willing to wager 1 to 2 that such will be the case.

Sir Thomas said today there was no necessity for further trials of the two boats.

"All the tests in the world would not improve the condition of the men and the Shamrock III," added Sir Thomas. "Both the yachts and their crews are able to make the grandest kind of a showing, and between them I cannot see how they can fail to defeat the Reliance. I am more firm in that opinion than ever before."

WHITNEY'S LUCK.

RICH GROUSE MOOR.

[STAFF CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

LONDON, July 20.—William C. Whitney is going in strong for English grouse shooting during the coming season. His sporting investments hitherto had been confined to the turf—wherein it is understood he has not been highly successful, although it is admitted on all hands that he is one of the shrewdest speculators at present in England.

His latest deal, in securing, months in advance of the ordinary time, a portion of the grouse moors of Durham, confirms the opinion that he is either uncommonly shrewd or uncommonly lucky. The moors in question cover 800 acres, and are part of the immense property of the rich and handsome Marquis of Londonderry, formerly Postmaster-General. They have never been noted for their prolific coveys like those of Scotland, in consequence of their contiguity to the Marquis's huge coal mines which are spread all over the district. Through some strange phenomenon, however, the place turns out to be over-run with birds this year, although the fact wasn't known at the time Mr. Whitney struck the bargain. The price actually paid is not disclosed, but I am told that the moors have been secured at a quarter their value, and that Whitney has had numerous offers for them at a greatly enhanced price from noblemen and agents since it became known that the birds were so plentiful.

Last year Mr. Whitney promised his American friends that he would give them a season's shooting in England, and he started to look about at once for a prolific moor. He tried Scotland, Ireland and that portion of the midland counties of England which have been noted for rtheir huge possessions of game, but he found that everything with the exception of the supposed derelict moors of Durham had been snapped up. Bound not to disappoint his American friends he forthwith entered into negotiations with the Marquis of Londonderry. The Marquis was accustomed to hear distressing reports of the coveys on his Durham estate, and was ready to dispose of them for the proverbial old song. The bargain was closed and now to all appearances, Mr. Whitney and his friends will shoot over one of the richest grouse moors in the kingdom this season.

CORBETT AND JEFF.

TAKING FINISHING TOUCHES.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 6.—J. Corbett is putting on the finishing touches to his long course of training. He is confident of defeating Jeffries, and many good judges, like Frank Erne and Tommy Ryan, share his confidence. All who have seen him at work declare that never before was he in such good condition. He has gained in weight and strength, and seems to have lost nothing of his old-time agility.

A dispatch from Harbin Springs quotes Jeffries as saying that he proposes to go for his opponent at the start, and keep at him without affording him an opportunity to rest. He is perpared for a hard encounter, but does not fear the result.

GEORGE COOPER WINS HOT PITCHERS' BATTLE.

LOOLOOS LOSE OUT IN THIRTEENTH INNING TO OAKLAND.

Corbett's Wide Benders Prove Effective Though Hard to Control—Cooper was at His Best and Invincible—Good Batting by Drs. Mookiman and Judson Smith.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] In one of the finest pitchers' duels of this season, George Cooper was victorious over Joe Corbett at Recreation Park today, but the game was one of those 2-to-1 affairs that shed but little more glory on the winner than upon the loser, for not until thirteen innings of silt-edge baseball with all the traditional frills upon it had been played, did Lohman's band string together the necessary brace of bingles and crowd over the plate the winning run. Cooper was invincible; but for misplays by his mates he would have shut the Looloos out without a tally to their credit. Corbett's ability as a stayer has been questioned somewhat heretofore, but yesterday he showed ability to take the gaff as well as any. The final run was as much a matter of hard luck as of anything else.

By long odds the batting sensation of the day was Doc Mookiman, the expitcher, who fully lived up to his reputation as a good hitter by walloping the ball safely thrice out of five tries, and once for two bags. Jud Smith, the big third baseman of Morley's team, also did some nice stickwork by singling twice and laying down a nice sacrifice.

Corbett's wide benders were not tamed to a proper state of subjection early in the game, and he issued five complimentaries to Dillonville, but the aberration was short-lived, and Joseph got his revenge by fanning seven of his opponents.

Cooper's old southpaw for once was at its best, and he unlimbered the old-time hoodoo on the Looloos with deadly effect, as attested by the five measly swats garnered by Dillon's braves in transit.

PUGS' FRIEND HOME AGAIN.

Manager McCarey Drops In On His Chums.

Enjoyable Outing of State Sierra Club Members.

Auto Run Sunday—Whist Matches Close Saturday Night. Dove Case Hold-up.

Manager Tom McCarey of the Century Athletic Club returned to this city yesterday from a month's vacation in the East and is the happiest man in the world, apparently, to get back to what he calls God's country.

Mr. and Mrs. James Morley, Henry Harris and Mr. McCarey arrived in San Francisco late Tuesday evening and McCarey left that city for Los Angeles Wednesday evening. The Morleys will remain there until the Looloo ball team comes home August 18.

Mr. McCarey visited St. Louis, near where his relatives reside, Chicago, Philadelphia and New York and other less noted cities, and he states that in every place he found people asking about Los Angeles. From what he heard, he predicts that hundreds of new people will visit this section of the State this winter.

"I don't want much more of the East in mine," he declares, "for this country is ahead of it in almost everything. Most of the theaters are bad, the ball games are rotten and the prize fights are worse. We went to one ball game where there were twenty-eight errors and to several prize fights in Philadelphia where amateurs furnished the main events.

"Concerning local prize-fight matters, I will say that I signed the negro Larry Temple to fight Billy Woods in this city for an October date, providing I cannot secure Tommy Ryan for Woods. Ryan's wife and children are in this city now and he will come here after the Corbett-Jeffries fight and we will talk business concerning a go with Woods. Temple is so good that his manager offered to bet any part of $5000 that he could stop Jack O'Brien in ten rounds, and O'Brien would not accept. Temple, however, would not agree to bet more than $500 on himself against Woods.

"From what I can learn since returning, the local sports are desirous of seeing DeCoursey fight here again, and if possible, I will match him for a date late in August, against the winner of the Neil-Forbes fight in San Francisco August 13."

SIERRA CLUB OUTING.

LOCAL MEMBERS HOME AGAIN.

The local members of the Sierra Club of California, which recently made the trip to Kings River Cañon, have about all returned and by the end of next week it is more than likely that all of them will be home again. Of the twenty-seven who left Southern California about six weeks ago, all have come back but three or four.

Including the club members from the northern part of the State, the party that met at Visalia, Tulare county, to begin the ascent into the high mountains, numbered about 150. The trip by stage and horseback commenced there, the journey into the mountains was made without accident and the main camp of the club was pitched about one and a half miles above the Big Kern Lake near the mouth of Coyote Creek and a distance of twenty miles from the base of Mt. Whitney.

The principal object of the trip was to fish for trout and of these the large party caught all that could be eaten and they were trout, too. Any number of twelve-inch fish were taken, but the largest one measured nineteen and one-half inches in length and weighed a little less than three pounds. Fish of this size were caught in Kern Lake and some of the famous golden trout were hooked farther up the mountain cañon in what is now known as Volcano Creek, formerly called Whitney Creek. These golden trout seemed to take the plain Coachman fly better than any other, but a few were caught with brown and gray hackles.

A peculiarity of the fishing was that down below the lakes in Kern River the trout took the Professor fly best of any and were also partial to the hackles. Almost any kind of fly was ordinarily taken, but the fishing was difficult in a way, for the banks of the creeks were overgrown with brush and the best pools very hard to get at.

In the way of a change, the fishermen, after tiring themselves out whipping the creeks, passed the time away climbing mountains and as an instance of this, 137 club members climbed Mt. Whitney without an accident. This is the highest mountain in the United States, being 14,470 feet. The pack horses went to within 2500 feet of the summit and the party had to walk the remainder of the way. There were many quail and a few grouse seen in the Whitney climb, but no signs of deer or bear. Some ice and snow were found on the summit, under the rocks in the shady places. Those who took the trip unite in saying that the view from the summit is magnificent, for with powerful glasses a large part of the State can be seen and portions of Nevada, Utah and Arizona.

Another very delightful climb was the ascent of Mt. Williamson, a rugged peak about fifteen miles from the club camp. Ten of the party, including four ladies, climbed Williamson, one of these being Willoughby Rodman, an attorney in the Bryson Block. This party walked ten miles toward the mountain one day and camped for the night five miles from the base. The next day they made the ascent, clambering up 3000 feet over loose, rolling boulders and shifting dirt, the side of the mountain being almost perpendicular, as Rodman expresses it. There was no trail and it was everyone for himself.

Next year the club intends to take the trip to Yosemite Valley and it is stated that a clubhouse will be built in the valley. There will be plenty of climbing there, for Ritter, Dane, Lyell and Conness are within walking distance and are high enough to tax the endurance of any mountaineer.

TENNIS PLAY IS DOWN TO FINALS.

BELL AND JOE DAILY TO PLAY AN EXHIBITION MATCH.

Ladies' Singles Produce Some Contests of Unusual Length and Brilliancy—The Mixed Doubles Prove Interesting and are Well Fought—Big Ball Tonight.

Enough dropped by the wayside in the tennis matches yesterday so that the beginning of the end is seen. The survival of the fittest has left Bell to play the finals with Overton, counting that Overton will win from Horace Donnell, an event that is practically certain. It is likely that May Carter, who qualified for the finals yesterday by subduing Gabrielle Dobbins, will play Florence Sutton for the tournament championship. Miss Florence will play Mrs. Seymour in the semi-finals this morning, and, figuring that she will be victorious, will meet Miss Carterf in the final struggle this afternoon. The finals in the men's doubles will probably be a contest between Way and Bell and Overton and Cravens. The former couple has already qualified for the last fight, and it is thought the others will have little trouble in finishing their opponents. Bell and Miss Dobbins are booked to play Way and May Sutton for the tournament honors in the mixed doubles. It is predicted by the experts that this will be the prettiest and closest contest on the card, the champion man player being on one side and a most astonishingly clever woman player on the other.

If Bell wins the tournament honors he and Joseph Daily, a San Francisco professional player, and, until recently, champion of the Coast, will play an exhibition match. This will come off tomorrow afternoon.

It was something away from the ordinary ding-dong tennis to see the match yesterday afternoon between Way and May Sutton and Horace Donnell and Florence Sutton. The men weren't particularly interesting, especially by comparison with the Sutton sisters. Both sets were won by the side that was aided by May Sutton's brilliant playing, but the score don't half tell the story.

For instance, it took twenty-two minutes to play one game. It was "deuce" eighteen times in that game, and the umpire, with a penchant for the English pronounciation, kept drawling out "Vawntage in," "deuce," "Vawntage out," until it began to look like a hippodrome performance.'

But May Sutton was supreme; she smashed the balls till they shot through the air as though discharged from a cannon, and Miss Florence returned them a shade more delicately, but dashing enough to win many a round of applause. Many a game was hard fought, and many a point saved through incredible gymnastics.

Another rattling match and one that surprised the prophets was won by Miss Carter from Gabrielle Dobbins. The latter plays a seemingly stronger game, but Miss Carter has long since abandoned showy for safe playing. She has studied the game, and with scientific precision has taught her racquet to do her bidding.

Miss Carter was delayed in winning the match by losing the first set, Miss Dobbins's style being somewhat fee sizzling. But in the second she picked up and won; then took the third, thereby qualifying for the finals. If she wins her next match she will meet May Sutton, who must defend the championship, which she holds.

Bell and Miss Dobbins had little difficulty in quieting the ambitions of Variel and Mrs. J. W. Hendrick. Bell is a whole team in himself and was playing his best game yesterday, and Miss Dobbins having convalesced after her defeat by Miss Carter, faced the net stronger than ever.

The consolation singles for the men were begun yesterday, the most interesting match for the spectators being furnished by Hal Gorham and Henry Fuller. The winner of the juvenile championship took Fuller's scalp handily, though, after winning the first set holding his breath.

As the tournament narrows toward the finals and becomes, therefore, more interesting, the crowds increase. There were more people yesterday than the grand stand could hold.

Tonight will be held the annual tournament ball at the Casino, North Third street. Elaborate arrangements have been made and supper will be served.

Yesterday's scores were as follows:

Men's singles—John Donnell beat Tom Brown, 6-3, 6-2; Bell beat Donnell, 6-0, 6-1.

Ladies' singles—Mrs. Seymour beat Eleanor Pesalta, 6-2, 6-1; May Carter beat Gabrielle Dobbins, 4-6, 6-0, 6-3.

Men's doubles—Hart and Britton beat Wallace and Brown, 9-7, 6-4; Overton and Cravens beat Fuller and Wallace, 7-5, 6-2.

Mixed doubles—Variel and Mrs. Hendrick beat A. Ainsworth and Miss Frances Shoemaker, 6-3, 3-6, 8-6; Way and May Sutton beat J. Donnell and Mrs. Seymour, 6-2, 6-2; Bell and Miss Dobbins beat Variel and Mrs. Hendrick, 6-0, 6-4; Way and May Sutton beat H. Donnell and Florence Sutton, 6-4, 6-3.

Consolation singles—H. Donnell beat W. Wallace, 6-0, 6-3; Gorham beat H. Fuller, 7-5, 6-1.

Local Ball.

The Apex and the Sporting News team will meet at Prager Park next Sunday for a side bet of $125 each and the gate receipts. This promises to be a fierce game, for the winner will take all the money, and the entire gate receipts. The line-up has been decided upon as follows, after much figuring:

News.		Apex.
J. Simons-J. Harris	pitcher	Crandall.
Raftery	catcher	Leahy
Miles	first base	H. Simons
F. Harris	second base	Villa
Moore	third base	Laughlin
Rodger	shortstop	Ross
Adams	left field	Gillingham
F. Bowman	center field	Dairymple
Lepper	right field	D. Simons

UNUSUAL TURNOUT OF ANGLERS AT DEL RAY.

BIG CATCHES OF SMALL FISH MADE AT END OF WHARF.

Surf and Yellowfins, Finned Aristocrats, Refuse to Bite in Afternoon, and Wait Until Late at Night—Three-Pounder Landed by Nordlinger and Wife.

One piscatorial record was broken yesterday at Playa Del Ray—only one. Since the wharf was built this spring, never before did such a crowd of anglers congregate upon its lengthy expanse as disposed themselves at various points of vantage thereon yesterday—and mostly to return fishless in the evening.

The Bakers' Union was present in full force, and the only reasonable hypothesis upon which to account for the scarcity of good fish was the supposition that the finny tribe, hearing of the raid of organized labor going on above, simply declared a boycott on bait, probably the first successful one in history.

Of kingfish, herring, and similar fry there was a plenty, but the surf fish, yellowfins, sea trout, sole and other members of the finned aristocracy were conspicuous by their absence from most of the anglers' baskets.

During the afternoon one worthy hooked a huge yellowtail from the end of the wharf, and upon resorting to handline tactics with rod and reel lost the fish. Any man of reasonable intelligence could have turned the big fellow belly up in ten minutes, but the novice who was on the butt end of the rod was afraid the fish might run away with his 200 yards of tuna line, so administered "the butt" at once, and too vigorously.

The best surf fish of the day was taken by S. Nordlinger and wife, who do a partnership stunt in their piscatorial excursions. The corbina weighed three pounds. D. Botiller got one a little smaller, but R. Campbell, Harry Slotterbeck, John C. Wray, Charles Lebas, and Frank Lillie traveled in the "also-fished" class, except for occasional small yellowfins.

The Bakers' Union cleaned Capt. Smith out of bait early in the morning, and a number of the anglers made up for their enforced idleness at that time by remaining until late at night, there being a full moon and high tide. The ones who remained longest had some splendid sport for a while.

H. T. Van Ripper paid attention to the small fry at the end of the wharf, and caught nearly sixty of them, mostly big kingfish. A few scattered catches of pompano and mackerel kept the anglers in a state of semi-suppressed excitement, but there was no big run.

The midday sport at Redondo was poor also. Up the beach near the outfall sewer, two professional fishermen went to gather clams, but remained to slaughter surf. They made a splendid catch from the beach, and that accounts for the tardiness of the bait returns in the afternoon.

The appearance of sardine schools at Del Rey is an excellent sign, and some big fish may be expected hereafter. The red water has completely disappeared.

Many small rock bass were snaked out from the vicinity of the piles by a number of ladies who were fishing. Several sportsmen brought their families with them, as the improvement in car service has made it possible to spend a few hours very pleasantly at any of the beaches, without making the trip so much like work as it used to be.

The electric road has put on a special fisherman's car, leaving Fourth street, Los Angeles, at 6:40 o'clock in the morning and landing the anglers at Del Rey shortly after 7.

SALARIES TOPPLING.

BASEBALL WAGES TO DROP.

Manager Jim Morley of the Looloos and Henry Harris of the San Francisco club have returned to San Francisco, but really have nothing to add to the baseball situation on this Coast, in the way of information as to what will be done next year by the rival Coast leagues.

Nothing was done at that Chicago meeting, which Harris, Morley, Lucas and Dugdale attended for the Coast league magnates would not recede from their position of holding to the Seattle-Portland territory. There will be a meeting next week in Buffalo, at which some sort of a peace agreement will be patched up, if possible, between the big leagues, and later on a similar meeting is to be held at St. Louis, but the Pacific Coast League will not be represented at either.

What Harris does say, however, is that there will be a big cut in salaries next year all over the country. He declares that the clubs in the East that are making money, can be counted on one's fingers, and the other clubs are losing propositions, because they have to pay out so much in high salaries. Haris says that Oscar Jones, who was with Morley last year, is believed to be one of the best pitchers in the East, and he does not seem to be pitching any better ball than when he was here. Harris promises his team a new left-handed pitcher in a short time.

AUTO RUN.

TRIP TO SANTA MONICA.

The directors of the Los Angeles Automobile Club held a short meeting last night at an auto agency on South Broadway and it was decided that the club would go on a run next Sunday to Santa Monica. Just how many machines will go on the trip is not known, but there will be from fifteen to twenty-five. The start will be made at 9 o'clock from No. 832 South Broadway, which is the Cowan agency building. It is the intention to take lunch at the Santa Monica Hotel and in the afternoon run up into the cañon and then return to this city.

HANDICAP WHIST.

PLAY LAST WEDNESDAY.

There was a five-table contest at the rooms of the Los Angeles Whist Club on Wednesday night, it being the third sitting in the six of the series of six, for the handicap prizes. Mr. and Mrs. Ford made the high plus score of six, no other pair approaching them.

Tomorrow evening the finals will be played in the contest for the club button, and also for the ladies' cup. For the information of a number of whist players it is stated that a challenge will not be issued until November for the cup now held by the Pasadena players.

BLACK DOVE CASE.

NEW ORDINANCE NECESSARY.

The cases against "Col." F. D. Black, G. Black, J. Myrick, D. Kats and E. W. Hopperstead of Los Angeles, who were arrested some days ago near San Bernardino charged with violating the dove ordinance, were continued three weeks there by Judge Thomas yesterday afternoon. The case came up on the argument of defendants' demurrer to the complaint. The attorneys for the defense cited that the ordinance reads "It shall be unlawful to barter, kill, sell or trade any doves between the first day of October and the first day of August of any year," and the defense wanted to know what part of such a year is the first day of July. Judge Conrey's decision was cited at length. The continuance of the case practically means dismissal of the charges. A new ordinance will be drawn.

Jabs and Counters.

Abe Attel, the California featherweight, and Johnny Reagan are supposed to fight this evening at the West End Club in St. Louis. Their fight has been postponed twice already.

Manager Jack Herman of the Fort Erie Club has been found guilty of promoting the Root-Gardner fight, but his sentence by the police magistrate of Fort Erie has been held up on account of an appeal taken to the Court of Appeals of Ontario. This practically stops all fights at the Fort Erie Club, for although Herman says it don't, the magistrate threatens to arrest Herman whenever he attempts to give a fight before the appeal is settled.

Jack O'Brien has gone to England to fight a fifteen-round bout with Jack Palmer, the English middle-weight champion. It will be decided August 14, which is the night of the Jeffries-Corbett fight.

Kid McCoy has decided to quit the fighting game for good and says he will never don a glove again in the ring. He realizes that, like Tommy Ryan and McGovern, he is all in and that constant training has worn out his system. He states that his fight with Root some months ago showed him that he could not get into condition again.

Work of Negroes.

Washington Hall was dedicated yesterday by the Grand Fountain of the United Order of True Reformers. The building is at Twelfth and U streets northwest, and has been erected as headquarters of the True Reformers of the District of Columbia. The cost was $80,000.

Rev. W. L. Taylor, president of the national order, or Richmond, Va., presided at the dedicatory services in the afternoon. Hon. J. C. Daney, recorder of deeds, and Commissioner H. B. F. Macfarland made addresses and a letter of congratulation was read from President Roosevelt.

There is no building in the country which the negro should feel more proud of than the one dedicated yesterday. It can be said without any exaggeration that it is the best office, store, hall and lodge-room building that the negro owns in the United States.

J. A. Lankford, a negro, who is a product of Dr. Booker T. Washington's school, was the designer and supervising architect. The building stands on the southwest corner of Twelfth and U streets, northwest, and consists of four stories and a basement.

The front elevations on Twelfth and U streets northwest are built of the best quality gray pressed brick and trimmed with Indiana limestone. The building is an imposing structure, being sixty by one hundred feet and over eighty-five feet high.

The first floor has a plate-glass show window surface of over 650 square feet. The stone arch colonnade with granite stone base is an object lesson to all who claim that the negro is not competent along this line.

The building has every modern improvement. It is heated by steam, lighted by gas and electricity, has toilet and dressing-rooms on every floor, and the latest system of fire-alarm and call bells for the janitor.—[Washington Post.

Santa Barbara.

The Southern Pacific will sell round-trip tickets to Santa Barbara and return every Saturday during the summer, including board for one day at either Hotel Potter or Arlington for $5. Tickets are good going on 1 p.m. train on Saturdays and to return until following Tuesday. Hotel accommodations are for one day, beginning with dinner Saturday night. When you consider that the regular one-way railroad rate to Santa Barbara is $3.85, this is an opportunity that appeals to everybody—the hotels being the finest on the Pacific Coast. RANK DOINGS AT HIGHLAND?

Cruelty to Patients One of Many Charges.

Trustees to Meet Tonight to Begin Investigation.

Nurses Ready to Swear that Inmates Were Maltreated. Queer Financing.

(SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.)

SAN BERNARDINO, Aug. 6.—The Gage political machine has long since been dismembered and its component parts thrown to the political junk heap, but the echo of its discordant screeching still hangs upon the oppressed wind. The latest rumpus that has been stirred up in the Highland Asylum, and Steward C. N. Whittaker has been suspended pending a hearing on charges filed against him by Superintendent Campbell.

Several nurses are ready to testify to cruelty practiced upon the patients, and a general unpleasant time is promised for everybody concerned. Tomorrow evening the trustees will meet and investigate and there will be "something doing," according to reports.

San Bernardino papers began a short time ago to make a noise about alleged misconduct of office and attendants, and although Dr. Campbell was called upon to explain some things he preferred to remain silent. It is said that these attacks were directed by Whittaker, who formerly ran a Monrovia weekly paper, and who was the tool of the last administration to fix the country press for the Gage camp. Campbell only replies by accusing Whittaker of conduct subversive to discipline and insubordination.

In the San Bernardino Sun a writer who seems to have investigated affairs at the asylum made caustic comments regarding alleged financial mismanagement. Referring to the biennial report, he says:

"Turn, if you please, to Table No. 2. From that table we learn that the medical superintendent's 'office expenses' of the Stockton Asylum (where there are nearly three times as many patients as are at Patton,) is given as $581.14. At Patton Asylum, however, the 'office expenses' of the medical superintendent is given as $2318.74. One-third the number of patients, but five times the amount of 'office expenses,' which, by the way, is not itemized.

"And again, what do you think of a 'revolving fund?' That must be a beauty. It is a pretty good hopper, however, in itself; and it, too, is called 'office expenses.' Beats the devil, doesn't it, how the whole shebang runs to 'office expenses,' although none of it is itemized. I notice that this blooming unitemized 'office expense revolving fund' has charged up to if more than $1300."

The same writer charges that an unfortunate patient, William Clapp, was sent to Orange county to work for nothing on the ranch of an ex-employé of the asylum. "No doubt to appease the wrath of the ex-employé and head off some rather nasty threats and nastier charges."

Referring to the fruit crops the report is analyzed thus:

"I am particularly impressed dwith that portion of the report wherein it states that 6500 pounds of apricots realized only $65 and, listen to this—489,913 pounds of oranges brought only $2,344.55. The 489,913 pounds of oranges amounts, speaking exactly, to 6713 packed boxes and two pounds. At a time when other orange growers of Southern California were receiving almost record-breaking prices for their fruit the management of the Southern California State Hospital slaps it down in cold print that it could only rustle up $2344 for 6713 packed boxes of choice fruit—a trifle less than 35c a box. I am told that the thirty-five acres of orange groves on the State Hospital ranch at Patton are among the finest in the State, fertilized, watered and cultivated with scrupulous care and energy. It is written 'where all who run may read,' or something like that, that some of the trees yielded as high as twelve to sixteen boxes (picking.) I have further ferretted, rooted, yanked out by the roots the fact that ranchers who have only twenty-acre orchards in the vicinity of the asylum, with less water, realized as high as $5200 and $6100 for the crop from twenty acres."

An employé at the asylum, whose name is not disclosed, makes the charge that a Mr. Fenlon, a good and faithful employé, with a family to support, is about to be displaced to make room for a cousin of "Corney" Pendleton.

If there is anything in all the charges preferred the managers will find a bad mess on their hands.

Famous Old Hunter Dead.

Isaac Parmly, the last of a group of famous hunters, trappers and woodsmen of Northern Pennsylvania, who settled in that region when it was yet an unbroken wilderness, died at Grassy Island, recently, aged 96.

He was a hunter while, elk, wolves and panthers were yet plentiful in Pennsylvania forests. In a statement made by him a few years ago he said he had killed 47 elk, 32 panthers, more wolves than he could remember, 400 bears and more than 3000 deer, all on the watersheds of the Allegheny and Susquehanna.

Among the adventures in the woods that he was fond of relating was a regular Israel Putnam experience with wolves. He surprised two wolves one day devouring a deer he had killed, pursued them into a cave, shot one and killed the other with a knife after a desperate fight.

At one period in the early career of Parmly as a hunter wolves were such a pest to the settlements that the commissioners of McKean county, Pa., placed a bounty of $25 a scalp on them. Parmly, the Nelsons, Zenos Cowley, the Parkers, George Rae and otherrs of the pioneer hunters and trappers returned so many wolf scalps to the treasury in the first year that payments on them exhausted the funds and the next year the county had to issue scripts to meet the demands of the wolf slayers.

The bounty was then reduced to $5 to save the county's credit, and for years wolf script was part of the recognised currency of that region of the State.

Parmly was in at the death, forty years ago, of the last elk in Pennsylvania, which was followed from Flag swamp, in Elk county, to the headwaters of the Clarion River, and killed there by Parmly, Indian Jim Jacobs, Seth Nelson and George Parker.—[New York Sun.

Queens Who Smoke.

The Empress Elizabeth of Austria, who was assassinated near Geneva, used to smoke thirty to forty cigarettes daily, either Turkish or Russian, and used also to indulge occasionally in small Italian cigars.

The Czarina smokes cigarettes now and then, and on her desk there are always a couple of golden and engraved cigarette cases, a silver ash tray and a malachite matchholder.

The Queen of Italy seldom smokes, but the mother of the King of Spain consumes a large number of Egyptian cigarettes every day.

Former Queen Natalia of Servia owns a magnificently jeweled smoking outfit, and is very partial to the habit.

The Queen of Roumania, Carmen Sylvia, also owns a large number of gold and silver cigarette cases, but she does not much like the aroma of tobacco.

The Queen of Portugal, on the other hand, is an ardent lover of the weed. She prefers a special brand of German tobacco, which is sent to her specially from Dresden. Her mother, the Countess of Paris, occasionally indulges in a Havana cigarette or two.

At the English court the ladies are strictly prohibited from smoking by Queen Alexandra, who will not allow smoking in her presence. Many fair members of the English aristocracy are far from pleased thereat, because among them are many confirmed smokers.—[New York Press.

Boers' Family Bibles.

In response to Lord Robert's request, about forty Bibles taken from veldt homesteads during the late war have been returned to Mr. W. H. Alexander at the Bishopsgate rendezvous of the Society of Friends.

The volumes have been carefully catalogued, with all notes and entry which could give the slightest clue to the names and addresses of the owners, who are being sought through the agency of philanthropic persons in South Africa.

The Bibles are of all sizes and values, from cheap pocket editions to heavy folio volum

THE CITY IN BRIEF.

NEWS AND BUSINESS.

Wigmore Assets Sold.

W. J. Doran, trustee of the bankrupt Wigmore company, returned from San Francisco yesterday with a check for $15,000, the proceeds of the sale of the company's stock in that city. This is considered a very good sale under the circumstances, and pleases the creditors.

G.A.R. Meeting.

The last meeting of the General Committee of Arrangements for the reception and entertainment of visiting delegations to the G.A.R. National Encampment will be held this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in the directors' room, Chamber of Commerce.

Spiritualist Camp Meeting.

The annual camp meeting of the Spiritualists of Southern California will begin August 16 at Mineral Park, the new camp meeting resort in the Arroyo Seco, just below Garvanza. It will continue until September 13, and it is expected 1500 people will be in attendance.

W.C.T.U. Picnic.

The regular weekly meeting of the Central W.C.T.U. in Temperance Temple will not be held today, the ladies holding a picnic from 10 to 4 o'clock at Eastlake Park. The guests at the picnic will be the mothers and children living in the vicinity of the W.C.T.U. Deaconess Home.

Martin Beck Here.

Martin Beck, manager of the Orpheum circuit, is here on a two days' visit. It is reported that he will add $50,000 to the appropriation made for remodeling the Los Angeles theater. Beck says that it is his intention to make it as fine as any playhouse in the city.

Tungsten Strike.

The chemists Wade and Wade report an important discovery of tungsten ore, variety of wolframite, near Danby. The ore carries a value of about 40 per cent. and is regarded by the men who made it as a big strike. A sample of radium-bearing ore has also been brought in from Arizona.

Friends Picnic.

About one hundred members of the Friends' Sunday School, of which Arthur C. Brown is superintendent, went to Eastlake Park yesterday and spent the day. The occasion was honored with the presence of Rev. Levi D. Barr, pastor of the Friends Church, who has just returned from an extended visit to Oregon.

Robert Lee Wilson's Death.

Robert Lee Wilson of San Jacinto died Tuesday morning at the private hospital of Dr. Stewart, while under the influence of chloroform, preparatory to a surgical opeartion. Mrs. Wilson was a member of one of the oldest and most highly respected families of the State. He leaves a widow and three children.

Bicycle Downed Him.

An unknown bicycle rider going east on Temple street last night about 8:30 ran into and knocked down John Hundly, a recent arrival from St. Joseph, Mo., as he was attempting to cross Temple street at Broadway. Mr. Hundly was picked up in an unconscious condition and carried to a near-by lodging-house, where he soon recovered.

State Fair.

Secretary Wiggins of the Chamber of Commerce has received a letter from the Promotion Committee of the Sacramento State Fair, which opens August 31, urging the installation of exhibits from this section of the State. It is not probable that any official action will be taken by the chamber, but there is an opportunity for individual producers to exhibit their goods to advantage. Seven cash prizes are offered for county exhibits.

Wound Fatal.

Joe Fajolie, the Swiss-Italian, who shot himself in the head on a high hill in the northern part of the city with suicidal intent Thursday evening, died yesterday afternoon at the Receiving Hospital. The body was taken in charge by Bresee Bros. and the inquest will be held at their undertaking establishment today at 4 o'clock. The cause of the suicide was despondency resulting from a protracted spree.

Biograph Burned.

During the afternoon performance at the Lyric Theater yesterday afternoon a fire almost caused a panic in the audience. The crossing of two electric wires caused a spark, which ignited the gelatine rolls or films used in the biograph machine. The films are as inflammable as celluloid, and instantly the machine was in flames, giving off a dense smoke, which filled the place. The firemen extinguished the blaze. The damage to the building is slight, and $150 will cover the loss on the machine.

For an Old Forgery.

A. R. White was arrested yesterday by Detective Baker on a charge of forgery and has admitted his guilt. The crime was committed last December, when he passed a check for $15 on Mittendorf & Rogers. The check bore what purported to be the signature of A. L. Wright of No. 2121 Bonsallo avenue. It was returned from the bank, and every effort has been made since to collect it, but it was not until a few days ago that it was learned that the signature was a forgery. Then the detectives were called upon and after two days of hard work Baker landed the passer.

Dead in the Tanks.

At an early hour yesterday morning an old man named D. Moody of Pasadena, was found dead on the floor of the City Jail. Moody had been taken in on Wednesday and booked for medical treatment, as he was found on the street with a severe cut on the back of his head. Why he was placed among the other prisoners instead of in the hospital does not appear, unless it was that he had been brought in drunk so frequently that his case did not enlist much sympathy. The body was removed to the morgue of Pierce Bros., where an autopsy was held, and it was shown that the body had suffered from a bronchial hemorrhage, probably caused by the jar received when he fell and cut his head. The Coroner's inquest will be held this afternoon.

Auction Tomorrow.

We mean just what we say when we tell you that you can buy lots in Ocean Park Villa Tract at tomorrow's sale at your own prices. There will positively be no side bidding, no limit and no reserve. So make your own prices and lots are yours. This is magnificent property. Its high and sightly and commands fine view of ocean. Its only 1000 feet from high tide. Big lots 40x130—much larger than average beach lots. Streets wide and well graded. Water, gas and electric lights. L. A. Pacific Electric Line borders entire tract. What more inducement to buy could anyone ask? Splendidly located lots—with advantages just named—at your own prices and on unusually easy terms; $25 down, balance $10 month without interest.

OCEAN PARK

Ocean Park is the most popular of all coast resorts. Its population is growing rapidly. Note the many cottages erected there this season. As it grows the best homes will ultimately be located back from the sands on lots where homes can be surrounded with lawns and gardens—just as is the case at Coronado Beach and Santa Barbara. This will make Ocean Park Villa Tract the choicest residence section as soil is rich loam and will grow anything. Invest now for profit, when you can name your own purchase price.

Free Excursion

Cars run direct to tract over Short Line, and leave Fourth St. station every 10 minutes from 12:30 p. m. Take 12:30 car in order to see lots in advance of sale. For FREE TICKETS, maps and other particulars see
